

A Contract Probably Will be let for the proposed high level College-to-Candee bridge before June 30, State Highway Engineer L. W. Empey said Tuesday. The bridge, shown above with its approaches and two out-of-ordinary structures on E. Candee side, probably will be finished in the summer of 1960. It will cost an estimated $1,950,000, be 1,386 feet long, have a 30-foot roadway, include 5-foot sidewalks on either side, be 50.5 feet above high water, rest on 13 spans, and take a half million pounds of reinforcing steel, 1½ million pounds of structural steel and 3,663 cubic yards of concrete. Reconstruction of intersecting streets at either end won't extend beyond 300 feet. E. College will be reconstructed to N. Rankin street. The structure at the E. Candee side to the right of Interlake mill is a stairway, with 5-foot-wide steps and three landings. The structure shooting off the E. Candee approach is an access road for those living on the E. Candee section

2nd Satellite Bursts in Test

Range Safety Officer Destroys Vanguard After It Breaks in Two at About 20,000 Feet

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — The navy's second Vanguard satellite rocket roared skyward early today but ended like the first in a fiery explosion.

Sixty seconds after a beautiful takeoff at 2:33 a.m., the bullet-shaped Vanguard wobbled crazily, broke into two pieces and was destroyed by the test range safety officer.

If the flight had succeeded, the navy would have put a tiny "moon" into orbit with the army's Explorer, which was fired aloft Friday by the Jupiter-C missile.

Russians Keep Lead
But the Vanguard climbed only about 20,000 feet into a cold, starry sky before the safety officer, R. D. Stephens, pressed the button that blew it apart and sent it plunging toward the ocean in fiercely blazing fragments.

So Soviet Russia, having launched two Sputniks, still holds a numerical lead in the race to solve the fascinating secrets of outer space. Sputnik I disintegrated Jan. 4 but Sputnik II, carrying a dead dog, still whirled silently around the earth.

The first Vanguard rocket, fired here Dec. 6, struggled upward only four feet before it toppled over and was partly consumed in its own flames.

A fuel line leak, causing a loss of pressure in the combustion chamber, was blamed for that spectacular mishap, which damaged U.S. prestige abroad at a time when Russia had the only satellites in the skies.

Missile Breaks Up
Experts had hoped that the lessons learned from that first failure would help pave the way to success on the next attempt, but officials emphasized before today's attempt that the odds against getting the Vanguard's 3½ pound moon into orbit still were 1,000 to 1.

The slender, 72-foot rocket left the ground surely and gracefully, riding a witch's broom of lemon-colored fire straight up into the blue-black sky.

Its blazing exhaust lighted the countryside and the roar of its engines shook sleeping persons awake for miles around.

Observers watching the blastoff from vantage points inside the test center shouted as the Vanguard began its arrow-true climb. But their cheers died in their throats when they saw the missile incline too sharply, break up and plunge back toward the moonlit Atlantic ocean.

One huge ball of brilliant fire seemed for a moment to be spinning back in the general direction of the test center and an alarmed observer yelled: "Look out, it's coming our way!"

But the fireball disappeared as it neared the ground. At the same time, other sparkling fragments were seen plummeting.

FCC Members Say Charges Malign Them

2 Commissioners Voice Protests Against Proceedings

Washington — Two members of the federal communications commission interrupted a house subcommittee inquiry into FCC operations today to protest that they had been unjustly and unreasonably maligned.

FCC Commissioners Robert T. Bartley and Rosel H. Hyde jumped to their feet in the rear of the hearing room to register angry protests against the proceedings as FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer held the witness chair for the third consecutive day.

Bartley, a nephew of Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Texas), was promptly sworn as a witness. He demanded that he be permitted to "dispel somewhat" the cloud he said has been cast over his official integrity since last Oct. 3.

Bartley denied any improprieties. He said he had accepted no paid vacations or other favors from industry sources, and testified that he had already furnished the subcommittee with a full listing of all his travels.

Assaults Counsel
Hyde also jumped to his feet to tell the subcommittee "I have not as yet had any specifications which would 'justify' the unreasonable and unconscionable charges" he said were made against him.

Hyde called it unfair for subcommittee Counsel Bernard Schwartz to "try and wheedle from us some information to support charges" which Hyde said had been "leaked" to the press.

The outburst by Hyde and Bartley climaxed a disension-ridden morning session marked by angry exchanges between Schwartz and some members of the subcommittee.

Chairman Moulder (D-Mo) upheld Schwartz in his cross-examination of Doerfer in the face of tart objections from both Republican and Democratic committee members.

State Sees High Bridge Contract Before July

Ike Says Tax Cut to Be Studied If Upturn Does Not Develop

Expects Pickup at Midyear; Works on Summit Sessions

Washington — President Eisenhower said today it could be the administration will recommend a tax cut if an expected business upturn fails to develop about midyear.

The president — his voice very hoarse and husky because of a cold — told a news conference, however, that he still believes it is reasonable to assume business will pick up about the middle of the year.

Eisenhower said he looks for the current business recession certainly to continue through this month and next. But as summer comes on, he added, there should be an upturn.

Could Go Too Far
A reporter asked whether the administration will be for a tax cut if the expected upturn does not materialize.

It could be, Eisenhower replied. He went on to say that a reduction certainly would be a real stimulant to business. He added, however, that it would be possible to go too far in the tax cut direction.

Eisenhower commented that it wasn't very long ago that the country was concerned about inflation.

Eisenhower developed a cold and what the White House called a slight sore throat on his return from a weekend of golf and general relaxation at Augusta, Ga.

He turned up at today's news conference looking, in the opinion of some newsmen, a bit pale and somewhat listless. At today's conference Eisenhower dealt with these other matters:

The United States is working very hard in an effort to make a summit conference with the Russians possible. But at that point, Eisenhower said, he sees no basis for any truly favorable conclusion on either of two points: That U.S.-Soviet relations have improved, or that the prospects for a summit meeting are better.

Eisenhower said emphatically that the United States will

Marvin T. Lamers Arrested June 29 for Drunken Driving

Marvin T. Lamers, 27, 532 W. Main street, Little Chute, forfeited a $117.95 bond today on a charge of drunken driving.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg revoked Lamers' driver's license for one year.

Lamers was arrested by Appleton police last June 29 after his car ran into a line of parked cars in the 500 block of N. Durkee street. His trial originally was set for Sept. 5 but the case was continued from that date.

He did not appear in court today. Lamers had notified City Attorney Don Jury he wished to change his plea. Lamers refused to take the drunkometer test.

4-Lane Belt Line Will By-Pass Area Between Neenah, 10

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A 4-lane expressway-type highway will form a beltline around the southern section of the Fox Cities by 1959, L. W. Empey, Green Bay district highway office chief, indicated Tuesday.

Relocation of Highway 41 in the Neenah area and the 4-lane of 41 up to and including Highway 10 (Appleton's Wisconsin avenue) make up the section.

Empey said contracts have been let for intersection structures in the Neenah area and for the grading near the structures. Cost of this part of the work has reached about $1.6 million.

Relocation North
Still to be let are contracts for the Soo Line railroad overpass, the Winnebago County Trunk PP interchange, Outagamie County Trunk BB interchange and the Highway 10 interchange.

Contemplated and now in the planning stages is relocation of Highway 41 from Highway 10 north of the present roadway to a point near Highway 55 and Kaukauna. This also will be 4-

Official Says City, County To Receive Final Plans in Month; Then Comes Bonding

BY JAMES NEWCOMB
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The contract for construction of the estimated $1,950,000 College-to-Candee high level bridge probably will be let before June 30, District Highway Engineer L. W. Empey said Tuesday.

Engineers' plans for the bridge itself are finished, he said, and his staff now is nearing completion of plans for multi-street intersections at either end.

Empey told Mayor Robert L. Roemer the city and county will be furnished with final plans for both the bridge and approaches within a month.

Both governments then will begin steps to raise their shares of the cost — $650,000 each — through sale of bonds. The legal procedure usually takes about 90 days.

Right-of-Way
Purchase of right-of-way, a joint effort by the state highway commission and the city council's board of public works, will begin shortly, probably within a month, Empey said.

A finished bridge for the summer of 1960, predicted earlier, is still a good guess, Empey said. So is the originally announced $1,950,000 cost.

Empey said the bridge possibly could cost less than $1,950,000, but an unknown factor is relocation westward of E. John street on the bridge's south end.

Empey gave these statistics about the bridge: It will be 1,386 feet long, 30 feet wide, include two 5-foot sidewalks, stand 50.5 feet above high water, have 13 spans and require a half million pounds of reinforcing steel, 1½ million pounds of structural steel and 3,663 cubic yards of concrete.

Two out-of-the-ordinary structures will be built into the south approach.

One is a sidewalk leading from the bridge to a path which Lawrence college students traditionally take between the main campus and the Whiting field and Alexander gymnasium area. The other is an access road off the east side of the south approach.

The sidewalk will be five feet wide and include three landings. The distance from bridge to ground is 43 feet.

The access road comes into the south approach about the middle of the approach. It will permit three homeowners, Henry H. Horn, Jr., Theodore Kugler and William Dolven, all in the 1300 block of E. Candee street, a dead-end block now, a means of getting out.

They will need the access road because the short block's connection with S. Walter avenue will be severed. The move will keep the short block out of the 3-street intersection planned at the end of the south approach.

Relocate E. John
Besides the access road, plans call for a short street parallel and north of S. Walter running to E. Gunn street or E. Harriet street as an alternate way of getting out for the three property owners.

Empey doesn't know exactly where E. John would be relocated, except that it would be moved westward from its present location and would be over the deep ravine west of the present roadway. It will meet the existing bridge over the government canal.

The relocation is part of a plan to bring the present E. John into the south approach

Soviet Jet Liner Flying to U. S. With New Ambassador

Washington — Russia's sleek TU104 jet liner heads for the United States today on another "show off" trip.

This time the twin-jet craft, which flies 500 miles per hour at 40,000 feet, is bringing the new Soviet ambassador, Mikhail A. Menshikov.

Last fall, it brought the Soviet delegation to the United Nations. New York's Idlewild airport said then the TU104 was too noisy, and it landed instead at McGuire Air base in nearby New Jersey.

Menshikov is scheduled to fly into Baltimore's Friendship airport at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Friendship said it did not mind the jet's noise. The plane cannot land at Washington's airport because the runways are too short. The TU104, a converted "Badger" bomber, needs more than 8,000 feet of runway to land.

Soviet embassy officials — and presumably some from the state department, too — will be on hand to greet Menshikov.

Chicago Girl Beaten, Slashed by Negro Gang

Chicago — An 11-year-old white girl was beaten and brutally slashed by a gang of teen-age Negro boys as she walked to a south side grocery store last night.

Police, making a house-to-house search for the attackers, picked up 11 Negro boys during the early morning hours for questioning. Four were released. Police said one of the girls lay half an hour in the boys' questioned was wearing bloodstained shoes.

Dragged Through Alley
Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor directed some 230 detectives and patrolmen in a search for the attackers.

Donald S. Keever said the girl was dragged through an alley to the rear of a building for a 6-inch blade, and a hunting knife sheath, suit, uniform, beaten and stabbed. He said "an unknown instrument, possibly a pop bottle," was used in the attack. youths attacked her. Police described them as 14 to 15 years old and dressed in black jackets and blue jeans.

The girl was reported in "fair" condition at Englewood hospital. Both whites and Negroes live in the neighborhood where the

Smith's Seat Stays Vacant

Thomson Decides Against Calling Special Election

Madison — Gov. Thomson said today he would call a special election in the First congressional district to name a successor to the late Rep. Smith, but would leave the seat vacant until the regular general election next November.

Smith died in Washington Jan. 22, and Democrats have been demanding a special election to fill his seat. The governor had the alternative of calling a special election this spring, or allowing the seat to remain vacant.

The governor left unanswered a question raised by Democratic state leaders Tuesday as to whether two elections would be required — one to fill the unexpired term, and the other for the new term starting next January.

Grim Manhunt for Kidnaper Has Ended

Carl Burton Surrenders to Police
At Paducah; 'Pressure Too Much,'
Gunman Says at Climax of Search

Paducah, Ky. — The grim 4-day manhunt for kidnaper Carl E. Burton ended last night. He ran into police headquarters and surrendered because "the pressure was too much."

Two police men chased Burton as he ran, hands in the air and a fully loaded revolver sticking in his belt.

It was a dramatic climax to one of this area's most intensive searches which began when Burton and Harold Davis, 33, kidnapped Missouri state Trooper William Little at Van Buren, Mo., Saturday night.

Burton said at the police station: "I'm glad it's over. The pressure was getting too much. I knew I couldn't get away. I had to quit running."

Police from four states converged on this western Kentucky area when the pair, holding Little hostage, smashed through roadblocks in Little's police cruiser.

Burton and Davis, both of Redwood, Calif., fled to a remote section of Mc Cracken county late Saturday night, holed up at a farm home and held Little and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Shelton hostage for 24 hours.

Davis cracked under the pressure.

Burton gave this explanation of how he evaded some 150 officers after fleeing from the Shelton farm:

He walked some 25 miles across snow-covered fields to Paducah, taking a round-about route.

Late Sunday night, he went to the home of an aunt and uncle, identified as Mr. and Mrs. T. Cavitt Jr., and spent the night.

The next day, after learning Davis had shot himself, Burton walked to a little-used railroad roundhouse, slipped in and hid behind a boiler.

He slept there Monday afternoon and night, and although several people came in, he said, they didn't see him.

He left the roundhouse last night and began walking. Once he "saw a policeman pass and I thought he saw me," he said, Burton darted into a hiding place, "smoked a cigarette" and then continued toward the police station.

It was estimated that less than one per cent of the schools' regular enrollment of 950,000 makes up the hard core of delinquent pupils.

Plan Program To Curb Crime In N. Y. Schools

Includes Proposal Of Buildings for Disturbed Students

New York — The board of education, with Mayor Robert F. Wagner's approval, has announced a program to curb crime in the city's schools.

Every point in the program has been under public consideration before, including a key proposal that six more special schools be opened for disturbed youngsters.

While board officials were busy making minor changes in their report before making it public, school violence flared anew yesterday.

A 16-year-old white student said he was robbed of his wrist-watch and 70 cents by a husky Negro boy on a third-floor stair landing of Manhattan's High school of Music and Art.

In Brooklyn, a public library was pummeled by three Negro public school girls when the librarian accused one of using a forged book card. Meanwhile, several of the girls' boy schoolmates, also Negro, were stealing $1.50 from library "fine" money.

The librarian, a white woman, suffered cuts on the neck and wrist. The girl who touched off the incident was arrested as a juvenile delinquent.

The six proposed special schools would handle upwards of 1,200 pupils. Last week the board of education, in its budget request, asked for $500,000 for the schools. Five such schools are already in operation.

The board also proposed expansion of attendance, guidance and counseling service and said teachers should be assured of full support "in the strict enforcement of reasonable disciplinary measures."

The board asked New York state to provide additional correction facilities for minors who "require removal from normal society" and it called for "immediate" consideration of what to do with children convicted of delinquency who are returned to school on parole or probation.

It was estimated that less than one per cent of the schools' regular enrollment of 950,000 makes up the hard core of delinquent pupils.

Vanguard Failure Gets Wide Russian Publicity

London — The Soviet government lost no time today passing the word at home and abroad that another American attempt to send up a satellite had failed.

Moscow radio broadcast a Tass dispatch in its home and foreign services just 37 minutes after the news hit the wires in the United States.

Tass quoted an American news agency and made no comment. The broadcast said the attempt was made with a Vanguard rocket and "the defense department announced that the rocket blew up in flight shortly after it was launched."

Former Movie Writer, Director, Dies at 67

Hollywood — Monta Bell, former film writer, director and producer, died at the Motion Picture Country house and hospital yesterday. He would have been 67 today.

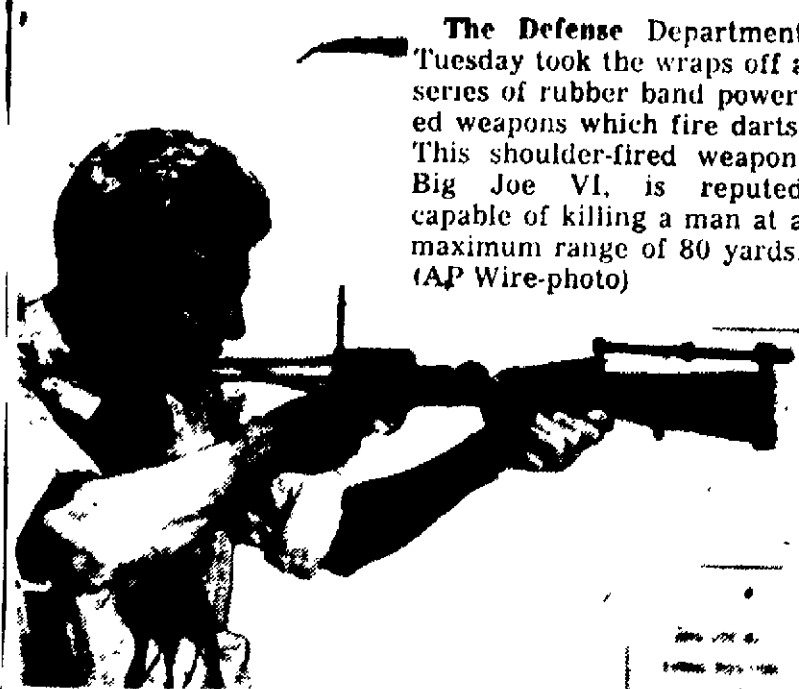

Born in Washington, D. C., Bell was a stock actor for two years before directing "Bellamy Trial" in 1929. Among his other film credits were "Beyond the Blue Horizon," "Men in White," "West Point of the Blues" and "Birth of the Blues" in 1951 he retired because of poor health.

Radio observations on the Explorer's first 32 runs around the earth were the basis for the new calculations, which the laboratory said will become more refined as additional contacts are reported.

Crossbow of Olden Days Used in War

Washington — The defense department has lifted the lid from its secret bows and arrows project of World War II.

The evidence shows it was no laughing matter, although jokes were made when its existence first was publicized. Rather, it was a subject of deadly seriousness—an attempt to give American agents and cloak and dagger personnel a quiet, effective means of killing an enemy.

The bows and arrows project began in 1943 when the Office of Strategic Services said it needed some "silent, flashless weapons" in dealing with such persons, for instance, as enemy sentries.

University Research
Research was undertaken at Northwestern university where two dozen engineers, physicists, mechanics and draftsmen came up with working models of rubber band-powered weapons resembling medieval crossbows of King Arthur's time.

One model was found capable of killing a man at 25 yards. Another at 50 yards.

The researchers tested the effectiveness of the weapons by firing darts into big chunks of horsemeat. The deadliness of the weapon was apparent when the lowest powered model penetrated the meat deeper than a .22 caliber pistol bullet.

Report New Data On Explorer Orbit

Washington — The army's Explorer satellite goes out as far as 1,587 miles from the earth and comes in as close as 219 miles, the naval research laboratory reported today on the basis of new calculations.

The time for each circuit was recomputed at 114.95 minutes. The laboratory's Vanguard computing center collaborated with the U. S. naval observatory in producing the new figures. They were based on reports from minitrack stations set up for radio observations in connection with the navy's own Vanguard program for putting a moonlet in the sky.

The second launching effort in that program failed early today at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The army was called in after the first Vanguard rocket failed and burned at the launching site, and the army's Explorer satellite went up last Friday night.

Radio observations on the Explorer's first 32 runs around the earth were the basis for the new calculations, which the laboratory said will become more refined as additional contacts are reported.

Thomson Picks Sellinger for Office Post

Sheboygan Native Has Been With Governor Since '56

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Gov. Vernon W. Thomson today promoted his most loyal supporter and energetic office assistant to the position of executive secretary.

Philip Sellinger, who has been associated with Thomson since he volunteered to help in the governor's election campaign early in 1956, was named by the governor to a vacancy in his office caused by the resignation several months ago of Leroy Lueberg. Lueberg has returned to his job as dean at the University of Wisconsin.

Under traditional practice, a governor's executive aide is the

Sheboygan Native
Sellinger is 39, a graduate of Dartmouth college where he studied economics, a native of Sheboygan where he formerly was employed in a family business, and a veteran of the air force during World War II.

Thomson named Sellinger to a lesser job in his office as one of his first official acts after becoming governor. The energetic assistant has acted as press agent, researcher, speech writer, chauffeur and in a variety of other capacities, always explaining that he is fascinated by government and political activity.

The Sellinger promotion called attention to the fact that the governor's entourage is a comparatively small one.

On his personal staff he also has a legislative assistant, two part-time lawyers and a financial assistant. There are half a dozen female secretaries.

Senate Committee Member Confers With Kohler Firm Officials

Sheboygan — An investigator for the senate committee Tuesday conferred with officials of the Kohler company, scene of a strike since April 5, 1954, by Local 833 of the United Auto Workers.

Carmine Bellino, financial adviser for the committee, declined to comment on the meeting. A second committee investigator, Vernon Johnson, was expected to join Bellino here today. Johnson spent several months in the Sheboygan area gathering information on the strike last year.

The committee is tentatively scheduled to start hearings on the strike in Washington March 3. The strike, which began over contract issues, is the longest major labor dispute in the nation.

The company resumed production 60 days after the strike started.

University President Says Family-Sized Farm Must be Preserved

E. B. Fred Delivers Final Talk At Farm and Home Week Opening

Madison — Dr. E. B. Fred, president of the University of Wisconsin, Tuesday hailed the "freedom, independence and very fresh air" of family-sized farms and said they must be preserved because of the leadership they produce.

Delivering his final welcoming address at the opening of the annual Farm and Home week program, Fred said a heavy share of the nation's leaders have come from the farm population. Fred will retire July 1 as president of the farmers must maintain high interest in community development because farm and non-farm families cannot go their separate ways.

Dr. Olaf F. Larson, a native of Rock county now of the faculty of Cornell university, said the farmers must maintain high interest in community development because farm and non-farm families cannot go their separate ways.

Margaret Liston of Iowa State sprawling corporate farming called for a spiritual enterprise, and said they must survive the so-called agricultural revolution. They agreed that books, "Some of the best living the biggest task would be to weld goes on in the poorest house," the farm families to the changes still to come.

Not Dying
L. S. Hardin, acting dean of the department of agricultural economics at Purdue university for rural homes and farming, said the family farm is and will be enriched.

The Rev. Wilfred J. Schuster of the Catholic Rural Life conference at Green Lake, said rural production, but added that the grandfather at most used but need of integrating urban newcomers into the rural community. Part of the problem, he said, is to keep the church alive for the increasing number of persons known as the older generation.

Tibetan Mastiff Pups Find Home in Kansas

Kansas City, Kan. — A couple of hungry youngsters from far-off Nepal are waiting today for their first look at the cows and pigs on Republican national committee Harry Darby's Kansas ranch.

They are Bhote and Kanski, a pair of Tibetan mastiff pups, once reported intended as gifts for President Eisenhower. The White House disclaimed them. Then it was disclosed they were coming to the president's former appointments secretary, Thomas E. Stephens. But he didn't have a place to keep them.

So they arrived yesterday after a plane trip via New Delhi, London and New York, consigned to Darby. He said he would put them in charge of a veterinarian for three weeks quarantine then give them the run of his ranch at nearby Edwardsville where they will help keep watch of his blooded cattle and hogs—and draw their daily rations of eight pounds of meat and two quarts of milk each.

No Date on North
From Highway 10 north to Kaukauna, where the presumed relocation of Highway 41 will occur, no timetable has been set. Most local opinion has concentrated on locating the new road about three-fourths of a mile north of the present roadway. There is at present no town road along this route and two homes are in the path, studies show.

No precise location of the swing from the present 41 has work has not progressed sufficiently, although it would be efficient, he added. However, about in the area of the large north to east curve of the highway north of the viaduct over the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

No point for rejoining the present highway in the Kaukauna area has been set, although it presumably would be in the area between McCarty's crossing and County Trunk J or Highway 55.

The relocation would involve about eight miles of roadway and a public hearing would be held at which a specific recommended route for the new road would be offered.

Relocation Causes
Main reason for relocating the road is excessive cost of right-of-way for a 4-lane road in the present location. Commercial property has increased considerably along the road since it was built.

Studies have shown that moving a main artery too far from the areas it serves results in traffic taking less desirable but closer secondary roads, Empey pointed out, so Highway 41 should not be moved several miles from its present route.

Empey emphasized the congestion on Highway 41 is of local origin, not through traffic. Thus, he stated, any relocation of 41 must be made with consideration of carrying local traffic — commuter traffic.

Estimates of time for relocation are impossible since the work has not progressed sufficiently, he added. However, the engineering and right-of-way acquisition work will take at least a year. Hazardizing a 1960 would be an approximate date for construction work on the roadway.

Interchanges First
Although 4-lane right-of-way exists for Highway 41 from Highway 114 south to the Fond du Lac county line, Empey said the present concentration of 41 construction is one of the trouble spots where traffic interchange causes accidents and slows movement.

In line with this thinking is construction of overpasses and traffic interchanges with 4-lane characteristics even before the highway itself becomes a continuous 4-lane roadway, Empey indicated.

When the belt around the southern segment of the Fox Cities is completed, Highway 41 will be 4-lane from Highway 10 south to Highway 114. The 2-lane roadway will become 4-lane again when crossing Highway 110 at the north end of the Lake Butte des Morts bridge, 2-lane across the bridge, 4-lane across Highway 21, and 4-lane over Highways 44 and 26. Engineering studies now are in progress for 4-laning the section from Highway 21 south to 26, although no time has been set for actual contracts, Empey indicated.

The Highway 10 interchange, of the diamond type with 4-lane type. Contracts are let for crossing over 10, will be begun these structures, with completion scheduled by the end of the year.

Farther south, 4-lane interchange structures are planned for Highways 44 and 26, with contracts to be let this spring, about April, Empey indicated. He added it was conceivable grading contracts for the structures would be let by the end of 1958 and work begun by the end of 1959.

Total mileage is about 81 miles, with 21 miles from Highway 114 to the Soo Line over Outagamie - Winnebago county pass, 3 miles from the overpass du Lac county line, Empey said the present concentration of 41 construction is one of the trouble spots where traffic interchange causes accidents and slows movement.

Plans are to let the structure for this section in the near future, with completion by the end of 1958. Grading contracts probably will be let this area along the northwest corner and the side of Highway 41 at County Trunk BB also are affected by the 4-lane construction and planned interchange.

South of Neenah, Winnebago county, present plans call for interchanges of the diamond type at Highways 21, 26, although no time has been set for actual contracts. Empey indicated.

change so that it can be built when traffic justifies it, state highway engineers say. The two roads are too close for separate interchanges, therefore a single interchange pattern serves both. The interchange would be about 600 feet wide. This view is looking toward Appleton. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Study Industry At Bear Creek

Community Leaders Hear Discussion on Development Issue

Bear Creek — Fifty-one residents of Nichols, Manawa, Embarras, Black Creek, Shiocton, New London, Little Chute, Appleton, Clintonville, and Bear Creek attended a meeting to promote industrial development for small communities at the Bear Creek High school Tuesday evening. The meeting was under the direction of Homer J. Vick, assistant director of the industrial development division, Madison. Vick said five committees of two men each should be selected to promote industrial development in a small town: One to work on finances, one to work on a community fact sheet, one to work on sites and buildings details available, one to work in conjunction with the chamber, and a letter-writing committee.

He stated the first step is to be sure that industry already located in the community is well developed and taken care of. Vick said the reason some communities succeed is because they have proved they really want industry and they were ready when opportunity presented itself. Each community is allowed to set aside $2,000 a year for industrial development, according to Vick, and many out of state industries are coming into Wisconsin because the state has less debt, a stable and honest government, better educational systems, and less per student expense. It has the best secondary road system in the country and there is every indication the tax situation will improve, Vick said. The next meeting will be in two months at Shiocton.

President-Elect Elvehjem

Applause will be the predominant note, we are confident, in the public's reaction to the election of Dr. Conrad A. Elvehjem to the presidency of the University of Wisconsin.

The regents settled on Elvehjem, now dean of the graduate school, as their first choice after diligently searching the university community and considering scores of available men at other institutions in the country. It is good that they chose a man from the campus, an eminent scientist in his field, and a product of the Wisconsin public school system. The university is proud of being one of the leading centers of learning in the land. As such, it should have been able to produce a leader for its faculty community when the occasion demanded. It did, and in our opinion Dr. Elvehjem was one of several men now at the university who could fittingly have been chosen for this significant administrative office.

Wisconsin friends of education, alumni and students also will note with pleasure that the regents have found a way to retain the counsel and service of Dr. E. B.

There was an element of surprise in Dr. Fred's acceptance of an appointment to a professorship of bacteriology, on emeritus status, because he had spoken so often and so yearningly about retiring to his ancestral homestead in his native state of Virginia.

But he has spent nearly half a century in the service of this state, as teacher, researcher, dean and university president, and we may suppose that Wisconsin is now more real to him as "home" than the distant farm he left as a youth.

Dr. Elvehjem will take command of the university and will serve it during a period that is likely to be as difficult as the tenure of any of his predecessors. The school is growing rapidly. The realistic projections of future enrollment growth are such as might be calculated to frighten a timid administrator. There will be acute problems of physical construction planning, and perhaps more important, problems of financing an ever more costly university program in a state which is virtually at the limit of its financial resources under present tax laws.

Peace in Space?

The Soviet government says it is willing to discuss President Eisenhower's proposal to outlaw war in outer space, provided it is made part of a package deal which would include such terrestrial matters as banning nuclear weapons tests and a NATO-Warsaw non-aggression pact.

Premier Bulganin's letter at least displays common sense in tying up peace in outer space with peace on earth. President Eisenhower's original proposal to dedicate outer space to peaceful purposes had a certain mystical quality about it; after over 2,000 years of trying to find a way to live peaceably together on earth, the world's peoples were suddenly to find the formula somewhere out in space.

The Eisenhower proposal, while it made good headlines, suffered from the same self-delusion as previous Russian proposals to stop nuclear weapons tests and destroy all stocks of such weapons. Such proposals attack the problem of war piecemeal; their advocates think that if the nations can be persuaded to abandon a certain weapon or some particular way of waging war, the problem of war itself will be reduced to a size which will make it less difficult to manage.

But as modern war is total war, so the problem of war is total; it cannot be broken up into little bits and pieces which then can be attacked one by one. If a general war ever occurs again on this planet, we can expect each side to use whatever weapons or strategy it thinks might bring victory, including nuclear weapons, intercontinental missiles and — if they exist by then — space craft. An agreement not to let such a war spread beyond the earth's atmosphere would be as nonsensical (and unenforceable) under actual war conditions as an agreement not to use atom bombs or machine guns, or submarines. Even if such an agreement could somehow be made enforceable it would tend to injure one side more than the other, as for example the unspoken but adhered-to agreement not to use atomic weapons worked to our disadvantage in Korea.

The problem of war and peace is still here on earth, in men's hearts. It will not be solved in outer space.

The Drug That Will Beat the Reds

It seems our greatest shortage in the struggle to keep ahead of the Russians is brains. Much of the current talk is on education, but there is also a strong undercurrent with reference to selecting the bright students which means the teachers probably will do better if they have pupils well supplied with brains.

It is a pleasure to read that Dr. Carl C. Pfeiffer, who does research work at Emory University in Georgia, has discovered a drug which it is claimed will make normal people sharper and may help to pull many of the mentally ill back to reality. If this drug will do what is claimed for it and if it produces no damaging side effects, it should be in great demand. Since everyone will want to know all about this stimulant, it is dimethylaminoethanol or DMAE for short, but when it is issued on prescription in a few months it will be known as Deaner.

The doctor in announcing his discovery says it is effective on schizophrenics and may help borderline mental or anxiety cases such as disturbed or delinquent children. That would be enough to excite interest in the drug. But Dr. Pfeiffer also tried it on normal persons — medical students at the university — and the results of this test are startling.

Some students said that with the drug they needed less sleep, others found that they slept sounder, awoke earlier and were more clearheaded. The tone of their muscles improved and they were better able to concentrate. Many noted definite brain stimulation. They reported greater daytime energy, attentiveness at lectures and a greater intolerance of poor lectures. Two said they were able to quit smoking without difficulty, while still others found themselves more affable than before.

The stimulant is said to be kin to a chemical called choline found in fishy foods and fish egg preparations like caviar. Most people have heard about fish being a brain food, but if they inquired about that claim they were probably told that there was nothing to it. Now it seems that there was, although it remained for Dr. Pfeiffer to make the old saying come true.

It is probably wise to distribute the drug by prescription in the beginning, but if it works out as the tests indicate it should be sold in grocery stores shortly. The fellow who gets one dose of this drug should be smart enough to write his own ticket thereafter.

Reuther Has False Idea of Profits

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Walter Reuther has understandably made great news in our nation's press by virtue of his recent "profit-sharing" plan. As merchants of words and ideas, the press can render a distinct service at this time by careful analysis, in an area that is greatly misunderstood and frequently charged with emotion.

Despite Reuther's claim that this is a "profit-sharing" plan, discriminating reporters and editorialists should look behind the claim. It should be your responsibility to report the facts in addition to the news-worthy claims.

The facts are that, whatever else Reuther's plan is, it is not a profit-sharing plan. The union plan speaks to a division of the sales income before all costs are paid. They seek to divide and rebathe the net income before taxes. There is no such thing as "profit before taxes." It is unfortunate that this usage has generated the distorting label, "profit before taxes."

It is as barren to speak of "profit before taxes" as it is to speak of "profit before payroll costs" or "profit before selling costs." Profits are a residual, and they simply do not occur "before" anything. Anyone who is attempting to make a profit these days is painfully aware of the primacy of the government claim to income ahead of profits.

Reuther and his unioneers can share in profits, as can any other like-minded citizen.

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The mail has begun to come in on pay TV and the argument simmers down to this: if you can get something for nothing, why pay for it? Some say that pay TV will make so much money that advertising TV will all together go out of existence. Others say that pay TV will be so much better than advertising TV that the poor will get nothing but the leftovers. Still others make the argument that things are good as they are, that they like the commercials, and that it is only fair to listen to them since otherwise there would be no programs. They are even grateful to the sponsors despite the jingles.

The magazine "Broadcasting" sent me a study it had made in 10 cities which establishes that 33.4 per cent want pay TV; 66.6 per cent are against pay TV. The analysis is interesting and contains considerable data about TV but it is inconclusive as such surveys are bound to be. Only one procedure can be conclusive in our competitive system and that is to permit pay TV and advertising TV to exist simultaneously and to compete against each other and to see which one wins in the long run.

Sold Old Movies

After all, advertising TV exists simultaneously with the movies and is reputed to be the cause for the financial difficulties in which the movies find themselves. Particularly troublesome to the movie industry is the fact that the large producing companies sold their old films to television companies which are showing them along with advertising.

Despite the condition that the action of a story is slowed up while a damsel smokes a cigarette which is now perfect or an imitation doctor tells the audience to take something for a cold, people do like to watch these old films and to see the stars of yesterday, with the result that they stay home and look.

This competition between the home television set and the movie theater continues in freedom despite the enormous economic losses to the motion picture industry. This is the way it should be. Either TV or the movies will survive or maybe both, but it is competition in a free market which will decide the question, not a bureaucratic agency of government.

TV is in the hands of a government commission which makes all the final decisions for it. This government agency, the FCC, is a bureaucratic enterprise which has life and death power over every phase of the radio and television business. The question of pay TV versus advertising TV will have to be decided by the FCC and congress and those bodies may take into consideration many factors, not the least among them being the enormous investment which the networks have put into advertising TV and the large numbers of persons employed therein. The question that will face the FCC is whether pay TV will not disrupt the industry.

Warrants Trial

The answer, of course, is that nobody can foretell the result of a new method or device until it is tried. If the pay TV companies go bankrupt it is sure proof that the public does not want pay TV. If the companies grow prosperous and rich, it is sure proof that there is a good market for pay TV. "Broadcasting's" estimate that 33.4 per cent want pay TV, sight unseen, should be very reassuring for those who care to pay for what they see without listening to the hogwash that comes into a household on the difference between 20,000 and 30,000 filters and between one drug being faster than another. That 33.4 per cent is a very high figure in the circumstances and warrants that the device should be given an opportunity.

One argument against it is that such programs as opera, symphonic music, religious worship, etc., might suffer if pay TV takes over. This is a sound argument that requires discussion. How often each year is the Metropolitan Opera House on television or how many intellectual and religious programs are there? Again, this raises the question of radio and its role which may one day be an increasingly important one. Certainly for news comment and fine music, radio is still better than TV, although the growing tendency of local stations to abandon network programs on radio lessens the value of this medium.

Horse Dealers Plan Expansion

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 8, 1879.

Messrs. D. Hammel and Co. have made arrangements to open sales stables in Sturgeon Bay and Abnashie for the sale of horses.

We feel confident that they will give the utmost satisfaction to people having business with them in these localities, both in the point of excellence of stock brought in there as well as being straightforward in their business transactions. We hope they will be received pleasantly and that they do a handsome business in both places.

One of the firm is now absent to buy horses for this purpose.

Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1933

The senate adopted a proposal by Democratic Leader Robinson striking the $19,000,000 fund for air mail from the treasury post office bill. The vote was 39 to 35.

Kenneth Jorgenson, Clintonville, was the only farmer from this vicinity to win a prize in the state grain show at Madison that week. Mr. Jorgenson placed third in the northern section for 10 ears of corn other than yellow dent.

A. H. Falk was named national councillor of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce. The directors also selected J. Miller Babcock as state J. C. C. director.

L. L. Leary was reelected president of the Master Barbers' Association. Perry

Brown was elected to succeed Hugo Pankratz as secretary and treasurer, and Anton Fredericks guide to replace Otto Witzke.

Doctor Tied Up, Late for Lecture

Richmond, Va. — Dr. G. Watson James III explained his tardiness at a lecture with the customary "sorry I was tied up." He was, too.

Just a little bit earlier he obliged when his 5-year-old son, Billy, said, "hold out your hands and close your eyes." He found himself wearing a pair of rusty handcuffs Billy had found in the attic. But Billy hadn't found any key. Dr. James ate supper wearing the cuffs, then got them cut off at a filing station before the lecture.

Most Elected Officers on Pension Bandwagon

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The state retirement board reports that a considerable majority of the members of the state legislature have joined the state pension fund for which the members made themselves eligible by a little-noticed act they adopted a year ago.

Virtually all of the elected officials of the state of any consequence now are eligible, at their option, to become members of the Wisconsin retirement fund. In effect they increase the emoluments of their offices beyond the levels typically understood by the electorate in balloting to fill those positions.

Earlier the law was changed for the benefit of part-time local officers — such as village presidents, or county board members, or aldermen, etc. Such officers can now join the fund and become eligible for retirement annuities — if they can show they spend 600 hours of work a year in their elected official jobs. It goes without saying that most of them can find the proof. State elected officials also are eligible. Such retirement eligibility, moreover, is over and above the federal old age and survivors' insurance program, for which they have also made themselves eligible.

HOW COME?

It is the difference of opinion, as the philosopher said, that makes a horse race.

Actually, these inclusions in the tax-supported state pension system were achieved without a good deal of public discussion or debate, or indeed, without much public attention of any kind. For it is a characteristic of these legislative acts involving the perquisites of public men that they are achieved by common consent of the parties. Democrats and Republicans may holler at each other for a good long time about other matters, but on these things there is a tacit agreement to say little and vote quickly. Thus the deed is done with unaccustomed speed and harmony.

Yet there are probably a good many citizens who upon reflection may wonder about the legitimacy of such pensions.

The idea of the pension is to benefit and provide security for the professional worker, the man who makes a full-time career out of his job.

The legislator holds a part-time job, by definition, and it is scarcely conceivable by realistic men that he ever intends it to be a job or a career. The same probably holds for the local government elected officer. In almost every case he has other employment; in most cases he operates his professional or business enterprise concurrently.

SUPPORT?

Nor can it be plausibly asserted that the assurance of retirement benefits is useful in recruiting competent officers and workmen. Men are motivated to become candidates for the legislature for many reasons — but among them is not the idea of collecting a small pension 30 or 40 years later.

Popular referenda on unimportant topics can be abused, and sometimes are. But the observer cannot avoid some curiosity about the result of a popular vote on the idea that a man who happens to serve a term or two as mayor, or finds himself elected to the legislature through a series of circumstances, should thereafter be entitled to a pension check upon reaching the age of 65, quite aside from other retirement arrangements such as that already provided by the national social security system.

Pensions for elected officials in Wisconsin represent a hidden bonus for the politicians, although there is little to suggest that there is any considerable objection to it.

Professor Notes Ways To Meet Problems Of Middle Age

"We should concentrate greater effort toward increasing the life expectancy of older men because it is they who contribute most to society because of their intelligence and experience," Dr. Arthur Steinhaus, dean and professor of physiology at George Williams College, Chicago, told an Appleton Chamber of Commerce forum audience Tuesday noon.

In discussing problems of men over 40, Dr. Steinhaus said they cannot depend completely on medicine to increase their life expectancy. He said men in middle age must emphasize improvement of their personal lives to combat physical and emotional problems.

"Mental problems arising in middle age include depression, indecisiveness and emotionalism," he stated.

"Any of these can lead to a mental breakdown unless properly understood and dealt with."

"Mental problems of middle age come when a man is confronted with problems he feels he cannot cope with and cannot escape from."

Dr. Steinhaus recommended cultivation of friends and hobbies as important mental hygiene aids.

"Perhaps the most important thing to a man over 40 is to have a cause to live by," he stated. "It gives him something greater than himself and adds a feeling of importance to his life."

"He must also develop a philosophy to live by because it gives internal strength by helping him understand life around him."

Dr. Steinhaus named high blood pressure, heart trouble, slowdown in muscular reactions and gain in weight as physical problems faced by middle aged men. He advocated temperate physical exercise as a health aid.

"One of the best 'built-in' health tests for a man over 40 is to check his recovery after fairly vigorous exercise. If it takes more than 10 minutes for his heartbeat to return to normal or to catch his breath, then he knows that it's time to take it easy," he stated.

"If a man is healthy, exercise should not cause breathlessness, loss of sleep or undue fatigue."

North Western Sharply Cut Loss in '57

Chicago — The Chicago and North Western Railway company last year cut sharply its loss to a $5.5 million net loss suffered in 1956 and ended up only slightly in the red despite a decline in gross revenues.

For 1957 the carrier had a net loss of $415,524 against $5,529,297 the year before. Revenues totaled $218,483,163, a dip from the $225,787,471 received in 1956.

The year marked the first full year of operation under Chairman Ben W. Heineman, who headed a group which took control of the road in April, 1956. Heineman is former chairman of Clintonville's Four-Wheel Drive.

The road managed to cut its loss sharply despite a downturn in revenues and earnings near the end of the year. In December, for instance, the North Western suffered a $1,249,297 deficit, compared with an income of $787,226 a year earlier.

Wisconsin Central

lane construction but not of the expressway-type, Empey indicated.

The state highway commission has authorized engineering studies for 4-lane construction from Kaukauna to De Pere to join the existing De Pere-Green Bay 4-lane belt. Empey indicated, however, that there are studies underway on 4-lane structures and right-of-way needed for Highway 41 from Green Bay to Suamico, although planning there depends on development of a possible port facility.

At present, construction on the structures to carry Highway 41 over Highways 114 and 150, County Trunks S and O and Plummer court has begun. The highway also will go over an industrial tunnel near Courtney and Plummer, Inc.

Next step in this segment is the contract for the structure and grading over the Soo Line railroad.

Present plans are for the completion of structures in this area this fall probably August. Grading probably will be completed by the end of this year, Empey predicted.

The second section of the road, from Highway 150 to the line to the Soo Line over Outagamie - Winnebago county pass, 3 miles from the overpass line, has three structures - the to the county line and 3 miles from the line to Highway 10 County Trunk BB interchange.

and the Winnebago County way 10 interchange has not been negotiated, but it will affect the commercial properties on the southeast corner of the intersection. The residential area along the northwest corner and the side of Highway 41 at County Trunk BB also are affected by the 4-lane construction and planned interchange.

Plans are to let the structure contracts for this section in the near future, with completion by the end of 1958. Grading contracts probably will be let this spring.

In the third segment, from the county line to Highway 10, there will be no interchanges other than Highway 10 at present. However, enough land for a single interchange network to serve Highway 125 and Spencer road will be bought. Empey indicated he hazarded a guess that the interchanges and overpasses won't be needed for about 10 years.

The Highway 10 interchange, of the diamond type with 41 lane type. Contracts are let for these structures, with completion scheduled by the end of the year.

Farther south, 4-lane interchange structures are planned for Highways 44 and 26, with contracts to be let this spring, about April, Empey indicated. He added it was conceivable grading contracts for the structure approaches would be let and work begun by the end of 1958.

Interchanges First Although 4-lane right-of-way exists for Highway 41 from Highway 114 south to the Fond-du-Lac county line, Empey said the present concentration of 41 construction is one of the trouble spots where traffic interchange causes accidents and slows movement. Appleton Post-Crescent A 4 Wednesday, Feb. 5, 1958

In line with this thinking is construction of overpasses and traffic interchanges with 4 lane characteristics even before the highway itself becomes a continuous 4-lane roadway, Empey indicated.

When the belt around the southern segment of the Fox Cities is completed, Highway 41 will be 4-lane from Highway 10 south to Highway 114. The 2-lane roadway will become 4-lane again when crossing Highway 110 at the north end of the Lake Butte des Morts bridge, 2-lane across the bridge, 4-lane over Highway 21, and 4-lane over Highways 44 and 26. Engineering studies now are in progress for 4-laning the section from Highway 21 south to 26, although no time has been set for actual contracts, Empey indicated.

No Date on North From Highway 10 north to Kaukauna, where the presumed relocation of Highway 41 will occur, no timetable has been set. Most local opinion has been concentrated on locating the new road about three-fourths of a mile north of the present roadway. There is at present no town road along this route and two homes are in the path, studies show.

No precise location of the swing from the present 41 has been set, although it would be about in the area of the large north to east curve of the highway north of the viaduct over the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

No point for rejoining the present highway in the Kaukauna area has been set, although it presumably would be in the area between McCarty's crossing and County Trunk J or Highway 55. The relocation would involve about eight miles of roadway and a public hearing would be held at which a specific recommended route for the new road would be offered.

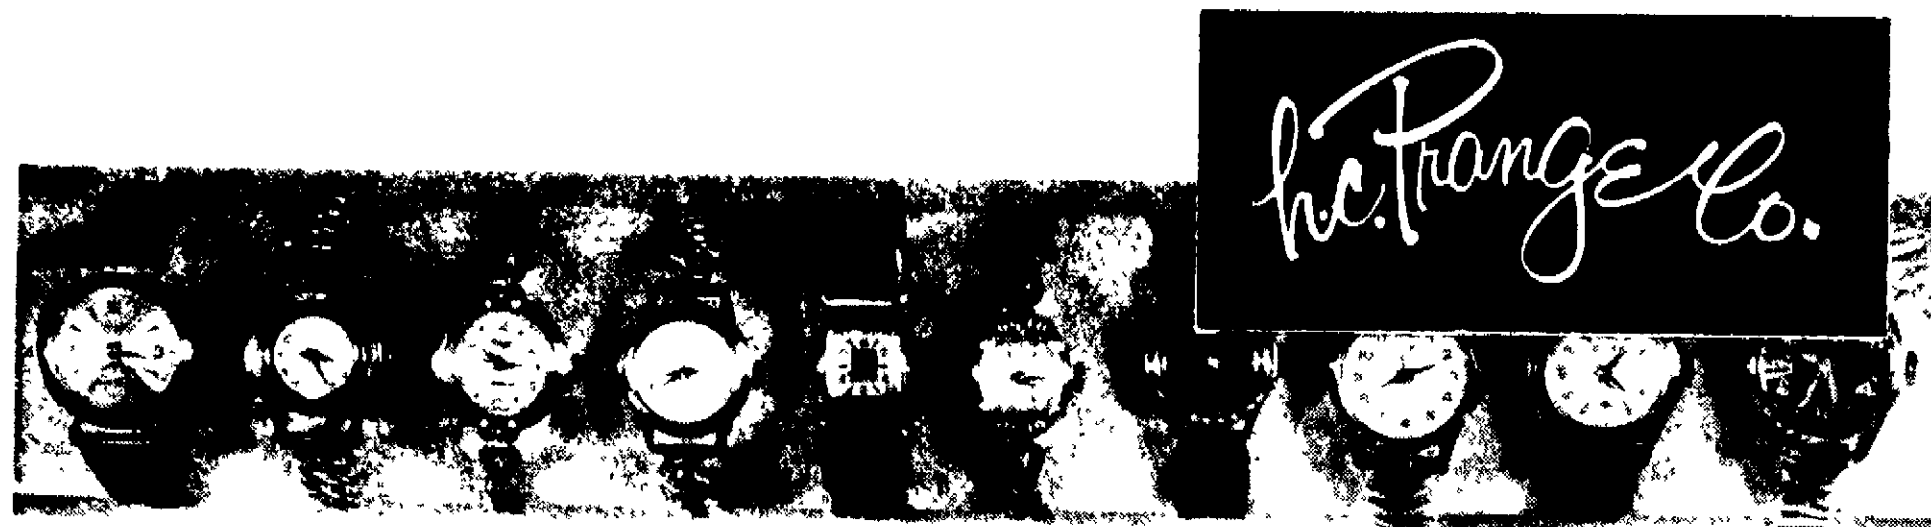

Relocation Causes

Main reason for relocating the road is excessive cost of right-of-way for a 4-lane road in the present location. Commercial property has increased considerably along the road since it was built.

Studies have shown that moving a main artery too far from the areas it serves results in traffic taking less desirable but closer secondary roads, Empey pointed out. Highway 41 should not be moved several miles from its present route.

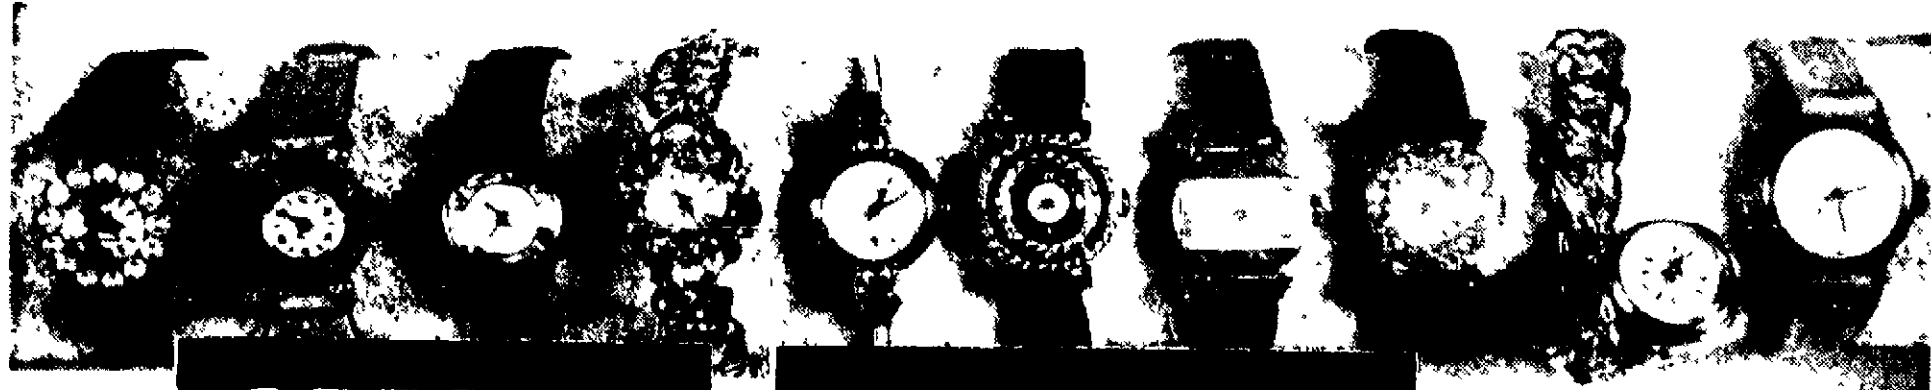

Empey emphasized the congestion on Highway 41 is of local origin, not through traffic. Thus, he stated any relocation of 41 must be made with consideration of carrying local traffic - commuter traffic.

Estimates of time for relocation are impossible since the work has not progressed sufficiently, he added. However, the engineering and right-of-way acquisition work will take at least a year. Hazardous a guess, Empey indicated that 1960 would be an approximate date for construction work on the roadway.

change so that it can be built when traffic justifies it, state highway engineers say. The two roads are too close for separate interchanges, therefore a single interchange pattern serves both. The interchange would be about 600 feet wide. This view is looking toward Appleton. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Walter, will be needed for the new E John right-of-way. How traffic will be controlled at the E. Candee, S. Walter, E. John intersection is unknown, Empey said. Provisions will be made for conduit for traffic lights in the future. Free right turns off the bridge onto E

John and off S. Walter onto the bridge probably will be used. How far from the intersection E Candee and S. Walter will be reconstructed as part of the project is not determined, but Empey speculated not more than 300 feet. E. Alton court, he said, would be reconstructed for about 200 feet; N. Green Bay street for about 250 feet; N. Catherine street for between 200 and 250 feet, and E. College avenue as

Green Bay Council Calls Referendum On Industrial Park

Green Bay — The city's common council voted Tuesday night in favor of a referendum April 1 to ask voters whether they want the city to issue bonds to buy 340 acres of land for industrial expansion. The land, on the city's north-west side, would cost an estimated $500,000.

Study Industry At Bear Creek

Community Leaders Hear Discussion on Development Issue

Bear Creek — Fifty-one residents of Nichols, Manawa, Embarrass, Black Creek, Shoocton, New London, Little Chute, Appleton, Clintonville, and Bear Creek attended a meeting to promote industrial development for small communities at the Bear Creek High school Tuesday evening. The meeting was under the direction of Homer J. Vick, assistant director of the industrial development division, Madison. Vick said five committees of two men each should be selected to promote industrial development in a small town. One to work on finances, one to work on a community fact sheet, one to work on sites and buildings details available, one to work in conjunction with the chamber, and a letter-writing committee.

He stated the first step is to be sure that industry already located in the community is well developed and taken care of. Vick said the reason some communities succeed is because they have proved they really want industry and they were ready when opportunity presented itself.

Each community is allowed to set aside $2,000 a year for industrial development, according to Vick, and many out of state industries are coming into Wisconsin because the state has less debt, a stable and honest government, better educational systems, and less per student expense. It has the best secondary road system in the country and there is every indication the tax situation will improve, Vick said.

The next meeting will be in two months at Shoocton.

Former Wisconsin Attorney General Dies at Green Bay

Green Bay — John W. Reynolds, Sr., 82, Wisconsin attorney general from 1927 to 1933, died Tuesday. Reynolds, a Republican, served as attorney general during the single terms of Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman and Walter J. Kohler, Sr., and during the first term of Gov. Philip F. La Follette.

His son, John, Jr., is prominent in Green Bay, Brown county and state Democratic party organizations.

President-Elect Elvehjem

Applause will be the predominant note, we are confident, in the public's reaction to the election of Dr. Conrad A. Elvehjem to the presidency of the University of Wisconsin.

The regents settled on Elvehjem, now dean of the graduate school, as their first choice after diligently searching the university community and considering scores of available men at other institutions in the country. It is good that they chose a man from the campus, an eminent scientist in his field, and a product of the Wisconsin public school system. The university is proud of being one of the leading centers of learning in the land. As such, it should have been able to produce a leader for its faculty community when the occasion demanded. It did, and in our opinion Dr. Elvehjem was one of several men now at the university who could fittingly have been chosen for this significant administrative office.

Wisconsin friends of education, alumni and students also will note with pleasure that the regents have found a way to retain the counsel and service of Dr. E. B.

There was an element of surprise in Dr. Fred's acceptance of an appointment to a professorship of bacteriology, on emeritus status, because he had spoken so often and so yearningly about retiring to his ancestral homestead in his native state of Virginia.

But he has spent nearly half a century in the service of this state, as teacher, researcher, dean and university president, and we may suppose that Wisconsin is now more real to him as "home" than the distant farm he left as a youth.

Dr. Elvehjem will take command of the university and will serve it during a period that is likely to be as difficult as the tenure of any of his predecessors. The school is growing rapidly. The realistic projections of future enrollment growth are such as might be calculated to frighten a timid administrator. There will be acute problems of physical construction planning, and perhaps more important, problems of financing an ever more costly university program in a state which is virtually at the limit of its financial resources under present tax laws.

Peace in Space?

The Soviet government says it is willing to discuss President Eisenhower's proposal to outlaw war in outer space, provided it is made part of a package deal which would include such terrestrial matters as banning nuclear weapons tests and a NATO-Warsaw non-aggression pact.

Premier Bulganin's letter at least displays common sense in tying up peace in outer space with peace on earth. President Eisenhower's original proposal to dedicate outer space to peaceful purposes had a certain mystical quality about it; after over 2,000 years of trying to find a way to live peacefully together on earth, the world's peoples were suddenly to find the formula somewhere out in space.

The Eisenhower proposal, while it made good headlines, suffered from the same self-delusion as previous Russian proposals to stop nuclear weapons tests and destroy all stocks of such weapons. Such proposals attack the problem of war piecemeal; their advocates think that if the nations can be persuaded to abandon a certain weapon or some particular way of waging war, the problem of war itself will be reduced to a size which will make it less difficult to manage.

But as modern war is total war, so the problem of war is total; it cannot be broken up into little bits and pieces which then can be attacked one by one. If a general war ever occurs again on this planet, we can expect each side to use whatever weapons or strategy it thinks might bring victory, including nuclear weapons, intercontinental missiles and — if they exist by then — space craft. An agreement not to let such a war spread beyond the earth's atmosphere would be as nonsensical (and unenforceable) under actual war conditions as an agreement not to use atom bombs or machine guns, or submarines. Even if such an agreement could somehow be made enforceable it would tend to injure one side more than the other, as for example the unspoken but adhered-to agreement not to use atomic weapons worked to our disadvantage in Korea.

The problem of war and peace is still here on earth, in men's hearts. It will not be solved in outer space.

The Drug That Will Beat the Reds

It seems our greatest shortage in the struggle to keep ahead of the Russians is brains. Much of the current talk is on education, but there is also a strong undercurrent with reference to selecting the bright students which means the teachers probably will do better if they have pupils well supplied with brains.

It is a pleasure to read that Dr. Carl C. Pfeiffer, who does research work at Emory University in Georgia, has discovered a drug which it is claimed will make normal people sharper and may help to pull many of the mentally ill back to reality. If this drug will do what is claimed for it and if it produces no damaging side effects, it should be in great demand. Since everyone will want to know about this stimulant, it is dimethylaminoethanol or DMAE for short, but when it is issued on prescription in a few months it will be known as Deaner.

The doctor in announcing his discovery says it is effective on schizophrenics and may help borderline mental or anxiety cases such as disturbed or delinquent children. That would be enough to excite interest in the drug. But Dr. Pfeiffer also tried it on normal persons — medical students at the university — and the results of this test are startling.

Some students said that with the drug they needed less sleep, others found that they slept sounder, awoke earlier and were more clearheaded. The tone of their muscles improved and they were better able to concentrate. Many noted definite brain stimulation. They reported greater daytime energy, attentiveness at lectures and a greater intolerance of poor lectures. Two said they were able to quit smoking without difficulty, while still others found themselves more affable than before.

The stimulant is said to be kin to a chemical called choline found in fishy foods and fish egg preparations like caviar. Most people have heard about fish being a brain food, but if they inquired about that claim they were probably told that there was nothing to it. Now it seems that there was, although it remained for Dr. Pfeiffer to make the old saying come true.

It is probably wise to distribute the drug by prescription in the beginning, but if it works out as the tests indicate it should be sold in grocery stores shortly. The fellow who gets one dose of this drug should be smart enough to write his own ticket thereafter.

Reuther Has False Idea of Profits

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Walter Reuther has understandably made great news in our nation's press by virtue of his recent "profit-sharing" plan. As merchants of words and ideas, the press can render a distinct service at this time by careful analysis, in an area that is greatly misunderstood and frequently charged with emotion.

Despite Reuther's claim that this is a "profit-sharing" plan, discriminating reporters and editorialists should look behind the claim. It should be your responsibility to report the facts in addition to the news-worthy claims.

The facts are that, whatever else Reuther's plan is, it is not a profit-sharing plan. The union plan speaks to a division of the sales income before all costs are paid. They seek to divide and rebate the net income before taxes. There is no such thing as "profit before taxes." It is unfortunate that this usage has generated the distorting label, "profit before taxes."

It is as barren to speak of "profit before taxes" as it is to speak of "profit before payroll costs" or "profit before selling costs." Profits are a residual, and they simply do not occur "before" anything. Anyone who is attempting to make a profit these days is painfully aware of the primacy of the government claim to income ahead of profits.

Reuther and his unionists can share in profits, as can any other like-minded citizen.

They can buy stock. If they do, they will find they have acquired a double share, a right to share in profits and a share in risks. Risks, however, do not seem palatable to organizations whose credo for security is found in compulsory membership, the "dues checkoff," and coercion.

On the other hand, Reuther must get wage increases for his men, or David MacDonald of the Steelworkers will have shown him up. Two troublesome factors make a straight wage demand difficult. First, continued rising prices (erroneously called inflation) and, secondly, decreased business activity, both of which cry out against further cost increases. So Reuther has shrewdly aimed his plan at profits, for the reading public's consumption. But closer inspection shows the target is not profit but rather the fiction, "profit before taxes."

The nation's profit seeking free press would do well to identify efforts that distort the concept of profits or our free profit-seeking press will waken to find they are no longer free to seek a profit or even free to press.

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The mail has begun to come in on pay TV and the argument simmers down to this: if you can get something for nothing, why pay for it? Some say that pay TV will make so much money that advertising TV will altogether go out of existence. Others say that pay TV will be so much better than advertising TV that the poor will get nothing but the leftovers. Still others make the argument that things are good as they are, that they like the commercials, and that it is only fair to listen to them since otherwise there would be no programs. They are even grateful to the sponsors despite the jingles.

The magazine "Broadcasting" sent me a study it had made in 10 cities which establishes that 33.4 per cent want pay TV; 66.6 per cent are against pay TV. The analysis is interesting and contains considerable data about TV but it is inconclusive as such surveys are bound to be. Only one procedure can be conclusive in our competitive system and that is to permit pay TV and advertising TV to exist simultaneously and to compete against each other and to see which one wins in the long run.

Sold Old Movies
After all, advertising TV exists simultaneously with the movies and is reputed to be the cause for the financial difficulties in which the movies find themselves. Particularly troublesome to the movie industry is the fact that the large producing companies sold their old films to television companies which are showing them along with advertising.

Despite the condition that the action of a story is slowed up while a damsel smokes a cigaret which is now perfect or an imitation doctor tells the audience to take something for a cold, people do like to watch these old films and to see the stars of yesterday, with the result that they stay home and look.

This competition between the home television set and the movie theater continues in freedom despite the enormous economic losses to the motion picture industry. This is the way it should be. Either TV or the movies will survive or maybe both but it is competition in a free market which will decide the question, not a bureaucratic agency of government.

TV is in the hands of a government commission which makes all the final decisions for it. This government agency, the FCC, is a bureaucratic enterprise which has life and death power over every phase of the radio and television business. The question of pay TV versus advertising TV will have to be decided by the FCC and congress and those bodies may take into consideration many factors, not the least among them being the enormous investment which the networks have put into advertising TV and the large numbers of persons employed there. The question that will face the FCC is whether pay TV will not disrupt the industry.

Warrants Trial
The answer, of course, is that nobody can foretell the result of a new method or device until it is tried. If the pay TV companies go bankrupt it is sure proof that the public does not want pay TV. If the companies grow prosperous and rich, it is sure proof that there is a good market for pay TV. "Broadcasting's" estimate that 33.4 per cent want pay TV, sight unseen, should be very reassuring for those who care to pay for what they see without listening to the hogwash that comes into a household on the difference between 20,000 and 30,000 filters and between one drug being faster than another. That 33.4 per cent is a very high figure in the circumstances and warrants that the device should be given an opportunity.

One argument against it is that such programs as opera, symphonic music, religious worship, etc., might suffer if pay TV takes over. This is a sound argument that requires discussion. How often each year is the Metropolitan Opera House on television or how many intellectual and religious programs are there? Again, this raises the question of radio and its role which may one day be an increasingly important one. Certainly for news comment and fine music, radio is still better than TV, although the growing tendency of local stations to abandon network programs on radio lessens the value of this medium.

Horse Dealers Plan Expansion

Quoted from the Appleton Post-Crescent for the week of Feb. 8, 1929.

Messrs. D. Hammel and Co. have made arrangements to open sales stables in Sturgeon Bay and Altona for the sale of horses.

We feel confident that they will give the utmost satisfaction to people having business with them in these localities, both in the point of excellence of stock brought in there as well as being straightforward in their business transactions. We hope they will be received pleasantly and that they do a handsome business in both places.

Just a little bit earlier he obliged when his 5-year-old son, Billy, said, "hold out your hands and close your eyes." He found himself wearing a pair of rusty handcuffs Billy had found in the attic. But Billy hadn't found any key. Dr. James ate supper wearing the cuffs, then got them cut off at a filling station before the lecture.

Most Elected Officers on Pension Bandwagon

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The state retirement board reports that a considerable majority of the members of the state legislature have joined the state pension fund for which the members made themselves eligible by a little-noticed act they adopted a year ago.

Virtually all of the elected officials of the state of any consequence now are eligible, at their option, to become members of the Wisconsin retirement fund. In effect they increase the emoluments of their offices beyond the stated amounts and beyond the levels typically understood by the electorate in balloting to fill those positions.

Earlier the law was changed for the benefit of part-time local officers — such as village presidents, or county board members, or aldermen, etc. Such officers can now join the fund and become eligible for retirement annuities — if they can show they spend 600 hours of work a year in their elected official jobs. It goes without saying that most of them can find the proof. State elected officials also are eligible. Such retirement eligibility, moreover, is over and above the federal old age and survivors' insurance program, for which they have also made themselves eligible.

HOW COME?

It is the difference of opinion, as the philosopher said, that makes a horse race.

Actually, these inclusions in the tax-supported state pension system were achieved without a good deal of public discussion or debate, or indeed, without much public attention of any kind. For it is a characteristic of these legislative acts involving the perquisites of public men that they are achieved by common consent of the parties. Democrats and Republicans may holler at each other for a good long time about other matters, but on these things there is a tacit agreement to say little and vote quickly. Thus the deed is done with unaccustomed speed and harmony.

Yet there are probably a good many citizens who upon reflection may wonder about the legitimacy of such pensions.

The idea of the pension is to benefit and provide security for the professional worker, the man who makes a full-time career out of his job.

The legislator holds a part-time job, by definition, and it is scarcely conceivable by realistic men that he ever intends it to be a job or a career. The same probably holds for the local government elected officer. In almost every case he has other employment; in most cases he operates his professional or business enterprise concurrently.

SUPPORT?

Nor can it be plausibly asserted that the assurance of retirement benefits is useful in recruiting competent officers and workmen. Men are motivated to become candidates for the legislature for many reasons — but among them is not the idea of collecting a small pension 30 or 40 years later.

Popular referenda on unimportant topics can be abused, and sometimes are. But the observer cannot avoid some curiosity about the result of a popular vote on the idea that a man who happens to serve a term or two as mayor, or finds himself elected to the legislature through a series of circumstances, should thereafter be entitled to a pension check upon reaching the age of 65, quite aside from other retirement arrangements such as that already provided by the national social security system.

Pensions for elected officials in Wisconsin represent a hidden bonus for the politicians, although there is little to suggest that there is any considerable objection to it.

Professor Notes Ways To Meet Problems Of Middle Age

"We should concentrate greater effort toward increasing the life expectancy of older men because it is they who contribute most to society because of their intelligence and experience," Dr. Arthur Steinhaus, dean and professor of physiology at George Williams College, Chicago, told an Appleton Chamber of Commerce forum audience Tuesday noon.

In discussing problems of men over 40, Dr. Steinhaus said they cannot depend completely on medicine to increase their life expectancy. He said men in middle age must emphasize improvement of their personal lives to combat physical and emotional problems.

"Mental problems arising in middle age include depression, indecisiveness and emotionalism," he stated.

"Any of these can lead to a mental breakdown unless properly understood and dealt with."

Dr. Steinhaus recommended cultivation of friends and hobbies as important mental hygiene aids.

"Perhaps the most important thing to a man over 40 is to have a cause to live by," he stated. "It gives him something greater than himself and adds a feeling of importance to his life."

"He must also develop a philosophy to live by because it gives internal strength by helping him understand life around him."

Dr. Steinhaus named high blood pressure, heart trouble, slowdown in muscular reactions and gain in weight as physical problems faced by middle aged men. He advocated temperate physical exercise as a health aid.

"One of the best 'built-in' health tests for a man over 40 is to check his recovery after fairly vigorous exercise. If it takes more than 10 minutes for his heartbeat to return to normal or to catch his breath, then he knows that it's time to take it easy," he stated.

"If a man is healthy, exercise should not cause breathlessness, loss of sleep or undue fatigue."

Circulation at Public Library Hits New High

Annual Report Shows 70,787 Books Were Withdrawn in 1957

Kaukauna — Circulation of books at the Kaukauna public library continued to climb during 1957 as an all-time high of 70,787 books were circulated, according to the annual report of William Sloggy, librarian.

The increase is 7,337 more than was recorded in 1956 and marks an 11 per cent increase. The percentage increase has been exceeded only twice, in 1951 and again in 1956, when an increase of 17 per cent was recorded over the previous years. Circulation has more than doubled since 1950, said Sloggy, as the total reported in that year amounted to 29,715.

Juvenile Readers
The juvenile readers account for about 55 per cent of the total circulation, according to Sloggy. Youngsters used 38,839 books during 1957 for an increase of about 15 per cent over 1956. Fiction is still the most popular among the young readers as 30,965 volumes of this type were circulated compared to 7,875 non-fiction.

The margin between fiction and non-fiction reading by adults was narrowed slightly during 1957 as 12,570 non-fiction volumes were circulated compared to 19,378 fiction books. Adult reading increased about 3 per cent over the 1956 total, according to Sloggy.

County use increased about 24 per cent and accounted for about 10 per cent of the total circulation as nearly 8,000 books were read by persons living outside the city limits of Kaukauna, according to the librarian.

A total of 3,560 residents of Kaukauna are registered patrons at the library. Of this total, 1,985 are adults and 1,575 are classified as juvenile readers. The library added 2,046 books during the year bringing the total number available for circulation to 13,579, according to the annual report.

Police Make 42 Arrests in Month

Kaukauna — Kaukauna police made 42 arrests during the first month this year, 29 of the arrests for parking violations, according to the monthly report released Monday by Harold V. Engerson, chief of police.

Seven arrests were made for speeding, four for disorderly conduct and one each for driving a car without the owner's consent and failing to yield the right of way. Four speeders were warned and nine persons were warned for parking infractions.

In other activities the department answered 140 calls, investigated 29 accidents, reported 68 street lights out and recovered lost or stolen property valued at $762.

Lady Elks Establish Deadline to Register For Valentine Party

Kaukauna — Reservations for the annual Elks Ladies Valentine party to be held at 6:30 in the evening Feb. 15 must be made by Feb. 12, according to the publicity chairman.

The affair is open to all Elks members and their wives. Elks planning to attend are asked to call Mrs. Richard Jacobs for reservations. The steering committee will call Elks Ladies for reservations.

One New Home Permit Out at Combined Locks

Combined Locks — One building permit was issued during January, according to Ray Jensen, building inspector.

The lone permit went to William Stern Construction of New London for a $12,500 home in the Van Daalwyk plat on Park street.

Kaukauna Birth

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Community hospital today reported the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ashauer, route 1, Menasha.

George Kailhofer's Takes 2nd Teenage Kegling Title

Kaukauna — George Kailhofer's team won two games in the final weekend of action in the recreation department sponsored Teenage Bowling league to clinch the league crown for the second straight year.

The winners finished with 17 wins and five defeats. Teams competed each Saturday afternoon throughout the winter months at Verbeten's alleys. A team, singles and doubles tournament will get underway later this winter.

Dan Killian's team finished in second place with 15 wins and seven defeats followed by Roger Van Toll's and Hope Goetzman's each with 13 wins and nine losses. Marilyn Weyer's team finished with 12 wins and 10 defeats followed by Lance Goetzman's with 11 wins and 11 losses.

Pete Bachhuber's team finished seventh with a 10-11 record followed by Lee Jacob's crew and Chuck Schmitt's team with 10-12 ratings. Rounding out the standings were Alice Kempen's team with an 8-13-14 mark, Ken Jirkowicz's with 7-15 and Athlyn Andrews' team with a 5-17 record.

League Leaders
Top individual scores on the final week were posted by George Kailhofer with a 193 followed by Lee Schmalz, 178; Roger Van Toll, 170; Marv Hammond, 164; Bill Biese, 153; Ed Vanden Heuvel, 153; Keith Roberts, 148; Carl Hermans, 144, and Chuck Schmitt, 143. High single game for the girls competing was hit by Hope Goetzman who registered a 141. Other leading scorers were Jim Schumann, 141; Hope Hilgenberg, 137; Juanita Perkins, 137; Bob Efta, 137; Leigh Wachel, 136; Diane Wheeler, 136, and Lee Jacob, 135.

Boxing Card to Be Held Monday At Holy Cross

Kaukauna — The second and final boxing card featuring grade school competitors will be held at 7 o'clock Monday evening at Holy Cross school gym under the direction of the athletic committee of the Home-School association.

Money raised is used for the school athletic fund. Jack Roberts and Robert Main are co-chairmen and have worked with several assistants in training the boys several evenings per week.

An earlier match drew a near capacity house and a second was scheduled immediately to give boys unable to participate on the first card a chance to appear. Thirty sixth bouts have been scheduled for Monday night but several of these may be cancelled as doctors examine youngsters before the fights and will not permit children to compete if they are running slight temperatures or seem ill.

Youngsters from the third through the eighth grades will compete and no decisions will be given. Referee will be John Vanden Berg.

Dollar Days Begin Thursday

Kaukauna — Most Kaukauna business places have scheduled their annual dollar day sales this weekend to continue from Thursday through Saturday.

Shoppers will be able to take advantage of the sales to purchase needed winter clothing as store owners make room for the spring styles, expected to arrive within the next couple of weeks.

The sales will be city wide with all types of merchants joining forces to make the event a success. The sale is promoted by the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fire Department Makes 10 Calls During January

Kaukauna — Kaukauna firemen answered 10 calls during the month, the most serious causing about $12,000 damage to an apartment at which a fireman was overcome by smoke and confined to the hospital for several days, according to a report by William Haupt, fire chief.

Other runs included two for chimney fires, two for overheated furnaces, two for furnaces backing up and one each for lint in an electric dryer, a burning tree and a false smoke alarm.

Firemen made 17 runs to the Kaukauna Community hospital in the city ambulance, one to Wisconsin General at Madison, one to St. Elizabeth's in Appleton and one for the use of oxygen.

Film Will Feature Women's Guild Meeting

Kaukauna — A film entitled, "The Secret of the Gift," will be shown at a meeting of the Women's Guild of the Immanuel United Church of Christ at 7:30 Thursday night.

Program chairman will be Mrs. Joseph Smith and hostesses will be members of the Lois circle.

KHS Frosh Meet Kimberly Five In Loop Tilt

Papermakers Scored Easy 48 to 19 Win In First Contest

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school frosh cagers will attempt to halt the 6-game winning streak of the Junior Papermakers from Kimberly at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Kaukauna gym in a Fox Valley Frosh league tilt.

The invaders are leading the league and earlier this year ran up a lopsided 48 to 19 win over the Junior Ghosts at the Kimberly court. Good height and balanced scoring have enabled the Kimberly team to maintain the league lead while Kaukauna lacks both of these attributes and currently has a league record of two wins and five defeats.

Ghosts' Surprise
The Junior Ghosts surprised fans last week when they battled a strong Menasha quintet down to the wire before dropping a 46-44 decision on the Menasha court. The same team had earlier rolled to a 67-27 win over Kaukauna here.

Coach Guy Krumm's charges played their best game of the year at Menasha and the 44 points scored exceeded the previous high of 38 by the team. Kimberly meanwhile has never scored less than 40 points and has run up scores in the 50's and 60's.

Likely starters for Kaukauna include Dennis Priebe, Ken Kavanaugh, Steve Mayer, Bruce Bay and Jim Schumann with Gene LaBorde and Bill Vanderl as chief reserves. Kimberly will open with Jeff Vander Velden, Tom Peefenboom, Tom Rooyackers, Jerry Binsfield and Ron Poleshinski with Dave Kringle as the sixth man. Coach Jim Nirschl made use of 11 players in the first meeting.

Legion Women Plan Initiation of Members

Kaukauna — Initiation will be held by the American Legion auxiliary at 6:30 Thursday night at the Legion hall.

The program is expected to get underway about 7:45 in the evening. Cards will be played and a social hour held after the business session. The meeting of the Junior auxiliary has been cancelled this month.

Twelve Apply For Police Job At Little Chute

Robert Nechodom Named Village Plumbing Inspector

Little Chute — Twelve applications for the vacant position on the village police force were received by the board Tuesday night.

Of the applicants, two had to be disqualified because they were under 21 years of age as required by ordinance.

All applications were turned over to the police and fire committee for preliminary screening. The night marshal position was made vacant when Gerald LeNoble resigned at the January meeting. At the present time there are three men on the force.

In other action the board set an annual salary of $200 for the building inspector. All fees collected will be turned over to the clerk-treasurer. In the past the inspector was not given a salary but kept fees he collected.

Plumbing Inspector

Robert Nechodom was named village plumbing inspector, along with his earlier appointment as gas inspector.

The plumbing ordinance was amended to make the fee for each permit $1.50 instead of $1.

The street commission was authorized to hire a truck to assist with snow removal if the need arises. The board also authorized the purchase of 750 bicycle licenses that will run for a 2-year period.

Building Costs During January Total $76,150

Kaukauna—Only three building permits were issued during January, all for commercial alterations, according to the monthly report released Monday by Lother Kemp, assistant building inspector.

Total building costs for the month amounted to an estimated $76,150 of which $75,000 was absorbed by the Kaukauna Machine and Foundry division of Giddings and Lewis for an 80 by 120-foot addition to the plant.

A total of 33 permits were issued in the building inspector's office including three for building, two sign, 24 gas and four plumbing permits.

Country League Honors Shared

Hollandtown — Carl Trettin banged a 220 singleton and Tom Van Abel topped a 548 series to share individual honors in the Country Bowling league at Van Abel's alleys.

Team honors went to Van Abel's with a 906 game and a 2,443 series. Kuehn-Simon dropped two games to D-X but holds the league lead with 40 wins and only 11 losses. D-X is in second place, 10 games behind the leaders.

Other top individual scores were rolled by Don Van Abel, 527; Cliff Vande Yacht, 219; Ken Kempen, 200, and Carl Trettin, 528.

Council Will Try to Control Train Traffic

Aldermen Vote to Adopt Ordinance on Blocking Crossings

Kaukauna — Trains blocking crossings in the city were the main subject of discussion at the common council meeting Tuesday night when George Simon, third ward alderman, claimed children were crawling under trains blocking crossings in an effort to keep from being late for school.

Simon reported investigation had shown the trains blocked crossings for up to 21 minutes and in some cases the youngsters crawled under the trains on their way to school, particularly near the Kaukauna depot. He charged railroads have been guilty of blocking crossing for several years and proposed the legislative committee work with the city attorney to draft an ordinance requiring trains to block crossings for no less than five minutes.

Alderman George Luebke, fifth ward, seconded Simon's motion after which the council unanimously backed the proposal. Mayor Joseph Bayor-geon asked the city attorney whether such an ordinance could be adopted by city statutes and the attorney stated he thought permission was needed on such a ruling from the public service commission.

School Projects
The mayor informed the council the board of education was prepared to present preliminary plans to the council for construction and remodeling work at the two city grade schools.

A public meeting was set for 7 o'clock in the evening, Feb. 17, at which school board members, council members, the architect and interested citizens would discuss additions to Park and Nicolet schools.

Financing of the school building projects will be discussed as the school board hopes to be able to start work early this year in an effort to have the project completed for the fall term. Remodeling plans call for the addition of all purpose rooms to both schools along with remodeling work inside the buildings.

Storm Sewer Plan
Council members approved the recommendation of the board of public works to have the city engineer start work on a master storm sewer plan to separate storm waters from the sanitary sewer system.

The work is part of the project undertaken at the order of the state board of health to cut down on river pollution. The state gave the city 10 years in which to remove all storm water from sanitary sewer lines. The engineer will attempt to draw up a work schedule which would enable the city to comply with the order.

Initial projects will include a Blackwell at Ducharme street storm sewer, a storm sewer for Boyd avenue, Cleveland avenue and Ninth street and for Fifth street between Reaume and Crooks avenue. Tentative cost of these projects was set at $15,000, using city equipment and labor whenever feasible.

Other Business
In other activity the council authorized the fire chief to advertise for bids on auxiliary fire equipment for the new fire truck to be delivered later this year.

A list of needed items has been approved by the purchasing committee, fire chief and fire and police commission. Bids are to be mailed to the purchasing committee of the council prior to Feb. 25. A complete list of auxiliary equipment is available from the fire chief or city clerk.

The purchasing committee also was authorized to accept bids on manhole covers, catch basin inlets, three power saws, approximately 50,000 gallons of road oil, 2,000 cubic yards of covering material for oiling streets, 150 gallons of traffic paint and 420 feet of corrugated metal culvert pipe of various dimensions.

A meeting of the planning commission was called for Feb. 12 to discuss the official city map and the location of a trail-er court in the city. A citizen's claim for compensation due to a broken arm as a result of a fall on a city walk was referred to the city's insurance carrier.

A class B retail beer and liquor license was approved for Leo Kappell and Robert Vander Velden was given a refund on the unused portion of his liquor license. A junk permit to collect cardboard in the city was issued to Donald Tordore, Appleton.

Association Names Leaders for Heart Drive in Kimberly

Kimberly—Mrs. Cletus Dietzler, 122 W. First street, and Mrs. Elmer Vandervelden, 238 S. Willow street, have been appointed co-chairmen for the village's 1958 Heart fund drive.

The campaign, which began Feb. 1 and will continue until Feb. 28, will reach a climax on Heart Sunday, Feb. 23, when house-to-house solicitations will be made.

Kimberly's co-chairmen will appoint division chairmen to assist them in the Heart Association's campaign.

Couples League Leaders Named At Hollandtown

Hollandtown — Bill Lamers slammed a 220 game and Don Van Abel registered a 545 series to share individual honors in the Mr. and Mrs. Bowling league at Van Abel's alleys.

Team honors were also shared with Lamers' hitting a 369 game and Don Van Abel's registering a 992 series. Don Van Abel's swept three games from Jim Van Abel's to hold the league lead with 26 wins and four losses, eight games in front of the second place crew.

Mixed Couples'
Agnes Biese cracked a 211 game and a 484 set to pace the women and Bud Vande Wetering hit a 534 series to lead the men in the Mixed Couples' league at Van Abel's alleys.

Team honors went to Biese's with a 366 game and a 923 series. Simon won two games from Nies' to pull to within one-half game of the leaders. Nies' hold first place with a 223-131 mark.

Locks Team Meets Seymour Thursday

Combined Locks — Trying for its fifth Foxland conference win in six games, the Combined Locks Grade school basketball team will meet St. John's, a Seymour Thursday night here. The game will be at 7:30 and Principal Wayne Hull announced that there will be a dance after the game.

The Locks team has a 4-1 league record and is currently tied with Black Creek for first place.

Expect Large Crowd For Final Home Tilt

Four Seniors in Last Appearance for St. John Thursday; to be Booster Game

Little Chute — Probably the largest crowd of the season will see the final home appearance of the St. John High school basketball team when the Dutchmen meet St. Norbert of De Pere in a Fox Valley Catholic conference game Thursday night.

The Athletic association is sponsoring the game as a booster event for alumni. The preliminary game is scheduled for 6:30 and the varsity contest will be at 8:15.

Following the tilt there will be a get-together for graduates of the school with lunch and refreshments in the cafeteria just off the gym.

Defending Champion

St. Norbert, defending league and state champion for Catholic schools, has been taking it on the chin from FVCC opponents and will be out for revenge against the Chuters as well.

In the first meeting at De Pere the Dutchmen came back with a 49 to 42 victory. Since that time the Norbertines have fallen before St. Mary's, Menasha, Lourdes of Marinette, Pre-Seymour Thursday night here. The game will be at 7:30 and Principal Wayne Hull announced that there will be a dance after the game.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick is hoping for a repeat performance from his eagles similar to the win over Wayland Academy Saturday night. St. John expected for a 63 to 36 victory over the Cadets, their biggest victory margin of the season.

The Chuters have a seven and eight record for the campaign and have two games away from home after the Thursday night encounter, Feb. 13 they travel to Springs for a conference tilt and then close out the regular season by going to Lourdes Feb. 20.

Probable starters for St. John will be Noel Vanden Heuvel and Don Hermen at guards, Ed Hammen at center, Lyle Neinhaus and Dan Romensko at forwards.

Vanden Heuvel, Neinhaus and Romensko are seniors who will be making their final home appearance. Senior reserve Gene Jansen also will see action in his final tilt here.

Other underclassmen who will probably get a chance to perform are Tom Goerts, Ady Ebben, Mike Bangers, Gary Versteegen, Tim Tousey and Tom Schuler.

Earlier Meeting for Businessmen Thursday

Little Chute — The Businessmen's association has announced a change in time for their meeting Thursday night at the village hall.

The meeting will start at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock to give members a chance to attend

Methodist Women Will View Film Concerning Japan

Kaukauna — A film entitled, "Kojinos of Japan," will be shown at a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian service of the Methodist church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

The executive committee will meet at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the church, Mrs. L. C. Smith will have charge of the film. The nominating committee, composed of Mrs. George Emmertman, Mrs. Adolph Popp and Mrs. Elroy Marsceau, will present a skit entitled, "And So We Hope."

Members of Circle four will serve as hostesses and Mrs. Vernon Josie will lead devotions.

Afternoon Homemakers Will View Films on Tour Through Europe

Kaukauna — James Lang will take members of the Afternoon Homemaker club on a tour of Europe through the use of colored movies at a meeting at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Vocational school.

Mabel Breier Hits High at Kimberly

Kimberly — Mabel Breier rattled a 199 game and 499 series for the high individual honors in the Ladies league at Van's alleys.

Van's team took the high game honors with a 831 count and Clover Farm had the tops in the series department with a 2,327 mark.

Clover Farm is in first place with a 40-14 record while Dud's Inn and Kimberly Motors are tied for second, both 10 games off the pace.

Other high scores included Joan Goffard, 190-498; Coil McCormick, 184, and Fern Oudenhoven, 180.

Split cleanups included Joan Goffard, 7-9; Dorothy Gruen, 5-7, and Mary Lou Peerenboom, 2-7-10.

214-565 Counts Lead Southside Business Loop

Kaukauna — Sherny Rogers slammed a 214 singleton and a 565 series to set the pace in the Southside Businessmen's league at Verboten's alleys.

Team honors were shared with Rennie's posting an 842 game and Gib's Skelly Oil hitting 2,365 series. Gib's Skelly Argo Simon, Mrs. Walter Hartz, dropped two games to Rennie, Mrs. Arthur Oettinger, Mrs. Loyal Schmalz and Mrs. Ervin Krause.

Sherny's and Klein's are tied for runnerup with 35-25 marks.

Other high individual scores were posted by Robert Roberts, 561; Frank Vandersteent, 526; Gene Schneider, 213; Mike Vanden Heuvel, 209 and Bob Zimmerman, 200.

Fly Control Discussed by Researchers

No Harmful Chemicals Will be Added to Lake, Fishermen Assured

Oshkosh — Various control measures including larvacides and other possibilities under study in a long-range effort to find a solution to Lake Winnebago's pesky lake fly nuisance were discussed Tuesday evening in Oshkosh.

The gathering, attended by persons from Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Fond du Lac, Appleton and suburban lake front areas, was sponsored by Winnebago Lake Fly Research, Inc.

Major share of the report was presented by members of a joint UW and Wisconsin state college, Oshkosh, research team composed of Dr. Robert Dicke, professor of etymology at UW; his associate, Dr. William Hilsenoff; and Dr. J. Daniel Plum and Dr. Jacob Shapiro, both of the Oshkosh college biology department.

Supplementary material was given by Thomas Wirth, Oshkosh, of the state conservation department, and Kenneth M. Mackenthun, public health biologist for Wisconsin State board of health. Serving as chairman and moderator was Dr. Ernest Strakosch, Oshkosh, president of the research group.

State Would Control

Dr. Strakosch explained the purpose of the research project which he described as "inter-community enterprise," is only to find out if the lake fly nuisance can be controlled and, if so, by what means.

Actual control operations, if a method is discovered, would be up to the state, he commented.

During a general discussion of the problem after formal reports, it was emphasized no chemical or other treatment would be applied to Lake Winnebago without making certain it would have no harmful effects on fish life.

The same precaution would be used for humans who use the lake for drinking water. Any such treatment, if that should prove to be the final solution, would be subject to the approval and control of such agencies as the conservation department, state water pollution committee and sportsmen's organizations, it was added.

Stolen Car Found

A car stolen Friday was found Tuesday by police. The 1950 car, owned by Ronald Budweiser, 394 Walnut street, Menasha, was found in the rear of a store at 336 W. College avenue. The keys, which had been left in the car by Budweiser, were still in the car.

Forfeits Bond

Victor Riehl, 45, 1001 E. Marquette street, has forfeited a bond in municipal court for was misinformed. Riehl paid court costs and the charge was dismissed.

Democrats to Hear Philleo Nash Talk

Menasha — Philleo Nash, former state Democratic party chairman and probable candidate for state office, will talk to Winnebago county Democrats at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Eagle's hall. His topic will be "Honesty in Government."

Election of one executive committeeman and a discussion of how to inject more life into fund-raising efforts are the principal items on the county party's agenda for its regular meeting.

James Omachinski was elected to a 1-year term on the executive committee in December, but has resigned because of press of other activities.

Nash, who holds a doctor's degree in philosophy from the University of Chicago, was a member of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations for 10 years through 1943.

He was finance chairman of the state party in 1954, chairman of the Wood county party organization in 1955 and state party chairman in 1956 through October, 1957. He now is on the administration committee of the state party.

Sludge Tank Top Buckles; $5,000 Loss

The pressure of air was blamed today as probable cause of an estimated $5,000 damage to one of the city's two large sludge storage tanks at the sewage treatment plant.

A floating roof on one of the tanks buckled Monday night. Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said. In buckling, the trusses which radiate from the center dome, tore loose from the dome.

The tank was full, Duszynski said, and the dome section came to rest atop the sludge or it might have broken.

The director sees little hope of salvaging the trusses. They were badly bent, he says. The tank is 65 feet in diameter. Bids will be asked for the repair.

Workers today were draining the tank into one of the three storage lagoons which was empty.

It is believed a workman forgot to open a vent from the outside into the tank before starting to drain it.

The city has four such tanks at the plant.

Correction

In a story appearing in Tuesday's Post-Crescent about traffic cases in municipal court, it was stated that Karl A. Korth, 18, route 2, New London, forfeited a $13.20 bond on a charge of passing a school bus stopped for children. The Post-Crescent bond was misinformed. Korth paid court costs and the charge was dismissed.

Open House Will Introduce New Hospital

Public to be Shown Through Building Saturday, Sunday

The public officially will see the interior of Appleton Memorial hospital for the first time Saturday and Sunday when an open house serves to introduce the institution to residents.

Tours will be held continually throughout the two days and tour routes will be marked by directional arrows.

Open house hours are from 10 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon Saturday and from 12 o'clock to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Members of the Y's Men's club will act as parking attendants. Hostesses will be recruited from the hospital women's auxiliary.

A souvenir tour book will be distributed to all visitors and enough have been printed to be used during subsequent trips through the building, the open house committee has announced.

Although the open house is scheduled for this weekend, the institution will not receive patients until sometime during the week of Feb. 17. The period will be used to clean up the building and to orient personnel to their duties.

County Highway Workers Starting Time Upped Hour

Outagamie highway department workers, members of Local 455, have had their starting time changed from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock in the morning.

The change is a result of the county board's November action in cutting work time from 50 to 45 hours a week. County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson met with a union delegation this week after workers protested the change in hours.

Brownson, who with the county highway committee was authorized by the board to set the starting hours, said the workers wanted reinstatement of the earlier starting hour, but no change is anticipated. The later starting hour makes for better material handling conditions in the summer construction season, he said.

George Walter Will Talk to Scout Leaders

George Walter, of the Lawrence college education department, will discuss leadership at East district scout meeting at Van Abel's club in Holland town at 6:30 Thursday night.

L. R. Watson, Valley Boy Scout council vice president, will talk on scouting and present scouters' awards.

Top items on the business agenda include election of district officers and a progress report by Stephen Baisch, Kaukauna, district chairman.

Around Home...

A defendant in municipal court the other day ran into a little difficulty in addresses with Judge Oscar J. Schmiedege.

"Where do you live?" asked the judge.

"North of Appleton," said the man.

"No, where do you get your mail?" asked the judge.

"Oh, we have a mailbox," said the man.

The Post-Crescent's police reporter drives a car somewhat smaller than most.

The other day he was parked on a side street and inadvertently let the meter time run out. A policeman dutifully ticketed his car.

But it was a green ticket. Those are the ones given to bicyclists who violate the traffic laws.

Work Begins on Easter Seals

Preparations are underway for the 1958 Easter Seal campaign, a drive designed to benefit crippled children and adults, according to Ross Warner, campaign chairman for the Outagamie County Easter Seal society. The drive opens March 6 and continues through Easter Sunday, April 6.

The chairman said seals will be sent to more than 23,000 homes in the county and contributions will be used to meet as many as possible of the needs for professional services to the crippled at Morgan school and to maintain the Homecrafters' shop. Articles sold in the latter all are made by homebound people and proceeds go back to whomever produced the item.

Past presidents of the American Legion auxiliary will prepare letters for mailing again this year and other volunteer help will come from members of Job's Daughters, Amvets and Brewery Workers local 290, Warner announced.

About 90 per cent of funds raised in Wisconsin remain in the state and the remainder helps support a national program of service, education and research.

never agree unilaterally to creation of any atom-free zone in Europe as part of a disarmament plan.

The other free nations concerned, Eisenhower said, are exposed to great danger with respect to Russia, and they must be participants in any agreement regarding establishment of a zone clear of nuclear arms.

One of his lawyers has advised him, Eisenhower said, that members of federal regulatory commissions are entitled to accept reasonable honorariums, or fees, for such things as making speeches.

Eisenhower made that remark when asked whether he thinks it proper for FCC members of such commissions to accept such fees.

Hasn't Studied Case

The questioner obviously had in mind the case of John C. Doerfer, chairman of the federal communications commission, whose acceptance of fees is under investigation by a house subcommittee.

Eisenhower said he knows very little about the specific case, but that he has read something of it in the newspapers. He said his lawyer adviser told him members of such committees may not engage in other business activities but that the law says reasonable honorariums may be accepted.

Eisenhower put in a political plug for Harold E. Stassen, his disarmament adviser, if Stassen decides to run for governor of Pennsylvania.

There were published reports last weekend that Stassen either would resign soon to bid for the governorship on the Republican ticket, or Eisenhower would request his resignation as presidential disarmament aide.

No-Comme t on Vanguard

Eisenhower had no direct comment on the navy's second failure to get its Vanguard satellite into orbit. The latest attempt fizzled early today when the rocket faltered and was destroyed after a successful launching.

Eisenhower was asked whether any consideration is being given to ordering the air force into the scientific satellite program, in addition to the army.

In view of the two Vanguard failures.

He made no direct reply. He said only that all outer space projects in the defense department are to be handled under the direction of Secretary of Defense McElroy at this time.

However, a bit later in the news conference Eisenhower indicated—but did not say so specifically—that he is thinking of setting up a separate program for scientific outer-space projects, as distinguished from strictly military projects.

Republican congressional leaders made it clear after a conference with Eisenhower yesterday that he is considering whether some space projects should be handled by a new civilian agency.

As for prospects of a round trip to the moon within the next ten years, Eisenhower said Werner von Braun, army missile expert, made no such forecast to him at a White House dinner last night.

Von Braun was quoted in some published reports as having made such a prediction.

Eisenhower said none of the scientists he knows have fixed any timetable for a trip to the moon.

ing into the ocean two to three miles offshore.

In an official announcement minutes later, the test center, which operates the test center, said the Vanguard was "successfully launched... but was destroyed in flight when it failed to maintain its programmed flight path."

Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the test center, said it may be several days before there can be a full explanation of what happened to the Vanguard.

Short though it was, the flight gave the navy much valuable data, through telemetry, photography, radar and radio monitoring. Soon after the explosion, technicians were busy assembling this information, probing for the cause of the failure.

The air force probably will be asked to try to salvage some of the rocket wreckage from the sea. The small Vanguard satellite may be floating on the water and sending out its beeping radio signals.

Weather Not Cause

Weather apparently could not be blamed for the breakup of the rocket. Winds at 25,000 feet were blowing only 69 m.p.h.

The second Vanguard failure started immediate speculation on the future of the program. Officials associated with the project said it presumably would not be affected, since today's rocket was only a test vehicle.

In Washington, Dr. John P. Hagen, director of Project Vanguard, said he would try "as soon as we can" to launch another of the rockets.

He would not estimate when that might be. Nor would he comment on the effect of today's failure on a schedule calling for firing of a fully-instrumented, 20-inch Vanguard satellite next month.

The navy originally was given an exclusive assignment to launch America's first earth satellite with the Vanguard. After the sputniks were put into orbit, there was a furious public demand for a speedup in the Vanguard target date.

Demands for Speed

It was this insistence on speed, navy sources said, that resulted in the Dec. 6 blowup. The rocket, still an "experimental bird," just wasn't ready for the test.

After that failure, America

Betty Hutton Issues Divorce Statement

Miami Beach, Fla. — Betty Hutton, the blonde singer, said yesterday that she and her third husband, Alan Livingston, have agreed to a divorce and an even division of property.

A statement issued through the publicity office of the American hotel, where Miss Hutton is staying and singing, described her as unable to talk to newsmen because of nervousness and a touch of flu.

The hotel representative quoted Miss Hutton as saying negotiations for the divorce started Monday with Livingston, an NBC vice president. Miss Hutton is being represented by Ed Traubner, her business agent.

In Hollywood, Livingston told newsmen he had no comment on Miss Hutton's statement except to say that he hopes to work out their marriage problems. A decision is expected this week, he added.

Churchill Considering Visit to Washington

Nice, France — Britain's former Prime Minister Winston Churchill is seriously considering a visit to Washington in April, his private secretary said today.

Churchill, 83, a winter vacationer near Monte Carlo, has been officially invited to the United States by President Eisenhower. His secretary, Mon-

Pete, a Large Muscovy Duck, seems to be telling Fluffy, a part angora cat, some of the things that ducks usually murmur (or quack) when they choose cats for confidants. The animals are household pets of Charles Nixon, Decatur, Ill., who says they get along unusually well together. (AP Wirephoto) and her allies waited impatiently for the next Vanguard try. Then, as one long delay ran into another, the army was told to stop in and attempt a launching with the Jupiter-C.

The army had said it could have done the job long before the sputniks if it had been given an opportunity.

Asked to make good on the claim, the army did. In its first try, the Jupiter-C made a perfect flight, placing the 30-pound Explorer in such a firm orbit that it may circle the earth for two to ten years.

Main stage of the Jupiter-C was a modified version of the army's Redstone missile. It had been thoroughly tested in flight and its designer, Dr. Werner von Braun, was positive it would do what it was called upon to do.

High Court
Backs Parnell
New Trial Rule

Rules Jury Erred
In Setting Damages,
Split of Negligence

The state supreme court Tuesday upheld a ruling by Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell that the defendant in an auto injury suit was entitled to a new trial.

Judge Parnell ruled the jury's award to Arthur and Alice Bolssen, route 1, Hortonville, was excessive and that assignment of negligence between Arthur Bolssen and the other driver, James Heenan, route 1, Appleton, was not warranted by the evidence.

The Bolssen couple and their daughter, Mary, were injured when their car and Heenan's collided at N. Linwood avenue and W. Packard street Nov. 26, 1955.

The jury awarded $5,000 to Mrs. Bolssen for her injuries and $3,000 to Bolssen for the loss of his wife's services. Parnell termed both awards too high. The jury also awarded Bolssen $250 for his injuries and $750 for the daughter's injuries. Also awarded by the jury were $420 for medical expenses and $391 for auto damage.

Negligence Set

The jury ruled Heenan was 75 per cent negligent in control of his car and Bolssen was 25 per cent negligent in maintaining of way. Both drivers' negligence contributed to the cause of the accident, the jury ruled.

The 2-day trial ended last March 22 and the Bolssen couple appealed the case last July.

Judge Parnell ruled in favor of a new trial before the appeal. The points at issue in the appeal were the $3,000 award to Bolssen and the 75-25 split of negligence.

The supreme court ruling means that a new trial must be held to settle the damages and the negligence.

Lawrence Says:
Egypt-Syria
Merger Part of Red Colonialism
Nasser Copies Hitler
With Plans to Annex
Neighbor Countries

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
 Washington — Colonialism — in a more despot form than ever known before — has emerged in the Middle East. Soviet imperialism is in the saddle. Egypt has taken over Syria, and Nasser, paralleling Hitler, is hoping to take over neighboring countries one by one.

Without a vote of the people and with the aid of communist infiltrators who will see that the forthcoming "plebiscites" are properly rigged to "ratify" the dictator's decision, Syria shortly will lose her independence altogether.

The term "union" of Egypt and Syria is an attempt to fool the world into believing that the two countries voluntarily created a single state. Actually, Nasser, aided by the communist apparatus, engineered the deal, which in itself has no military importance but, as a source of potential friction, can nevertheless be the forerunner of a world war.

The idea that a "limited war" could be fought in the Middle East without involving communist "volunteers," as in Korea, is fantastic. For the chances are that, if the Middle East brings on a war, it will draw in all the major powers of the east and west.

Just as Hitler's move into the Rhineland in 1936 and his later "union" of Austria with Germany did not immediately awaken the free world to the dangers ahead, so today's events in Egypt and Syria, even though more menacing, are not exciting world-wide concern. Nothing has been done as yet by the United Nations, for example, to inquire into this new form of aggression as the people of Syria are deprived of their sovereignty through the machinations of Soviet Russia.

For Syria henceforth will be an Egyptian colony. There may be some show of resistance inside the country by the elements that do not want to see their country remain a captive of the communist empire but, without some aid from the outside, Syria will become the tool of Nasser and of the communist regime in Moscow.

Most of the pipelines for the transport of oil — constituting an alternate route from the middle east countries to Mediterranean ports — are in Syria. So the coup means that the communists, having first made sure that they control Nasser and the Suez, now hold in their hands the future of the oil resources of the Middle East.

Strategic Move
 As a strategic move in the "cold war," the communists have obtained control over a very important area and now will begin blackmailing the other Arab countries in an attempt to force them into a Pan-Arab union. The step constitutes a threat to Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Israel as well as to Iran, Iraq and Turkey.

So far as the United States is concerned, it is committed to supply military help upon request if the independence of Iran, Iraq, Turkey or other middle eastern countries is threatened by communist imperialism. This commitment was undertaken through the Eisenhower doctrine. Unfortunately, the communists got into Syria before the pro-western elements there could assert themselves in opposition to Nasser. Moscow today controls all the radio stations at Cairo and has a large number of technicians of all kinds inside both Egypt and Syria. The annexation of Syria by Egypt will unite the middle east under a single peace at any price with the Soviet Union, the communist dictatorship. Certainly as long as Nasser is in command at Cairo, a military purpose. This time it is to gain possession of the canal of the Egyptian seizure very fuel on which the economy of Syria will become clear. It is a move that makes war more likely in the troubled areas of visitors to France hit a postwar low. The French tourist bureau blamed "bad weather, social troubles in France and the high price of gasoline." It said nothing about the high prices generated by the war.

Tourists to Britain Increase, but Decline to France
 London — A record number of American and other foreign tourists visited Britain in 1957. But British and American tourists to France hit a postwar low. The French tourist bureau blamed "bad weather, social troubles in France and the high price of gasoline." It said nothing about the high prices generated by the war.

ally which many tourists complain about most. The British Travel and Holiday association reported 1,178,800 overseas visitors, including 262,730 Americans, came to Britain in 1957. The 1956 figures were 1,107,000 total, 235,440 Americans. In France, the total American tourists dropped from 400,821 in 1956 to 350,015, and the total British from 97,484 to 90,152. Italy, Europe's other major tourist center, hasn't finished compiling its figures yet.

Confer High Honors On Appleton Man at Notre Dame Exercises

Magna cum laude honors were recently awarded to John Brockschlager, Jr., son of the senior Brockschlagers, 70 Cherry court, in January commencement exercises at Notre Dame university, South Bend, Ind. The Appleton man received a bachelor of philosophy degree in accounting at graduation. Brockschlager, Jr., who is leaving Appleton today for the east after visiting his parents, has accepted a post with the accounting firm of Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery. He will be employed in the firm's Boston office.

Town Club Sets Dance at North Shore

Members of the Town club have slated a dinner dance at 8 o'clock Saturday night at North Shore Golf club. A Fond du Lac orchestra has been engaged to play for 9 o'clock dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Shannon, party co-chairmen, have announced a social hour at the club will precede the dinner dance.

Plans for a "guest night" social for members of Local 747 and their wives on Feb. 23 at the Labor temple were laid by Ladies auxiliary to the International Association of Machinists at a business meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. William Anholzer, 231 N. Sidney street, Kimberly.

Mrs. Arnold Fiestedt is handling arrangements for the guest event and has announced card play will be followed by lunch. The group also discussed an open card party which will be held April 15 at the Catholic club.

The auxiliary's next business meeting will be March 3 when Mrs. John Hanamann, 157 W. Seymour street, will entertain.

Dennis Herrling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Jeske, 517 N. Appleton street, has been named president of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity, at the University of Wisconsin. His wife, the former Nora Remmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Remmel, Neenah, was elected president of the fraternity's auxiliary.

Herrling, a law school junior, is a 1950 graduate of Appleton High school and received his bachelor's degree in 1954 from the UW. He is active in the campus Law Review, Law School association and Madison Legal Aid society.

In recent elections at the Madison campus of the University of Wisconsin, Kent Gregorius, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ney, 1224 W. Fourth street, was chosen treasurer of the engineering school's polygon board.

A junior in mechanical engineering, Gregorius is a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers, were initiated into Pi Tau Sigma, honorary fraternity, in December, and has won sophomore honors. He is a graduate of Appleton High school.

Your Problems Adoption by Relatives Poor Idea Unless the Parents are Deceased

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Two years ago my sister wrote you about a family matter. Your advice almost ruined my life. Please tell me where to go from here.

My niece married a worthless bum who spent most of his army career in the brig. She became Ann Landers pregnant immediately. When she had her baby she said she was leaving it in the hospital because she didn't want it. I was horrified. I begged her to let me have the child and she said "Good riddance."

When I came to get the baby I was shocked. The infant was sleeping in a dresser drawer and was filthy dirty.

My niece wrote you for advice, which I didn't know until much later. You said "Let your aunt take the baby temporarily but don't let her adopt it legally or there will be trouble." They took your advice.

Five months later my niece went back to the bum and they made our lives miserable trying to get the baby away. They hounded us until we finally gave her up. Your advice kept us from keeping the child as it was not legally ours.

How my niece is pregnant again and this time she swears she doesn't want the new baby. My daughter-in-law who is childless wants the baby very badly. My niece is willing to let her adopt it and promises to leave her alone. What do you say this time? — AW. W.

I say exactly the same thing — and for the same reasons. I don't agree that my advice ruined your life. Time proved the advice was sound. I merely saved you a possible court fight.

I advised the mother not to permit you to adopt the child because I felt in time she'd change her mind and want the baby back. This is what happened and it could happen again.

During pregnancy your niece becomes depressed and doesn't want the baby. But later, when she sees the healthy, adorable child, her outlook brightens and she changes her mind. Even if the child were legally yours she'll still give you plenty of trouble. You'd forever be at the mercy of her neurotic fluctuations.

I'm opposed to adoption by relatives unless the parents are deceased. If your niece doesn't want the baby she should work through an agency. They never reveal the identity of the new parents. The adopted parents then need not worry about the natural parents having a change of heart and reclaiming the child. And needless to say, the baby gets a much better break in the bargain.

DEAR ANN: I've read many letters in your column from girls who have trouble with boys because they are too fast, and difficult to keep in line.

I have a similar problem. Only it's the reverse. My girl friend wants to neck all the time. She would rather park or sit in a pitch dark living room than go to a movie or with friends.

I'm a perfectly normal boy of 19, who like a little romance, but this gal is too much for me. Any suggestions? — BEAT BORIS

Just one. The only way to fight a situation like this is with your hat. Grab it and run.

DEAR ANN: I know you deal in problems of a more serious nature, but I'd appreciate your help.

A young couple we know very well like your column a lot. In fact, they kid about racing each other for the paper to read Landers. That's why I thought of writing to you about our "dilemma."

They are having a first wedding anniversary next month and we want to give them something novel, but not too costly. Any suggestions? — DUDE AND DIXIE Dead D and D: I have a perfect solution. The first anniversary is PAPER. Why not send them a second subscription to this newspaper. And you may even tell them it was MY idea.

Wiesbaden to be New Residence of E. C. Laedtke Family

Wiesbaden, Germany, is the destination of Maj. E. C. Laedtke and his family, of Falls Church, Va. The army man, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Laedtke, 604 N. Richmond street, was a recent Appleton visitor with his wife and son, Robert. The E. C. Laedtkes spent a week here prior to boarding the S. S. America Jan. 23 in New York City harbor.

Maj. Laedtke had been attached to headquarters of the air force at the Pentagon during the past four years.

Queen Elizabeth Will Wear New Shorter Skirts, Designer Hints

London —(AP)— Fashion Designer Hardy Amies hinted today that Queen Elizabeth II will wear the new shorter skirts when she visits the Netherlands on March 25 to 27.

Presenting his spring-summer collection, he told fashion writers:

"The queen saw the collection last week and approved certain lines as the basis of her dresses for the Dutch trip."

That was all he said. The queen's clothes are always kept secret until she wears them. But all the skirts in the Amies collection were firmly set 17 inches off the ground.

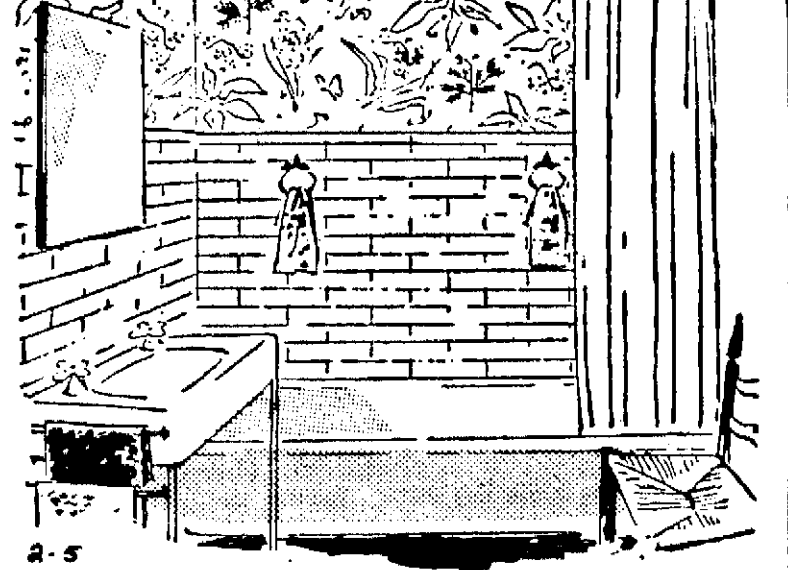

Amies' new designs were on display at the annual show of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers.

Dark Stockings Slim Legs

With his shorter skirts, Amies used dark stockings to slim and flatter the legs by daytime and fine black silk — not nylon — for evenings. In one case black stockings were worn with coral satin shoes.

Generally, Amies' line was a sleek, trim development of the casual style. Hip length jackets dipped at the back with a few tiny undressed pleats in the front and back of the skirt.

Hemlines climbed but stayed at knee level in the opening

Typical Bathroom Color Scheme Problem Solved

Small bathrooms are so often cut up into too many almost equal areas of color—and that's why the room seems far from a decorating success. Mrs. L.P. states a very usual case when she writes, "The wall tiles are a pale gray-green and the upper walls now are in yellow, the fixtures and both window and shower curtains are white and the floor is black. I don't like the effect at all, but there isn't too much chance for change except on the upper walls. Will you make a suggestion?"

The walls in one color will simplify the room and improve the scheme greatly, Mrs. P. Paint the upper walls to match the tile. Then splash bright smaller areas against them, perhaps in brilliant coral and also in white. Or you could continue the tile color upward with wallpaper, its background the tile shade, and let the pattern do nearly all the decorating the room needs. Make it a light and airy pattern spaced so that plenty of the background shows.

Mrs. C.R.E. "Our dining table has never been big enough for us and we're about to retire it to the family room downstairs. The problem is what to look for in a new, larger table to go with the chairs we're still satisfied with. They are medium brown mahogany, not at all reddish, a color I'm afraid will be hard to match. Can you help us?"

You may be able to get an exact match in a larger table if you go to the store where the furniture was bought originally and ask to see furniture by the same maker. Even though the manufacturer no longer shows the same finishes, he may be willing to finish a new table of his in the old shade for which he still has the formula. But matching isn't imperative. A very dark table with the same brown rather than red cast would be attractive with the chairs.

Mrs. C.R.E. "After looking at the big red, green, chartreuse cape in pineapple design. Use and gray splashes on our picture window draperies for five years, I suppose I should play

Plan Bridge Tourney at Milwaukee

Area bridge players have been invited to participate in the first Milwaukee City Open Pair Bridge championship Saturday at the Wisconsin Electric Power company auditorium in Milwaukee.

A two-session event has been planned for the program, with a 1:30 qualifying session to precede final play in 7:30 championship finals. Non-qualifiers will be eligible to play in an evening charity game open also to other bridge enthusiasts, who are not competing in the pair event.

Permanent trophies will be awarded to winners of first and second places in the tournament and a coffee service will be given as a traveling prize. Permanent trophies will also be conferred on winners and runners-up of the charity game, which will donate proceeds to the cancer fund, according to Raymond Radtke and Howard Heberlein, tournament directors.

A third tourney will be played Friday evening, Feb. 26, when the annual Milwaukee Cancer fund benefit is held at the Pfister hotel preceding the Wisconsin State Team championships, March 1-2.

All tournaments are sponsored under the auspices of the American Contract Bridge League and all registered ACBL members will be eligible to receive ACBL points. The league has set a nation-wide charity goal in 1958 of $100,000 for the cancer fund.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

The declarer didn't do anything sensational in the deal below, but he did give an opponent the chance to slip, and even though that opponent was anything but a novice, he took the bait.

This deal came up in a duplicate game, and every North-South pair managed to reach the proper contract of four hearts, with or without interference from the enemy. Two declarers, however, lost the contract in one way or another, and all the rest except one were very content to make four-odd. Top-on-the-board went to that South who exhibited the best technique in the play. The bidding at this table went:

North East South West
Pass Pass 1 C 1 S
1 N T 2 S 3 H Pass
4 H Pass Pass Pass

Here, as at most of the other tables, West opened the singleton diamond. The ten was played to cover the nine, and declarer captured East's queen. South then cashed the spade king and led to the spade ace, threw his remaining diamond on the spade queen and then led a club. On the bidding, and with the king-queen of diamonds marked in East's hand by Trick 1, it was not hard to make the right guess—South put in the club jack and forced West's ace. West made the best return: the nine of clubs, and South took East's queen. At this stage it was obviously important for South to bluff out his club suit without ruffing an overruff by East, and it was also vital to get out some trumps while maintaining full control of the trump suit. To that end, South made the good technical play of the heart jack. Evidently, it was also a good psychological play, because West, after huddling for some time, elected to duck. Thereupon South ruffed a club with the heart ten, led a heart back to his ace and ruffed another club, trumped a diamond—and West could overtrump or not, as he chose; he would make only the heart king.

Pythian Sisters Hear Reports of Benefit Card Party

Reports of a recent benefit card party were given at a business meeting of the Pythian Sisters Monday night at Castle hall. A staff practice was held during the evening.

Social hour card winners were the Mmes. George Weinmuer, John Hertel, Frans Vaurio, and Al Engel.

Yes, West could have saved the overtrick by taking the heart jack and returning a trump.

Announce Program For Recital by Cox

American and English folk songs and a song cycle by Beethoven will be included in the recital program to be presented by Baritone George Cox, assistant professor of voice at Lawrence conservatory of music at 8 15 Thursday night at Pea body hall.

Beethoven's "An Die Ferne Geliebte" is perhaps the first song cycle ever written. The six songs are based on a central theme of love and longing and pre-date Schubert's famous song cycles of the same character by some seven or eight years. Representing Beethoven as a miniaturist, the songs are in sharp contrast with the more extended works with which most people associate the composer.

Cox will be assisted in two English folk songs by Miss Patricia Gode, senior violin student at the conservatory, while Miss Marjorie Smith, oboist will provide the accompaniment for a group of four songs by P. Napier Miles.

Clyde Duncan, associate professor of piano at the conservatory will be accompanist for the remainder of program.

The program for the evening will be:

- Five American Folk Songs arr. Celius Dougherty
- An Die Ferne Geliebte (Op. 98) Beethoven
- Two English Folk Songs arranged for Voice and Violin Vaughan Williams
- Searching for Lambs The Lawyer
- Four Songs for Voice and Oboe P. Napier Miles
- Laus Deo Robin Milford
- Miniver Cheevy (In form of Theme and Variations) John Duke
- Luke Havergal John Duke
- This Want of You Werner Singer

Cox received his undergraduate study and master's degree at the University of Michigan. He studied opera, acting and coaching through the American Theatre Wing in New York City and voice with the late William S. Brady. He taught at the State University Teachers College at Potsdam, N. Y. before coming to Lawrence in 1953. In addition to his teaching duties at Lawrence, Cox is lieutenant governor of the northern region of the National Association of Teachers of Singing and was director of the NATS workshop held at the conservatory this past summer.

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

North Scout Neighborhood Slates Agenda

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cousins

55 Years of Marriage Observed by Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cousins, 1313 S. Pearl street, New London, observed their 55th wedding anniversary Tuesday at their home.

The couple was married Feb. 4, 1903, at St. Paul Lutheran church, Manawa. They operated a farm in the town of Liberty most of their married life before moving to New London 12 years ago. Mr. Cousins worked at Edison Wood Products, Inc., for seven years before retiring about five years ago.

While in the town of Liberty Mr. Cousins served for about 20 years on the school board of the Maple Leaf school district and was a town supervisor for six years. He was born March 28, 1881, in the town of Liberty.

Mrs. Cousins, the former Augusta Krause, was born in Germany and came to the United States with her parents, who settled in Manawa. One of Mrs. Cousins' sisters was born on the boat during the crossing to the states.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Alvin Else, New London, two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The Family Council

Time for Overgrown Child Of 23 Years to be Independent

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor, and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mrs. D.M. — Why should she want to leave home?

Shirley M. — I feel like a leftover, overgrown child.

Mrs. D. M. — I am the mother of four children. My oldest daughter, Shirley, is 23 and recently gave me the shock of my life by saying she wants to take an apartment with a girl friend of hers.

I have done everything I possibly could to give my daughter a nice home. I take care of all her clothes and she doesn't have to do a lick of work in the house, outside of keeping her own room neat. She has all the freedom in the world to come and go as she pleases. I have never interfered with her dates.

Why should a girl like this want to leave home? My husband and I feel that she is up to no good. We are worried to death.

Shirley M. — I have explained to my mother, and she agrees, that if I want to do wrong I can do it without leaving home. I have no intention of doing any such thing and feel that my parents should trust me.

My reasons for wanting to leave home are quite different. I have never been away from home to go to college, as so many girls have. I have never been entirely on my own. My mother does too much for me and I want a feeling of independence.

Many of my friends have gotten married and I have come to feel like a leftover, overgrown child still living with my parents. My friend says she feels that way too and that's why we want to move.

The council: Shirley seems to have some sound reasons for wanting her own place. Whether or not her parents have anything to "worry" about depends upon how well they know her. Does she volunteer fairly complete accounts of her doings? Does she express her thoughts and attitudes? Does she bring her friends home? Does she seem to be generally happy?

In any case, a financially independent girl of Shirley's age can't be compelled to live at home if she doesn't want to. Living away may help her gain the maturity and self-confidence she evidently feels she lacks, but she should be aware that it is not a total answer to her present discomfort.

'Coming Out' Party Held For Nation's Scientists

BY FRANCES LEWINE

Washington — President Eisenhower didn't let a cold dampen a coming out party for the nation's top scientists at the White House last night.

Smiling and reporting he felt much better, the president presided with Mrs. Eisenhower at the first state dinner to which leading scientists were invited.

Although it was actually a science-military dinner, the scientists, including four Nobel prize winners, were in the majority among the 98 guests.

There was a special air of excitement because most of the guests had never been to a glittering White House formal affair and because while the dinner was under way the navy was trying to launch its Vanguard rocket.

Some three hours after the guests had left the White House the Vanguard fizzled again.

Vanguard Project Director John P. Hagen drank a toast in champagne "here's to our baby," and then stayed up to await word from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The president had greeted both Hagen and Werner Von Braun, designer of the army rocket that launched the Explorer satellite.

The whole evening was a success as far as the scientists and their wives were concerned.

Von Braun, accompanied by his attractive blonde wife, was in an expansive mood as he predicted "we'll be on the moon and back in 10 years."

Physicists and chemists dominated the roster of scientists on the guest list, but there were professors from 10 other branches of science.

Perhaps Von Braun spoke for many of the scientists when he said holding the dinner "certainly is an indication of appreciation of the importance of science."

Arcade Team Leads Chuter Pin Loop

Little Chute — Harry's Arcade team topped the high squad honors in the Ladies' league at the Arcade alleys, with a single game mark of 715 and series total of 1,950.

The Arcade team also leads the league with a 36-15 record. James DeShaney, Al Fahren-Hammen's Lower Cliff Bar is second, seven full games off the pace.

Karen Mulry cleaned up the 6-7-10 and 5-7 split.

WSCS Has Program on Migratory Workers

More thought and consideration must be given the migratory workers of the United States, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Riebes of Oconto said Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at First Methodist church dining room.

The speakers explained that classes in recreation were held in Oconto during the six to eight weeks that the Texas workers were in their town. They said that the whole town changes face during that period of time. Spanish foods are featured at the stores and Spanish movies are shown in the theaters each Wednesday night.

These Spanish-speaking American citizens are very clean and very proud. They will not accept charity and help must be disguised, the Riebes pointed out. All the churches work together on this project taken too many of Shirley's rightful responsibilities upon herself. But Shirley should have fought for her independence and self-sufficiency at home. She should not have permitted herself to be waited on like a helpless child. She should have participated in the home like another adult.

Shirley also shows that she has not taken on her full role as a grown woman when the marriage of her friends contributes to her feeling of being a "leftover." If she were living fully — giving and receiving energy and pleasure in her job and her social life — she would have a sense of growth and potentiality. She would have confidence in her ability to soon find her own happy relationship with a man.

Whether she remains at home or moves to her own apartment, Shirley should make active efforts to gain emotional maturity through lively participation in every phase of her daily living.

Men's Unit Sets Church Projects

Church projects were voted by the First Baptist's Men's council at a regular monthly dinner meeting at 6:30 Monday night at the church hall. The group will repair shuffle-board and other recreation equipment for the congregation's young people and will aid in touch-up painting at the church.

Guest speaker, Robert Griffiths, administrator of the Appleton Memorial hospital, was introduced during the evening program by L. B. Clark. Griffiths welcomed the assembly to a hospital open house Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 8 and 9, and held an informal question and answer period on hospital policies.

Announcement was made at the meeting of an assembly to be held March 25 at the First Baptist church, Green Bay. The Appleton council has been invited to attend a 7 o'clock supper session. The group will hold its next regular meeting March 3, when Robert Beltrone, Jr., civil defense director, will be featured speaker.

Philip Nordgren, president, opened Monday's convocation and Charles Kolb led grace at dinner. A chicken booyah supper was served by Mr. and Mrs. John Spice, Sr., assisted by the Mmes. E. J. Petersen, Carl Zimmerman and Howard Feavel.

Name Winners Of Card Play

Mrs. Roy Stroessenreuther, 330 W. Seymour street, entertained members of the Happy Eight club Tuesday evening. Prizes at cards were won by the Mmes. John Heegeman, Edward Smith, Emil Droes.

The next meeting will be Feb. 18 at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Schroeder, 1733 N. Superior street.

Lucky Seven Card club members met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Otto Coenen, 1519 S. Lawe street. The Mmes. James DeShaney, Al Fahren-Hammen's Lower Cliff Bar is second, seven full games off the pace.

Mrs. DeShaney will be hostess at her home, 1017 S. Kernan avenue, for a meeting Feb. 18.

Seymour Man Wins Top Farmer Award

William R. Tubbs Selected for Statewide Honor Competition

William R. Tubbs 34-year-old Seymour farmer, was named the outstanding young farmer in Outagamie county by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

William Selle, Jaycee president, said Tubbs has been selected as one of three finalists for state honors. The Wisconsin Jaycees will pick the state winner in Watertown Saturday night.

Tubbs was nominated by Ed gone from a 6 sow, 82 pig Chester, manager of Consolidated Badger cooperative Seymour, and Dr. Frank Metcalf, a 9-sow 149-pig crossbred feed-mour, and Dr. Frank Metcalf, or pig raising enterprise.

Increases Herd
Tubbs a navy veteran is noted he is president of the Outagamie county DHI, a three-children. He operates a 118 acre dairy farm on a 50-50 partnership with his father. The farm has been in the Tubbs family association for 90 years.

Uses Conservation
The farm has a soil conservation service farm plan and is operating a 5-year crop rotation plan on corn, oats and 3 year alfalfa and bromegrass. Tubbs' crop yields have been increased one-third through use of soil testing, commercial fertilizer, approved crop varieties

William R. Tubbs, 34, Route 2, Seymour, received the Appleton Jaycee award as the outstanding young farmer in Outagamie county during 1957. Americans Lose Over $100 Million Yearly Philadelphia — Did you know that Americans lose over $100 million every year because of careless handling of their money?

That's the estimate of the man Buchman, 33, route 2, Seymour. He is a soil conservation and forestry service cooperater and was township solicitor for the Appleton Memorial Hospital fund drive.

Tubbs received a gold watch from the George Walter Brewster company, Appleton, and a plaque from the Jaycees. Young farmers receiving run-ment mention from the Jay-ces were John Van Boxtel, er assistant county agent, and Nor-

Approve Plan to Enlarge City Hall Parking Lot

Project Would Increase Number of Spaces From 38 to 52; 4 Trees to be Removed

A plan for enlarging city hall parking lot was recommended had'n been firmly adhered to for council approval Tuesday in the past. The recommendation by the board of public works, came on a 3 to 2 vote.

Insurance Proposal
The project would increase the lot from 38 to 52 stalls. The lot would be extended east to on group life insurance for full N. Oneida street on a straight line from the south edge of the building. Four trees, two on the north side of the drive and two on the south side, would have to be removed.

City Atty Don July told board members a law passed by the 1957 legislature allowed the city council to restrict parking on the lot to persons on city business.

Other Action
In other action, the board in a split vote recommended the city eliminate pre-qualification statement by bidders on public works projects for this year.

State law provides a city may call for such a statement. The statement is to insure that the bidder is responsible and qualified to do the work.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said all bidders are required to furnish a surety bond anyway, and that in it

Children May Have 'School Phobia' Child Psychiatrist Explains

Tulsa, Okla. — A specialist in child psychiatry Monday said junior's reluctance to attend school doesn't necessarily mean he's lazy or stubborn—just may have "school phobia."

Dr. Paul C. Laybourne, Kansas City, Kan., said that such a child may have a serious emotional problem.

"And these children are really not afraid to go to school," he said. "They are afraid of leaving home."

"Some are afraid their parents will get a divorce. So they want to stay out of school and keep watch. Others are afraid their father will kill their mother, and that their mother will die while they are gone."

Or, he added, "Some don't want to go because they've got a grumpy teacher."

Aldermen Disapprove School Board Minutes

Lack of Detailed Explanation Again Cited As Reason for Rejection; Vote Is 6-3

Menasha — Menasha school board minutes again failed to receive council approval Tuesday night because of the lack of detailed explanation. Several board minutes were also disapproved in 1957 for this reason.

Six aldermen voted against the approval of the board's Jan. 22 minutes because two change orders ordered by the board were not explained in the minutes.

Supt. of Schools M. J. Gegan said this morning the board had not approved of any change orders but had only asked the architects to prepare the necessary contracts for the changes. The changes will either be approved or disapproved at next week's board meeting.

Gegan also pointed out one of the proposed changes will save money for the city and the other will cost more money. Neither of the changes involves a large cost, he said.

After Ald. Paul Laemmrich and Ray Zielinski had moved to approve the minutes, Ald. Lee Rather inquired what the change orders were for and what they would cost.

Ald. Rather said he had no ulterior motive in asking the question about the change orders but that he, as chairman of the council's finance committee, was responsible for the city's money and to see where it was going.

"As far as I know the change orders might cost $5 or $100,000," Rather told the council. He asked Mayor R. G. DuCharme to contact the school board to find out how much the changes would cost.

Council Vote

ing suddenly decided at committee of the whole meetings. The police, fire, traffic and safety committee should investigate these matters first, he said.

Ald. Thomas Coughlin said there were 10 businesses located on Racine street between Main and Broad streets which the council had to consider. He stated the council shouldn't just pick on certain individuals but should consider the parking problems all along Main street.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme stated the council knows the city is bad off as far as lack of parking space. He pointed out, however, the council has done a lot to rectify bad parking conditions.

Henry Named Chairman for Heart Fund

Heads February Drive For Funds Within Winchester Area

Winchester — William Henry has been named chairman of the 158 Heart Fund campaign for the Winchester area. The drive opened Saturday and will continue during February.

The death toll caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels is claiming more than 825,000 persons a year in the United States, more than all other causes of death combined, he said.

The goal for the Wisconsin Heart association drive is $505,000 and the money is used for research, community service and educational programs. Considering there are nearly 250,000 persons in the state with heart disease, this is a modest budget, Henry said.

Circle to Meet
North Winchester circle of Grace Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Hostesses will be Mrs. Gordon Hanson and Mrs. Marvin Holverson.

The Luther league will meet Thursday evening and Maxine Roussin's committee will be in charge of the program on "Silent Sermons — Pictures That Preach."

The women of the Grace Union aid and the men of the Brotherhood have been redecorating the parsonage for the coming of the new pastor, the Rev. Richard Rem, who will be here the latter part of this month.

Allenville Pair Feted at Surprise Housewarming

Allenville — Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Eckstein were honored at a surprise housewarming party Sunday night at their new home here and were presented a mirror for the house. Giving the party were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Baldauf, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gerhard, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shaddock, Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Mankiewicz, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. James Ross from Neenah and Menasha.

First party in the card party tournament was held Monday night at the Allenville Grange hall. Prize winners were Fernon Grumm, Arthur Reinders, Mrs. W. Swentner and Mrs. John Palmer. The committee in charge included the Misses Lucille and Lillian Cowling, Louis Cowling and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Winkenwerder. The second in the series will be at 8:30 next Monday night.

Nine teachers from the Community Baptist church Sunday school attended a leadership training meeting at the Whiting Memorial Baptist church at Neenah. The Rev. Arthur Hyde, director of Christian education for the Wisconsin Baptist State convention, spoke and a filmstrip was shown. The second meeting will be at 7:30 next Monday night. POST CRESCENT News of the WIN Cities Menasha - Neenah

Menasha to Seek Legality Ruling On 43 Petitions

Ask Municipalities Attorney For His Opinion on Question

Menasha — Menasha City Clerk Ira Clough was instructed by the council Tuesday night to secure the opinion of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities' attorney as to the legality of petitions asking the city attorney's post be an elective one.

Forty-three petitions were presented to Clough on Jan. 8 and the clerk, in turn, handed the certified petitions to the council on Jan. 22. They were signed by 861 Menasha citizens.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme told the aldermen the clerk had checked on the qualifications of the petitioners and had found the petitions contained the required number of signatures to force council action. Fifteen per cent of the city's eligible voters, or 831 signers, were needed.

The mayor said he didn't think City Atty. William R. Giese should be asked for his opinion as he was involved in the matter. Petitions and ordinances customarily are referred to the attorney for rulings as to legality.

Personal Reasons
Atty. Giese told the council that "as the aldermen know I am always willing to perform the duties of office. However, it is my belief the petitions to make the office of city attorney elective were not instigated for altruistic reasons but rather for obvious political and personal reasons by certain school board members."

"It has always been my policy," Giese continued, "to keep the professional office of city attorney above political and personal controversy, so rather than see the office embroiled in controversy, it is my recommendation that an opinion as to the legality of the petitions and the city ordinance pertaining to the matter be obtained from another qualified source."

After the council meeting, Giese stated the council has until Feb. 22 to act on the petitions. If the petitions are approved a referendum will be held on April 1.

Circulators have said they want the change because the attorney's salary, which is now $5,400 a year, is high enough so that the voters should decide who will hold the job.

Completes Two Years Without Mishap; New Chairman Selected

Neenah — Its second consecutive year of safe operation was recognized at the semi-annual luncheon meeting of the safety steering committee of the research and development center of Kimberly-Clark corporation Monday. New committee members and a new chairman were introduced.

Research and development center employees completed 1,322,704 man hours of work without an on-duty, lost-time accident as of Jan. 1. The last accident occurred June 17, 1955.

John Hoffman, retiring committee chairman who acted as master of ceremonies, introduced the new chairman, Homer Malmstrom who serves for the next six months. He introduced the new members who are James Rossing, Kjell Rosenlund, Henry Bennett and Gerald Becker.

Hold - over members of the committee who had made the complaint. He pleaded innocent when arraigned Monday and trial had been set for today. He was arrested Sunday at route 1, Neenah, tavern.

steering committee are Frank Stute, June Danielsen, Robert Stumpf and Henry Griesbach. Robert Wrede and W. H. Rudolf are permanent advisers. Retiring committee members, presented with an appreciation gift by George Rushton, personnel superintendent, are Bernice Palmer, Russell Harmon, Al Huisman, John Nelson and Clyde Nuenfeldt.

Reports Given

Reports from each unit were presented by Russell Harmon, Bernice Palmer, Al Huisman, John Nelson, James Rossing, Robert Stumpf, Frank Stute, Henry Griesbach, Mary Skrubly and June Danielsen.

Wrede reported the center had five lost-time, off-duty accidents during the last six months with 70 days lost from work because of them. He listed some of the safety topics as departmental sessions as new state traffic regulations, home fire prevention and alarm systems, firearms and hunting safety, health safety, Christmas safety and the various on-the-job safety programs.

F. H. Werling, vice president and manager of mills, commended the group but urged continued activity, emphasizing that good leadership dedicated to safety and wide participation in all programs were the real secrets of good safe operation.

Abbot Byfield, speaking for W. H. Swanson, vice president in charge of research and development, also praised the group for its work and asked them to continue maintaining a strong, active program of accident prevention.

Valentine Shoppers to Get Bargains

Neenah — Shoppers for Valentine presents have reason to thank Twin City merchants who are announcing Dollar Day sales for Thursday through Saturday.

This will give many shoppers their last opportunity for bargains before the new spring merchandise takes its place on the shelves.

Various items included in the sale are household appliances, women's and children's clothing, dry goods, jewelry, housewares, shoes, men's clothing and office supplies.

Rural Teachers to Hear Talk on Spelling

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Rural school teachers in the towns of Clayton, Neenah, Menasha, Vinland, Wolf River and the Winneconne school district will attend a meeting at the courthouse lounge room at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 11. They will hear a talk on "Spelling in the Elementary School" by W. A. Stolen of the Webster Publishing company. Robert Fowler, county superintendent of schools, announced today, a similar meeting will be held Monday for teachers in the southern and western part of the county.

$50 Bid Accepted For Barn Removal

Neenah — The finance committee of the council Tuesday night voted to accept the bid of Richard Joas, 214 Wright avenue, Neenah, for removing the barn on the city owned property at 116 E. Columbian avenue. Joas will pay $50 for the barn and pay the cost of removing it. The committee also voted to advertise again for bids for removing the house at 116 E. Columbian and the house and barn at 124 E. Columbian. A bid from the Madison Moving and Wrecking company, Oshkosh, was rejected. That company had offered to remove all four buildings at a cost of $383 to be paid by the city. Recommendations on the two items are to be presented to the city council tonight, according to City Clerk R. V. Hauser.

Aldermen Disapprove Board Minutes

while Ald. Fred Rohloff was absent.

The aldermen approved the advertisement of bids for a light dump truck, brush chipper, portable generator, and power chain saw, all items in the 1958 street department budget. Bids are to be returned no later than 4 o'clock in the afternoon on Feb. 26.

It was also decided to purchase 22½ tons of salt to be used for snow and ice control on city streets.

Berg and Hann, Inc., house movers, 2122 E. John street, Appleton, were authorized to move a 24 by 28 foot building through the city.

Aldermen awarded a contract to R. F. Schrage to repair the roof of the city office building. Schrage had a low bid of $62.50.

New Stop Signs

Stop signs will be installed on the northwest corner of Ninth and Tayco streets and on the southwest corner of Fourth and Manitowoc streets. The police, fire, traffic and safety committee along with Fire Chief Edward Heim and Police Chief Peter Clark were instructed to investigate the possibility of allowing parking on the north side of Water street, west of Tayco street.

City Clerk Ira Clough, Jacob Liebl, Ray Montonati, Garrett Reimer, Robert Halmeister, and Peter Borenz were named by Mayor DuCharme to serve on the board of appeals during 1958.

St. John Catholic church was granted a picnic license for Feb. 15; Frank Hageman was rehired as city insurance counselor at a salary of $500 a year, and beverage operator licenses were granted to Edward Schanke, 515 Keyes street and John Sarnowski, 644 Paris street.

Final payments for work on the city swimming pool were made to the Ben B. Ganther company, $25,073; E. J. Rippl Plumbing company, $8,902, and Miller Pump company, $350.

Registrations Still Being Accepted at UW Menasha Center

Menasha — Final registrations for second semester classes at the University of Wisconsin's Menasha Extension center, will be held from 8 to 12 o'clock Thursday and Saturday mornings. Miss Lila Locksmith, student adviser, announced today. Classes will start Monday.

Used books are still being purchased and students selling books are to put their names in line, fire, traffic and safety committee along with Fire Chief Edward Heim and Police Chief Peter Clark were instructed to investigate the possibility of allowing parking on the north side of Water street, west of Tayco street.

Optimist Club to Hold Guest Program

Neenah — "Las Vegas Night" will be the theme of a guest night program of the Optimist club of Neenah-Menasha Friday evening at the Whiting boat house. "Play money" will be used for gambling type games with prizes to be awarded. Decorations will be made to carry out the theme.

On the committee for the party, which will begin at 8 o'clock, are Mr. and Mrs. William Copps, Mr. and Mrs. Merion Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Wil-

Collins and Mrs. Richard Fra- kes. Dinner arrangements were made by Mrs. H. R. Holland- er and Mrs. John Schaefer. The next meeting will be March 4.

Prize winners at the Thurs- day Social Neighbors club meeting at the home of Miss Sally Salm, route 1, Neenah, were Mrs. Millard Ihde, Mrs. Earl Evans and Mrs. Isaac Ihart.

A donation was voted to the March of Dimes campaign. Mrs. Hubert Schultz, route 1, Neenah, will be hostess for the Feb. 27 meeting.

Neenah Lions auxiliary mem- bers voted to continue their dental project of providing mon- ey for needy children in the Twin Cities to have dental care at a Tuesday evening dinner party, which will begin at 8 o'clock, are Mr. and Mrs. Wil- iam Copps, Mr. and Mrs. Mer- ion Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Wil-

Brownie, Girl Scout Troops Hold Parties, Pick Officers

Neenah — Recent activities of Brownie Troop 68 of Wilson school included a tour of the Elm Tree bakery and an ice skating party. The party was held Jan. 25 at the Elmer Ku- chenbecker residence, 778 Elm street, with Mr. Kuchenbeck- er, Edward Rightor and James Roberts supervising.

At a Monday afternoon meet- ing the girls made valentine- tray favors for Theda Clark hospital and planned a valen- tine party for the next meet- ing.

Dawn Rowlandson, Neenah high school freshman, spoke to the troop on her experiences as a Canadian Girl Guide and showed Canadian badges at a recent meeting. Troop leaders are Mrs. John Hilton and Mrs. James Roberts.

Elected president of Brownie

Troop 219 is Ann Greenwald. Other officers are Kristin Falk, vice president; Julie Heaton and Lynn Garlock, patrol lead- ers; Kay Hansen, Jo Ellen Braun and Judy Babbitts, flag committee; Sharon Wetzel, scrapbook chairman, and Ma- rry Lundstrom, service project chairman.

Monday evening the troop held a swimming party at Men- asha high school. Other activi- ties have included making pap- per bag puppets and a taffy pull. Sharon Wetzel and Judy Babbitts were invested into the troop. This month preparations will be made for the Feb. 27 father-daughter banquet.

Mrs. Robert Greenwald and Mrs. Don Garlock are the troop leaders.

An ice skating party was held Wednesday evening at the Green by Intermediate Troop 150 of Wilson school. After the party refreshments were serv- ed at the George Boehm resi- dence, 521 Fairview avenue, Neenah.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Roy Broas, Mrs. Fred Cherepow and Mrs. Lloyd Beach.

Librarians Tell Program For Luncheon

Neenah — A valentine theme has been selected for the an- nual homemaker librarians luncheon to be held at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Raulf hotel, Oshkosh. Reservations for the event are due Friday at the county home agent's of- fice.

Book reviews will be given by Mrs. A. F. Salm and Mrs. Jacob Schmoker. Mrs. Larry Basler and Mrs. William Herr- mann will discuss ways to in- terest club members in read- ing. Books her club likes and dislikes will be reported by Mrs. Ethel Bishop. Mrs. Lydia Winkelbauer will be in charge of a book display.

The Friendly Mothers and Community Mothers study clubs will hold a joint meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Allenville Baptist church. Miss Viola Hunt, family life specialist, will lead the discus- sion on "Pre-Adolescence." A film, "Age of Turmoil," will be shown.

Possible Outcomes Of World Problems Discussed for Club

Neenah — Present conditions and possible outcomes in Central Europe, the Far East and the Middle East were discussed by Maurice Merryfield Tuesday afternoon for the Woman's Tuesday club.

The news analyst for the National Broadcasting company on a Chicago radio station said "Divided Germany is like a cancer in the center of Europe." He said the condition must be solved before there can be lasting peace.

George Kennan's proposals for reuniting Germany are being debated throughout Europe and Asia said the news commentator. Kennan, a former state department member and now lecturer and writer, has proposed the United States withdraw all troops from Europe with Russia withdrawing all of her troops within in her borders.

Fringe Problems

Merryfield suggested the outcome of the acceptance of such a proposal could lead to either the Russian satellite countries, free of Russian force, turning toward the West or a gradual infiltration of all Europe by Russia. Fringe problems in Central Europe discussed by the new analyst was continuance of aid to Poland and characteristics of our European allies.

France as an ally is almost more of a liability than an asset, said Merryfield explaining France is in a perennial financial crisis and perennial political crises as its governments "go in and out like a revolving door." "West Germany is our most hopeful ally in Europe today," he said.

He described Indonesia as a "rich prize wavering between democracy and communism." It is an invaluable prize in its rich resources, said Merryfield "and a prize that Red China is eyeing."

Future Challenge

It may well be that the challenge of the future will come from Red China, said Merryfield who suggested that if there is co-existence for another 30-40 years, Russia and Red China may clash. Russia is not going to get Red China dominated Asia, said Merryfield, pointing out that the swelling population of Red China will demand more living room and its industrialization development will demand Asian resources.

India is our hope as a showcase for democracy in Asia, he said. Although its democracy is a type mixed with socialism, "we should not hope to impose our type on democracy on the world," said the news analyst explaining different areas have different problems and our own democracy has socialistic trends.

Merryfield said the present merger of Egypt and Syria is the age-old dream of a Pan-Arab union. He advised, "keep an open mind toward Nasser."

Judge Admits Wills of Two From Twin Cities

For Ottilie Sund,
Michael P. Bodden

Oshkosh — The wills of two late Twin City residents were admitted to probate by County Judge Herbert J. Mueller. He also assigned two estates to the heirs and terminated two joint tenancies.

The will of the late Ottilie Sund of Neenah, who died Jan. 6, left her entire estate to her son, Roy J. Sund of Neenah. A petition accompanying the will estimated the estate at $25,000 in personal property.

The other will admitted was that of the late Michael P. Bodden, formerly of Menasha, who died Jan. 11. His estate was estimated at $5,000 in personal property and $22,000 in real estate.

He provided his estate should Assigned a $2,000 share in the estate of the late John Huhnstock of Oshkosh, who died Oct. 8, 1957, was his daughter, Genevieve Lazotte of route 2, Neenah. He also left shares of $7,518 each to his two sons, George Huhnstock of Ju-neau and Joseph Huhnstock of Menomonie Falls.

The $10,258 estate of the late Elizabeth W. Hansen of Winne-conne, who died July 27, 1957, was ordered assigned to two brothers, Jack Westfall of Port Arthur, Ontario, Canada, and George Westfall of Lindsay, Ontario, who will get $1,465 each, and to 28 nieces and nephews, who will receive amounts varying from $162 to $488. All of them live in Canada also.

The joint tenancy was terminated of the late Roy W. Fick-el of Menasha whose widow will receive $17,697 in jointly owned property and insurance. He died Jan. 2.

The other joint tenancy terminated was that of the late William O. Johnson of Neenah who died Nov. 30, 1957. His widow will receive $10,013 in jointly owned property and insurance.

Transit Mix Firm Increases Stock

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Twin City Transit Mix Concrete company of Neenah has filed with Register of Deeds Bernice L. Fuller an amendment to its articles of incorporation which increases its capital stock from 402 shares outstanding to 5,000 shares of stock of no par value. The amendment was signed by David H. Courtney as president and Earl M. Plummer as secretary.

Madison — A trust fund arranged by the late John Strange of Neenah in a self-written will in 1923 will be continued according to his wishes, the Wisconsin supreme court decided Tuesday in a decision reversing a judgment of County Judge Herbert Mueller of Winnebago county.

The court sustained the position of the state attorney general that the county court does not have the power to alter a judgment of the County court originally entered in 1928, and validating various bequests dictated by the late Mr. Strange before his death.

The will provided that up to $25,000 of his estate be accumulated for regular contribution to "divers uplift and charitable purposes", including contributions to Neenah and Menasha churches "not having confessions or schools."

House Painting Money

In another part of the will the late businessman "suggested and directed" that money be distributed to needy and worthy people in the Twin Cities for the painting of their houses, and that a "reasonable annual sum" be given to the Anti-Saloon League as a protection to business against the losses imposed upon business by saloons and the liquor traffic.

In 1928 the county court held that such provisions were wishes rather than explicit directions, and were void because they were indefinite. In 1928 the heirs of Mr. Strange including John Paul Strange waived any claim and asked that the $25,000 trust fund accumulated be assigned to the executors according to the provisions of the will. The court then approved the assignment to the executors and directed that the income of the fund be used for the "divers uplift and charitable purposes."

According to the state court opinion, the executors thereafter administered the fund according to the will provisions until the testator's widow and son, Hugh Strange, died. Last February a surviving executor, John Paul Strange, petitioned the county court asking that the judgment creating the trust be changed to conform to the 1924 original court opinion.

The petition also asked that the trust funds be distributed to the heirs of John Strange as intestate property. The attorney general's appeal of the county court's decision was based on a law requiring the attorney general's intervention in charitable trust cases.

According to the decision prepared by Justice Timothy Brown, the law does not permit a court judgment to be corrected at such a late date, except in the case of fraud, and it was noted that no fraud was claimed in the Strange will case.

The 1928 county court decision might have been wrong, the state court conceded, but that possibility is of no importance when the time for appeal has passed.

"The law in Wisconsin is well established. The learned trial court had no jurisdiction in the present case to alter the judgment of 1928," the state court held.

Adjourns Hearing On Embezzlement

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Preliminary examination of Gerald Tyler, 60, Oshkosh, a salesman for the Struensee Manufacturing company, on charges of embezzling $1,763 was begun Tuesday afternoon and adjourned to March 4 by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger.

Tyler was charged with collecting money from customers between Jan. 1, 1956, and Dec. 31, 1957, and converting it to his own use.

Hikes Alimony In Neenah Case

Raises Payment to Beulah Allen From
$60 to $125 a Month

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The state supreme court Tuesday increased the amount of alimony granted a Neenah area woman and also ordered a retrial in an accident suit involving Winnebago county residents.

In the divorce suit of Beulah Allen against Clifford V. Allen, both of route 1, Neenah, Circuit Judge Arps had awarded her $60 a month in alimony in addition to certain property items. The state supreme court, in reversing this award, raised the alimony to $125 a month. They were divorced last May.

Also reversed was a jury ruling in the accident suit of Beverly Petlock against Dorothy Kieckhafer. A new trial was ordered. The jury had absolved Beverly Petlock of any negligence in the accident and had awarded her $1,500 for her injuries, $271 for medical expense and $100 for car damage. An appeal was taken by the defendant on the amount of negligence and damages.

The supreme court upheld the award in a companion suit in which Donna May Miller, a passenger in the Petlock car, was given $4,500 for injuries, $841 for loss of earnings and $627 for medical expenses.

According to the decision prepared by Justice Timothy Brown, the law does not permit a court judgment to be corrected at such a late date, except in the case of fraud, and it was noted that no fraud was claimed in the Strange will case.

The 1928 county court decision might have been wrong, the state court conceded, but that possibility is of no importance when the time for appeal has passed.

Draheim Reviews 1957 Legislature For Neenah GOP

Neenah — The accomplishments of the 1957 state legislature and the record of the Republican party in that session as well as in the state government were reviewed by State Sen. William A. Draheim for the Neenah Republican club at its meeting Tuesday night at the Whiting Boat house.

He discussed various legislative acts in the field of agriculture, industry, education, finance and labor and answered questions. Sen. Draheim stressed particularly the financial picture and the increasing cost of government, not only in this state but elsewhere.

He also referred to the growth of Wisconsin in population and in the number of school pupils.

Suit Settled for Payment of $1,500
Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — A $1,500 settlement has been accepted by Marion Blajeske, Neenah, in her suit for $10,000 against the Milwaukee Auto Insurance company and Home Mutual Casualty company. The two insurance firms will pay $750 each.
The suit resulted from an accident in Shawano county March 28, 1954, in which a car driven by Percy Rickert, route 1, Clintonville, in which she was a passenger, was involved in an accident with a car driven by Lyle Cotter, route 2, Shawano.
Circuit Judge H. F. Arps has approved the settlement.

Expect Revised Police Station Plans Tonight

Perry Rezoning, Harrison Street Due for Hearings

Neenah — The first steps toward a new police station for Neenah are expected to be taken by the council tonight, City Clerk R. V. Hauser said this morning. A set of revised drawings is to be presented by Frank C. Shattuck. If the drawings are approved, the council will set in motion the necessary legal procedure and order exact blueprints of the new building, which is to be erected at E. Doty avenue and Walnut street.

A referendum is required by state law before money can be borrowed for the new station. The question will probably be put to the voters with the general city election on April 1.

If voters approve the new police station, money probably will be borrowed on the same bond issue for the construction and equipping of the new southwest side fire substation.

Also due at tonight's council meeting are two public hearings on the rezoning of the property of Olla M. Perry, 415 S. Commercial street, and the change of Harrison street on the official city map.

Miss Perry has petition for her property to be rezoned from residential to commercial. She has had an offer to buy the lot, at Commercial and Caroline streets, from an oil company. The city plans commission, in considering the petition, recommended that the entire area on both sides of Commercial street from Franklin street to the Chicago and North Western railway tracks be rezoned to commercial. This plan was rejected by the city council after a public hearing, in which four property owners voiced opposition. The original petition is to be reconsidered tonight.

Shamrocks Fall To Manitowoc in Overtime Battle

Menasha — St. Patrick grade school forced St. Mary of Manitowoc into an overtime before it dropped a 42-41 decision in a non-league test here Tuesday night.

The St. Mary Rainbows led 13-11 at the quarter and 25-21 at halftime. The Shamrocks posted an 11-7 edge in the third period for a 32-all deadlock. St. Patrick had a four point lead with 1:40 left but couldn't hold it. A free throw by St. Mary after the final horn sounded tied the score at 40-40.

St. Mary made two free throws to one for St. Patrick in the overtime. Paul Laus scored 19 points and Richie Konkol added 10 for the Shamrocks. Witzack tallied 16 for the Rainbows. St. Mary's won the "B" game 32-24. Tomcheck hit 13 for St. Mary and David Koehn had eight for St. Patrick.

Shamrocks will meet the St. Mary Zephyrs on the latter's court Friday evening. The "B" teams vie at 6:30 with the varsity game scheduled for 7:30.

Neenah — St. Margaret Mary registered its second victory of the second round and its ninth straight of the season with a 91-24 trouncing of St. Patrick in the Neenah Junior Church Basketball league Tuesday night at the Roosevelt gym.

Presbyterian kept pace with the first round champions by topping Methodist 38-22. St. Paul posted an 85-51 triumph over Our Savior in the third contest. Trinity was the bye team.

St. Margaret Mary point honors went to Russ Simons with 36 on 17 baskets and two free throws. Don Bemowski scored 20 and Bill Klein had 18. Bob Kosloske had 16 of St. Patrick's 24 points.

St. Paul Cops

Presbyterian held an 11-4 lead over Methodist at the end of a quarter and upped it to 19-10 at halftime and 30-17 at the close of three periods.

Bill Meyer scored 20 points to pace the Presbyterian attack. Tom Plucker's 10 points led the Methodists.

St. Paul's lead over Our Savior was 19-10 at the quarter, 41-19 at halftime and 63-35 at the close of three segments.

Menasha Boy, 15, Charged With Stealing Car

Menasha — A 15-year-old Menasha boy will appear before Juvenile Judge S. J. Luchsing at Oshkosh at 9:30 Monday morning on charges of stealing a car from a Marathon corporation parking lot last Monday night.

The youth was arrested by Menasha police after the car he was driving went out of control at the intersection of Walnut street and Nicolet boulevard and hit a stop sign and tree. Damage to the car, owned by James Parish, 428 Eighth street, Neenah, was estimated at $300.

When the Neenah police, who were first on the scene, asked the youth for his driver's license he fled on foot. Neenah police caught the boy and called Menasha police.

Sweet and Pungent Spareribs With seasoned parsley rice make a dish that's full flavored, robust and satisfying

Spareribs Served With Parsley Rice

These are the days to indulge our liking for hearty, stick-to-the-ribs dishes that warm us children and 9,199 among adults, fill us up, and give us the energy to cope with wind and cold. This Sweet and Pungent Spareribs is a dish of substance and of bold flavor. Hefty pieces of meat, plenty of canned apple slices full of their native zest and tang and sizeable chunks of green pepper, are all mingled together in a hot richly brown and pungent sauce.

Sweet Spareribs
2 pounds spareribs
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup beef bouillon
2 1/2 cups (1 can) apple slices
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 cup cider vinegar
One-third cup sugar
3 teaspoon salt few grains pepper
2 green peppers, cut in 6th's hot boiled rice
1/2 cup butter, melted
1/2 cup chopped parsley

Have spareribs cut in serving size pieces. Bake spareribs in moderate oven, 350 degrees, one hour. Drain off fat. Blend together cornstarch and bouillon; add apple slices, soy sauce, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper. Cook until thick, stirred constantly. Add green pepper and spareribs. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Combine rice, butter and parsley; season with salt and pepper. Serve with spareribs.

Library Issues 22,595 Books During January

Neenah — The Neenah Public Library circulated 22,595 books during January, it was announced today by Miss May Hart, librarian. Of this total 13,396 were distributed among children and 9,199 among adults. The library also reported 1,025 persons used the reading room facilities in January and 118 used the reference volumes. The staff repaired 509 books and recorded 89 new borrowers during the month.

Name Wilson Safety Patrol for New Term

Neenah — School patrol officers for the second term were named this week at Wilson school, it was announced today. Captain of the safety patrol is Anne DeLong and lieutenant is Karen Groth. Patrol boys and girls are Shelby Petersen, Dan King, Connie Christensen, Sandra Stafford and Tom Summers.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Rubbish will be collected Thursday in the Eighth ward east of Walnut street and the Chicago and North Western railway tracks and in the First ward between Laudan boulevard and Fairview avenue according to City Clerk R. V. Hauser.

Zephyrs Play Fondy; Eye First Place Tie

Bid for Sixth FVCC Win in Seven Starts

Menasha — A "must" Fox Valley Catholic conference game confronts St. Mary at Fond du Lac Springs Thursday night.

A victory will push the Menashans into a tie for first place with Green Bay. Premontre while a loss would make their job that much more difficult. Premontre boasts a 6-1 slate to 5-1 for the Zephyrs.

A win would be doubly sweet since it would also reverse the Menashans' only league setback, Springs turned the trick 57-48 here on Jan. 18.

In that contest, the Ledgers connected on 35 free throws in 44 attempts and had a nine-point victory spread although the Zephyrs made nine more field goals.

Trounce Wayland
After bowing to the Springers, the Zephyrs dropped a five point decision to the St. Lawrence seminary. They came back to trounce Wayland academy, defeated the St. Nazianz seminary and then scored a 43-39 conference win over St. John.

In their most recent outing, the Zephyrs put up a creditable performance against the potent Alumni squad before dropping a 68-59 decision last Sunday. The grad lineup included Ron Dibelius and Jim Kersten of this year's Marquette university squad plus other college performers.

Like the Menashans, Springs has been busy since their last meeting. They turned back Marinette Lourdes to square the conference record at 3-3 but got under the .500 mark by dropping a 65-62 decision to Premontre last Thursday in a game which went right down to the wire. Last Saturday evening the Fondy quintet trimmed St. John Military academy in a non-league encounter.

Nuss Scores 31

Much of Springs' success can be attributed to the improved play of 6-5 center Bill Nuss. He hooped 31 points against Marinette a week ago for the top one-man effort of the conference campaign.

Sophomore Paul Kremer, who hit on 10 free throws in 11 attempts in the first meeting, also has been coming along and, after starting the season on the jayvees, has clinched a starting berth.

Seniors Dave Wigton and Tom Herre and junior Mike Scott complete the starting lineup. Scott scored 23 points, including seven of his club's 11 field goals, in the first get-together.

Signs of 'Jelling'
Since the first game, the Zephyrs have lost Pat Below because of an injured ankle and several other boys have dropped from the squad.

Coach Ralph McCrone has only one senior, Jim Schueppert, who has been playing regularly and his underclassmen are showing signs of "jelling."

In addition to Schueppert, other boys who have been showing improvement are Gary Batley, who hit 13 points in each of the last two games; Jim Bayer, Tom Balthazor, and sophomores Norm Brown and Jean Schreiner have been averaging from eight to 10 points a game.

Rippling Brook 4-H Selects Committees

Menasha — Committees for the Rippling Brook 4-H club were named at Tuesday night's meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Jacobsen, leader. Secretarial cards were exchanged and discussion held on the rural theater revue April 16 and 17.

Named to the health committee were Jean Kofler, Charlotte Morehouse and Sandy Morehouse and to the safety committee Yvonne Manteufel and Mary Gerrits. The recreation committee will include Patty Grimes, Alice Kofler and Diane Lehl and the lunch committee will be Pequette and Michelle Schwerin.

Enrollment cards are due at the March 4 meeting.

Hoerning Slaps High 581 Score In 'Fellowship

Boushley Cracks 235 Loner; Closes With 574 Series

Neenah — Bob Hoerning slammed a 581 trio and Ron Boushley had a 235 game to pace the Lakewood Goodfellowship Bowling league Tuesday night at Lakewood. Boushley finished with 574.

Al Babbitts hit 503, Harold Meyer 215-554, Jack Kraft 543, Louis Mottel 535, Ken Gutowski 224-534, Don Schultz 533, Jerry Hoerning 208-532, Viler Zilisch 201-530, Roy Babcock 529, George Zelinski 216, Clair Gracyahny 201, Forrest Hyde 200, Cy Anderson 213 and Charles Christanson 233.

Hoerning's had a 1,049 game and 2,978 series for team honors. Town Club leads with a 38-19 record. Hoerning's has 35-22 and Harper Service 34-23. Town Club, Hoerning's and Ed and Woody's won three games.

Handicap Honors
High scores in the Tuesday night Lakewood Ladies handicap circuit included Gert Kaufer 185, Delores Kading 479, Bernice Werth 11-471 and Marion Dahl 183. The latter had 10 straight spares.

Split cleanups included Delores Kading 5-10, Virginia Ebel 6-7, Eunice Zeinert 6-8-10, Marion Krueger 3-6-7, Margaret Steinacker 5-7 and Bernice Johnson 5-8-10.

Wanserski's had 2,084 and Larson Bar 718 for team honors. Wanserski's leads with a 2,676, Wisconsin Tissue Mills 2,664, Twin City Bottling 2,594, Big Pete's 2,575, Salmon 2,571, Banta's 2,537.

Menasha — Marathon caged its third straight win in the Menasha Industrial Basketball league by overpowering Gilbert Paper 79-28 at the Butte des Morts gym Tuesday night.

Banta's remained a game off the pace by turning back Strange Paper 55-37 in the other contest. Central Paper drew the bye.

Marathon had a narrow 15-11 lead over Gilbert's at the end of a quarter but added 27 points in the second period while limiting the losers to a single field goal.

The victors added 12 points in the third period to four for Gilbert's and a 54-17 score. They came up with 25 points in the final frame.

Marathon scoring honors went to Tom Rosenow and Menasha — Racing dates for Jim Overby with 16 and 15 1958 will be planned at the points respectively. Neenah — The Mid-Eastern conference pace - setters will find the going a little tougher Friday evening in the circuit's tenth set of games. Undeclared Shawano is at fifth-place Menasha while once-beaten Neenah battles the third - place Raiders at Two Rivers.

Other Friday night tests match New London at Kimberly and Clintonville at Kaukauna. After Friday's encounter with the Bluejays, No. 1 ranked Shawano will be forced to return to action Saturday evening in a non-league home game against No. 2 ranked Wausau.

The state champions, who boast 24 straight wins, expect no easy time from the Bluejays in recent seasons the Twin Cities have given them as much trouble as any other team except Two Rivers.

12-Point Spread
Last year the Indians captured a pair of 3-point decisions over the underdog Jays and in the first meeting this season the final spread was 12 points, the lowest until Neenah fell by eight two weeks ago.

In that initial get-together, the Bluejays led at the quarter and trailed by a point at half-time only to fall victim to a cold spell in the third period. Marty Gharritty had 33 points for Shawano and Gordon Selbach and Don Nelson each made 21 points for Menasha.

Uphill Climb
Neenah also can expect plenty of competition from an improving Two Rivers quintet. The Rockets have an uphill climb in their Dec. 13 game before Dave Thomsen scored the winning basket as the final gun sounded in a 57-55 triumph.

Two Rivers now holds down undisputed possession of third place on last week's win over Kimberly although high scorer Ron Brault was checked with 15 points. Neenah's Fred Seggelink, who played but briefly against Kaukauna last Friday is expected to be ready for more duty this week. Brault scored 30 for Two Rivers in the first meeting and Thomsen and Seggelink each had 15 for the Rockets.

Bid for 1st Win
A Kimberly victory over New London plus a Two Rivers loss to Neenah would boost the Papermakers back into a third place tie.

The Papermakers will be trying to snap a 2-game losing string. New London is still bidding for its initial win. Kimberly took the first game, 56-44. Don Hearden tallied 33 for Kimberly and Tom Beckman had 12 for New London.

Kaukauna bids for its fourth win against Clintonville, whom it defeated, 49-47, the first time around. Jim Walsh scored 18 for the Ghosts and Leon Westphal and John Dahly each made 11 for the Clints.

Chicago Five Tops Lawrence, 66-51

Vikings Lose 31st Straight Tilt Despite Close's 21-Point Debut

Chicago — The Chicago university basketball team extended the Lawrence college losing streak to 31 games by defeating the Vikings in a 66-51 victory here Tuesday.

Applenton's Jack Close paced the Vikings' revised second-semester lineup with the game's high total of 21 points, but the Maroons had too much diversified scoring punch for the visitors.

Close, 6-3 forward, fired in eight baskets — primarily on jump shots — and sank five of

Hagan Scores 26 Points in One Quarter

By The Associated Press
George Yardley and Cliff Hagan have written two more scoring records into the point-happy National Basketball association's book of facts.

Yardley, well on his way to the NBA scoring championship, scored a season's high of 52 points Tuesday night as he led the Detroit Pistons to an 118-113 victory over the Syracuse Nationals at Detroit's Olympia stadium.

Hagan's name goes in the space reserved for the fellow scoring the most points in one quarter of play. He had 26 in the fourth period at New York's Madison Square garden, where the New York Knickerbockers whipped Hagan and the St. Louis Hawks, 120-116, after Boston had spurred to beat Cincinnati, 107-87.

Yardley's performance, during which he also grabbed 20 rebounds, came after Philadelphia's Warriors had opened a double-header at Detroit with a 107-103 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers.

Both Yardley and Bob Pettit of St. Louis had scored 51 points in a single game earlier in the season. The all-time NBA record is 63 points by Philadelphia's Joe Fuks against now-defunct Indianapolis in 1949.

Portland, Ore. — Chuck Lincoln, 166, Portland, knocked out Dick Lane, 162, Boise, 3.

Milwaukee — Charlie Grimm said Tuesday night, "Truthfully, the deal is closed," as he commented on rumors that Milwaukee outfielder Bill Bruton will go to the Chicago Cubs to complete the trade that brought pitcher Bob Rush to the Braves.

A Cub vice president, Grimm, former Milwaukee manager, said that if Bruton does wind up in Wrigley field it will be a separate transaction.

Since the Braves acquired Rush last December observers have refused to be convinced that all was being told, despite the comments of officials from both clubs who insisted that all was there was to it.

Reports kept bouncing back that the Cubs would get Bruton if his injured knee holds up. Even the fleet outfielder said, "It does seem like there ought to be somebody else in that deal."

Foxes Register 2nd Win Over Winnebago '5'

Wes Reschke and Howey Pace 60-50 Road Success

Fond du Lac — Fox Valley Lutheran High school got off to an 11-0 lead here Tuesday night and went on to post a 60-50 basketball victory over Winnebago Lutheran.

Wes Reschke led the way as the Foxes moved to a 36-24 half time lead. Fox Lutheran, enjoying an 11-point lead with 6 minutes remaining, went into a semi-stall and Winnebago was unable to break through.

The hosts' Stan Jennings was high point man in the game to tally 18 points. Ron Harvey hit 14 for the Foxes. Fox Lutheran was also the victor over Winnebago earlier in the season (87-47).

Fox Lutheran hit for 18 out of 29 from the gift line. Winnebago Lutheran scored 10 points on 19 free throw attempts.

Marquette Entertains Creighton '5' Tonight

Moran's Return to Scoring Form Bolsters Warriors

Milwaukee — The Marquette basketball team which has finally pulled its season record up to 500, tonight will try to keep going as it entertains Creighton.

The Warriors will be shooting for the third straight victory before hitting the road for five games. After that they will play one more at home and close the season Feb. 27 at Drake.

Both teams have been erratic, but the Warriors rate the edge because of the return to form of Mike Moran who dumped in 23 points as Marquette defeated Boston college last Saturday night. Creighton, with a 7-8 record, matches Marquette in size but lacks a dependable scoring threat.

In their best games, the Bluejays beat DePaul of Chicago and Drake, and each time shot at a better than 40 per cent clip. Other victories include those over the Air Force academy, was deadlocked at 76-76 at the Colorado State and New Mexico.

The Bluejays lost three straight just before breaking Jim Otte collected 23 for the for semester examinations, and Titans Ripon led, 45-40, at half-time then have come up with a time new attack that has brought some success. Added to the starts for Ripon.

Ripon's Gordy Rush led all scorers with 30 points, while Central just before breaking Jim Otte collected 23 for the for semester examinations, and Titans Ripon led, 45-40, at half-time then have come up with a time new attack that has brought some success. Added to the starts for Ripon.

Sheboygan — Trailing, 60-54, with about 3½ minutes to play, Appleton blitzkrieged Sheboygan Central for 10 straight points here Tuesday night to win a Fox River Valley conference basketball thriller, 64-62.

The heart-stopping victory enabled the Terrors to keep pace with the other three first division constituents in the tinging 1957-8 FRVC race. The triumph was sweet revenge for an earlier 54-52 upset loss to Central on the AHS court.

To paraphrase an old Biblical quotation, the team that won by the press perished by the press here Tuesday night. Central had used a pressing defense to bring victory in the clubs' first meeting.

Last night, Appleton's application of a zone press helped the visitors tally six straight points within a half-minute period to erase that 60-54 deficit. Here's the play-by-play on the final frantic 4½ minutes:

With the score tied, 54-all, Central's Johnny Paurch dropped in a long outside shot for a 56-54 Sheboygan lead. There was about 4:30 left.

Forty-five seconds later, Paul Testwuide got free under the Terror bucket for a close fielder and it was 58-54 Central. Seconds later, Testwuide dropped in another short-range effort and the Redmen were ahead, 60-54 — their longest lead of the game — and Appleton's chances looked slim.

Hamann Sinks Pair
Then the Terrors' Howie Hamann buried his fourth and fifth free throws of the night to cut the score to 60-56.

Here, the winners went into the zone press which had worked so well for them in their march to the 1956-7 conference championship.

AHS got the ball and guard Jack Ullwelling fired in a jumper to cut the hosts' lead to 60-58. After another Terror steal Ullwelling was fouled and he made both free throws to tie the issue.

The score stayed there for over a minute. Then AHS' Tom Verkuilen found the range from inside and it was Appleton 62, Central 60, with about 1:45 showing as the Terrors fell back on defense.

Central couldn't score and the winners went into a weave, stalling for nearly 60 seconds. Then, after the clock had shown its final-minute crimson for about 15 seconds, Hamann broke away from his defender to pour in a close fielder for a 64-60 AHS lead.

Narrows Deficit
DuWayne Prinsen's rebound basket after a missed Sheboygan free throw, with 10 seconds remaining, trimmed the tally to 64-62 but the Terrors stalled out the final seconds.

The lead changed hands on 10 occasions in the tension-filled game and the score was tied seven times—at 17, 23, 47, 50, 52, 54 and finally 60.

Appleton didn't trail from Hamann's game - opening bucket until Central went on top briefly, 22-21, late in the second quarter. The Redmen's next lead was late in the third segment.

Busch Calls Bonus Battles '3-Ring Circus'

St. Louis — (AP) — August A. Busch, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, says the competition for bonus ball players is becoming a 3-ring circus.

"My colleagues in baseball are laying the foundation for serious trouble," Busch declared. "I'm not saying we should not pay reasonable bonuses, but it's getting out of hand."

Busch's remarks were made at a meeting of the "Knights of the Cauliflower Ear," a group of St. Louis sports enthusiasts. Stan Musial, star of the Redbirds, was honored.

At a similar gathering last year Busch issued a "win or else" ultimatum to Frank Lane, then general manager of the Cards.

This year Busch gave no warnings to Lane's successor, "Bing" Devine.

"I know he will do a good job," Busch said.

San Bernardino, Calif. — Art Aragon, 154, Los Angeles, knocked out Walter Tyler, 155, Los Angeles, 8.

Central Hands Junior Terrors Second Defeat

Score 12 of Game's Final 14 Points to Break Up Tight Duel

Sheboygan—Sheboygan Central's junior varsity basketball team may have dealt a KO punch to the Appleton JVs' conference title hopes here Tuesday night with a resounding 41-29 victory.

The hosts tallied 12 of the game's final 14 points to turn what had been a close affair into a rout.

Central led, 13-12, after one quarter and 22-17 at the half as forward Tom Posewitz counted 12 of his club's 22 points. Guard Bruce Bloomer coiled four of Appleton's eight points as the visitors shaved their deficit to 27-25 going into the final period.

With Central ahead just 29-27 early in the fourth quarter, Appleton lost lanky forwarder Harold Lodholz via the foul route and the winners turned on the steam.

A basket by Paul Vander Heyden (Lodholz' substitute) was the only AHS score of the game's final 14.

Dave LaViolette, who hit six of his ten points in the first quarter, paced the losers while Posewitz finished with 19 for game honors.

Appleton got just five free throw attempts, making three of them. Central converted 11 of 16.

The loss was AHS' second in nine JV starts (both to Central) and made the club's overall record 11-2. Central is the unbeaten FRVC leader.

Stengel's Analysis

Casey Is Pleased With Yanks' 1958 Outlook but Respects Other Clubs

New York Yankee Manager

Glendale, Calif. — "Well, here we go again. As we get ready for another American league pennant race—this will be my tenth with the Yankees—I'm happy to have this opportunity to talk to you about my club and the rest of the league.

Despite the fact the Yankees won by eight games in 1957, we didn't have an easy time at all. Chicago battled us well into September before we tucked away our twenty-third American league pennant and the eighth in my nine seasons with the Yankees. And, as I've been saying all winter, the White Sox improved themselves with winter trades. Early Wynn alone should help them. True, they've sacrificed some power, but they've got the ingredients of a good, solid club, pitching and defense.

Sees Cleveland Improvement
Detroit has improved, too. I know what kind of a competitor Billy Martin is, and he'll have that club up there. And fellows like Kaline and Kuenn got off to bad starts last year, though they finished strong. And the Tigers have good young pitching, too.

Cleveland had an off year and I look for its new management to have that club vastly improved in 1958. As long as a fellow by the name of Ted Williams is around — and he was very much in evidence last year—Boston must be rated a chance. That old man proved he could still hit with the best of them, didn't he? And the Red Sox have good young talent on their roster, too. Fellows like Malzone and that fellow Sullivan.

Baltimore helped itself, too, and Paul Richards got that club to its highest level last year, playing .500 ball. Kansas City isn't standing still, either. They've made a big trade this winter and are looking for real improvement from some of their young players. Washington is on the prowl for new players and will be a better club in 1958, too.

And now for my own club. We won a pennant last year, didn't we? Therefore we could not have had too many big weaknesses. Our defense, particularly in left field, wasn't all I would have liked. And then we got stopped by Lew Burdette in the World Series. But don't remind me of that.

We are looking for Norm Siebern to plug the left field position. He was the most valuable player in the American association last year with Denver where he led the league in hitting. And he's completely recovered from those injuries that hampered him in his trial with us in 1956.

Ford's Arm Okay
We also have that great old vet, Sal Maglie, with us for spot duties right from the start of the season. Ford's arm is okay again and some of our younger pitchers have another year of experience. And we have quite a few of fine looking pitching prospects like Ryne Duren, Zack Monroe, Mark Freeman from Denver and big Jim Coates from Richmond.

There wasn't much wrong with our infield last year. It was versatile, the way I like it, and we led the league in double plays again. We have a 2-way regular for every infield position. Bill Skowron, Joe Collins, Marv Throneberry and John Jaciuk for first base; Bobby Richardson, Gil McDougald, Tony Kubek and Fritz Brickell for second base; McDougald, Kubek and Brickell for shortstop; Andy Carey, Jerry Lumpe, McDougald and Kubek for third base. And Kubek did all right last year in left field, too.

With Yogi Berra in good health again, I think our catchers on the bench will be first rate. And Elshoff, and — with their scoring power on the bench — couldn't resist the Michicot surge. Forward Myron Kruzicki coiled 23 points for the victors while P. Kornely topped the losers with 17.

Shiocton's overall record is now 7-10.

No One Will Enter Baseball's Hall of Fame This Year

Boston — "No former major league player will join baseball's immortals in the Hall of Fame this year for the first time since 1950.

Secretary-Treasurer Ily Hurwitz announced that the Baseball Writers Association of America failed to give any former player 75 per cent of the total vote necessary for election.

No Additions
Nobody even came close. With 266 ballots cast by 10-year members of the association, 199 votes was the minimum for election.

Max Carey, a base-stealing star for Pittsburgh and Brooklyn from 1910 through 1929, topped the list with 136 votes. He was followed by Ed Roush, former New York Giant and Cincinnati outfielder, who polled 112 votes.

Natural Rivals Duel Thursday In Frosh Loop

FOX VALLEY FRESHMAN LEAGUE

Team	W	L
Kimberly	6	0
Menasha	4	2
Waukegan	4	2

Kimberly at Kaukauna.
Wilson at Kenosha.
Menasha at Neenah.

Natural rivalries are the order of the day in the Fox Valley Freshman basketball league Thursday.

Kimberly and Menasha—locked in a 2-team dogfight for first place—strive to repeat early season wins in road games. The Papermakers will attempt to stay unbeaten by knocking off Kaukauna. The Jays could move into first place alone by winning at Neenah if the defending champion Ghosts can find the winning combination.

The third pairing sends Wilson to Roosevelt in the renewal of a warm Appleton intra-city rivalry.

Kimberly had no trouble stopping Kaukauna in the first game, winning 48-19. Neenah gave Menasha a bit more of a ball game but succumbed, 54-41.

The first Roosevelt-Wilson affair was tight with the Rooseveltians shading the Wilsonians, 41-38, at Roosevelt. If Coach Rollie Winters' gang can repeat that triumph they'll gain a third place tie with Wilson.

Terrors Nudge Central With Fiery Rally

The advantage changed hands in the fourth stanza until the hosts swept in front, 60-54.

The Redmen, who now have dropped five straight conference games after winning their first four, were aroused for the game. Talk of serious dissension on the club and rumors of repeated training violations are rampant in Sheboygan and the Redmen were, reportedly, attempting to redeem themselves to Coach Carl "Cully" Huebner Tuesday night.

Fiery Floor Game
Footballer Johnny Paurch, usually a Central regular, sat out the first seven minutes Tuesday night but, after he entered the lineup, fired in 14 points — to lead his club — and turned in a fiery floor game. Big Paul Testwuide coined 13 points and Prinsen 12. The latter pair had tallied 42 points together in the earlier win over the Terrors.

Ullwelling paced Appleton with 14 points, hitting on five of just 15 shots. Ullwelling, who switched to 2-hand, underhand free throws when he had a bit of trouble with 1-handers earlier in the campaign, made just half of eight attempts using the underhand method.

Once again exhibiting long-strived — for scoring balance — AHS had seven players between six and Ullwelling's 14 points.

Hamann, bouncing back from his weekend illness, was second high with 13, while Dick King and Bill Bedard counted nine apiece.

Bedard hit three baskets in a row mid-way through the second period.

Tom Verkuilen notched seven points while sophomore reserves Ron Abel and John Nussbaum were good for six apiece. Nussbaum, who entered the game late in the second segment, swished three of the first four shots he took and was Johnny-on-the-spot in the rebounding department.

In one skein — starting when there were 30 seconds left in the first half and ending midway through the third quarter — Abel and Nussbaum counted 10 straight tallies for the winners. Appleton made its first five shots and 12 of 23 in the first 16 minutes. It was that plus-50 per cent shooting that gave the Terrors their 33-28 halftime lead since the offense was marked by repeated bad passing and the Redmen were not allowing the visitors to exercise their usual backboard supremacy.

The orange and blue finished with a 38.3 field goal percentage on 23-for-60, very close to Sheboygan's 38.5 on 25 hits and 40 misses.

The free throw rates were similar, too. Appleton connected on 18 in 31 tries for .581. Central's .600 came on 12-for-20 gratis tossing.

Sweeps Season's Series for First Time in 12 Years

Reedsville — The Reedsville Panthers outscored Brillion High school, 70-52, Tuesday night to post their fourth straight non-conference basketball victory.

En route to running their overall record to 9-6, the Panthers overcame a 13-8 first quarter deficit. Senior Orrin Piepenburg, having his best night in at least two years, tallied 11 points in the second period as the hosts took a 31-21 halftime lead. Piepenburg finished as the game's top scorer with 20 points.

Earlier this season, Reedsville had edged the Lions, 30-28, in the last four seconds. This marks the first time since 1945-6 — the season Reedsville won the state title — that the Panthers have beaten Brillion twice in the same campaign.

Expect Reinstatement Of Nonie Foley to U. S. Skiing Team

Bad Gastein, Austria —(P)—Nonie Foley of Houghton, Mich., who was barred from the World Skiing championships for poor condition, is expected to be reinstated before Saturday.

Officials of the U. S. team said the 19-year-old skier will be considered in nominations for the giant slalom tonight.

Miss Foley was dropped from the team Monday because of what officials called lack of interest and poor physical condition. The Michigan skiing star said she had been weakened by illness.

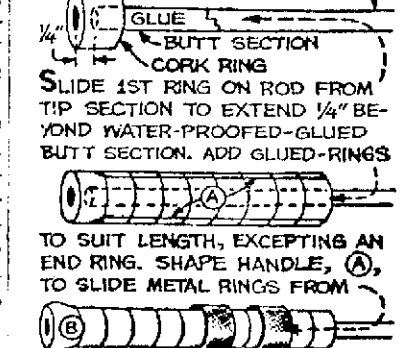

She easily outpaced her teammates while acting as a non-competing "trailblazer" in the slalom following her suspension.

Cribbage doubles and singles confront YMCA Industrial Olympics competitors this week after Bergstrom paper took over the Olympics lead in last week's action.

Bergstrom's won the bowling title with a total of 2,678. Every member of the Bergstrom team had a 519 series or better. Kegling on the winning club were: H. Larson (529); Lorch Jenks (564); C. Babitts, (532); G. Koffke (519) and G. Roberts (534).

E. Kobs of Kimberly Mill had the best set, a 584, while Jenks slapped the leading game, a 220.

Bergstrom's Dan Haupe copped the table tennis title, repeating his 1957 win. On his way to the finals Haupe topped Woolen Mills' George Froehlich 21-6, 21-7, and Lakeview's Carl Cerutti (21-16), (21-15). In the finals, he tripped Badger Globe's Vern Knaak (22-19), 22-20.

Kimberly Mill repeated as the Olympics' skat champion. On the championship club were: Clarence M o n g e t t e, Elmer Baetehar and Courchane. Mongette was high man in the tournament with 21 hands and 579 points.

The Institute's Otto Kallmes won the chess crown with 90 points. Second was Marathon's Paul Koering, third were Lakeview's B. J. Dittmer and Bergstrom's Vern Magadan, in a tie.

Construction of Giants' New Stadium Expected To Begin Shortly

San Francisco —(P)—Construction of a new stadium for the San Francisco Giants is expected to begin within two weeks.

Plans for the city-owned stadium on filled land near San Francisco Bay were approved Tuesday by club owner Horace Stoneham. City officials are expected to approve them within the next week.

Builder Charles Harney estimates the 45,000 seat stadium will cost between 10 and 12 million dollars, including a parking lot for 12,000 cars. Portable center field bleachers will be removable for football games. Harney said the stadium would be completed for the opening of the 1959 season. The Giants meanwhile will play in Seals stadium.

Broker Says 'Innocent'; Trial Set for March 5

When He Fails to Post $25,000 Bond

Merle E. Davidson, 46, former Appleton real estate broker, today pleaded innocent of charges that he stole or misused $36,650 given him by clients.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede set Davidson's trial for 9:30 the morning of March 5 and sent him back to jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Davidson, who left Appleton last September was arrested in December in Des Moines by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

He is charged with taking their money in the form of down payments on homes and using it for his own purposes.

Forcing Charge
Federal authorities charged Davidson with forging applications for FIAA loan insurance, but released him to Outagamie county authorities for prosecution on local charges.

The Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers' board this week issued its final findings and revocation of Davidson's real estate broker's license. The board began its investigation of the Appleton man last summer and suspended his license last October. A public hearing was held in Appleton in November and this week's order formalizes the board's earlier action.

The Real Estate board lists the names of 33 persons who say they gave Davidson money as down payments on homes.

The board lists three persons whose applications for FIAA loan insurance were altered by Davidson. It is not known if these are the same persons whose applications were the cause of federal forcing charges.

Davidson the board states also maintained a drawing account with the Fox Valley Land and Title corporation, Irving Zuelke building and that account at present is $8,100 overdrawn.

The board states Davidson employed during last July an Appleton man to sell real estate and the man was not licensed by the state as a broker.

All of the board's findings are set forth as fact and are signed by Herbert A. Ganser, president West Allis Julius J. Dinger, vice president Eau Claire, and M. William Gerrard, treasurer, La Crosse.

State law limits the board's powers to a 2-year revocation of a broker's license if the broker is found to demonstrate untrustworthiness, impropriety, fraud or dishonest dealings.

Selig Transferred To Outagamie Jail Under Huber Law

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Circuit Judge H. F. Arps has placed Jack Selig, 27, 1818 N. Appleton street, Appleton, under the Huber law. Selig was ordered transferred to the Outagamie county jail, where he will be confined evenings and weekends when not working as a construction laborer. He had been sentenced to six months in the jail.

Selig last Tuesday pleaded guilty of aggravated battery in the shooting May 23 of his brother, Kenneth, 22, in the Menasha apartment where Jack's former wife, Joan, lived. The couple had been divorced two days before the shooting.

Judge Arps provided for a distribution of Selig's earnings while he works under the Huber law. This includes the cost of his board and confinement in the Outagamie county jail and payment of support money for his daughter, as ordered in the divorce proceedings.

Man Bound Over For Burglary

New London — Norman Bonnin, 20, Shiocton, was bound over to Waupaca circuit court this morning to face three charges of breaking and entering at night. He was arraigned before Police Justice Bernard Plumb.

Phone Company Plans Plant Improvements

Clintonville Firm Seeks PSC Approval Of $224,000 Project

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Extensive plant improvements for the betterment of service to 2,700 customers of the Urban Telephone company of Clintonville are proposed in an expenditure plan submitted for approval to the public service commission. The company said it wants to spend $224,000 for additions and replacements of equipment at its central office. Service at various other nearby exchanges operated by the company would not be affected. The company serves a total of more than 5,000 accounts. Among the improvements proposed are installation of a new 12-position toll board and a 2-position information board. The company also will add 200 lines to its dial system and will renumber its telephones to provide two letters of prefix with a five digit numbering system, presumably to anticipate future development of nation-wide toll dial service by telephone companies. The commission has published a notice here saying it will consider the company's plans without a public hearing.

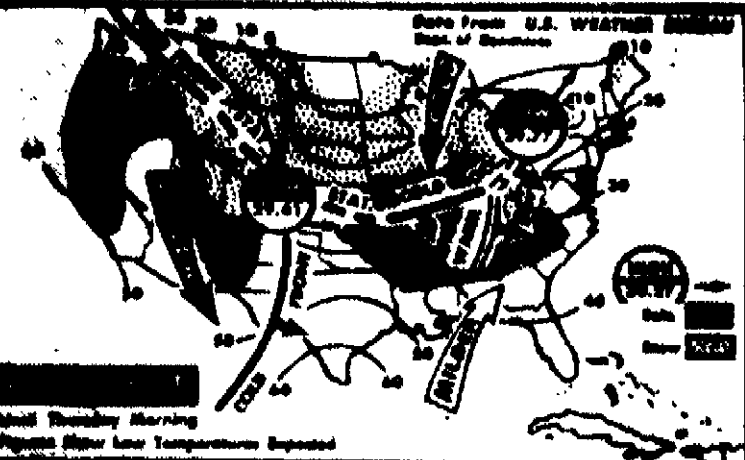

Share Prices Ease Unevenly

Early Afternoon Trade Fairly Active; Aircrafts Higher

New York — The stock market was irregularly lower in fairly active trading early this afternoon. Mostly industrials were lower but aircrafts were a bit to the good and leading rails were ahead on average. Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. The market was lower at the start as profit-taking trimmed gains of the last two vigorous sessions. The ticker tape was behind floor transactions for three minutes at the opening. Failure of Martin Co.'s satellite-carrying Vanguard missile had an unfavorable psychological effect. President Eisenhower's statement that the administration might recommend a tax cut if the business upturn fails to develop about mid-year was followed by improvement in the aircrafts and selected issues in other groups. While most early declines were fractional, Martin Co. dropped 1/4 to 33 on its opening block of 2,500 shares. For a while it deepened its loss, they cut it to about a point. Lockheed was up around a point. Boeing, General Dynamics and Fairchild Engine rose fractionally. Douglas Aircraft dropped a major fraction. Steels, motors, rubbers, chemicals and oils were lower. While most leading rails showed scant change, a gain of a point by Illinois Central and of a good fraction by New York Central helped tilt this average to the plus side. Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio were losers. Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, and Zenith were down around a point apiece. Fractional losses were taken by U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Texas Co., Royal Dutch and Paramount. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 30 cents to $164.70 at noon with the industrials off $1, the rails up 30 cents and the utilities unchanged. Corporate bonds were little higher in quiet dealings. U. S. government bonds were steady in slow transactions over the counter.

Condemnations of Farm Land Ark State Ag Council Chief

Madison — The Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, speaking for producer cooperatives of the state, has added its powerful voice to the rumble of farmer-discontent about government acquisition of farm lands for public purposes. Farmers are concerned about their rights in the face of increasing demands for acquisition of farm lands for airfields, highways and other public improvements, said Milo K. Swanton of the organization in a bulletin sent to his membership. He said that more than 100,000 Wisconsin farm acres will be demanded for various governmental purposes during 1958. "Farmers are often cut to pieces, efficient operation of remaining property seriously hampered and life-time accomplishments destroyed without just compensation," complained the organization executive. Stopped By Costs Swanton said more of the public condemnation actions would have been appealed to courts, except that owners have feared the power of government agencies and the costs of court procedures. "An individual land owner, facing the power of condemnation, finds himself in the same relatively helpless position as individual laborers were in before passage of the workmen's compensation laws," he added. (Gov. Thomson has acknowledged complaints about acquisition programs in connection with new state highway relocation, and recently disclosed that he will sponsor a conference of farmers and experts to discuss modifications of present laws and procedures on the taking of private lands for public uses.)

Snow Flurries Hit Fox Cities

Southern Part of State to Have Freezing Drizzle

Snow flurries began falling in the Fox Cities about 10:45 this morning, a better weather picture than the freezing drizzle slated to hit the southern area of the state.

Scattered light snow fell on northern portions of the state, hitting Wausau and Green Bay areas by mid-morning. The snow is to keep coming in occasional flurries tonight and Thursday.

Temperatures throughout the state were higher than those reported Tuesday. In Appleton the overnight low was 14 degrees and the high Tuesday, 28 degrees. The weather station at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company reported a 24-degree temperature at 10:45 this morning.

State Laws

Minimum temperatures ranged from 7 above at Superior to 22 in Beloit and Wauwatosa. Superior reached a minimum of 9 above, Green Bay and Wausau 10, Eau Claire 12, Lone Rock and Park Falls 13, La Crosse and Milwaukee 14 and Madison 15.

The maximums Tuesday were topped by 34 at La Crosse and Lone Rock, with other highs in the low 30s and upper 40s.

Main highways in Taylor, Chippewa and parts of Dunn and St. Croix counties were described by the state highway department today as being "quite slippery." The condition was caused by new snow.

The winter is far from mild in Florida, where Miami's scraped ice off car windshields today as temperatures fell to 28 degrees. Lawns were white with frost and ice formed in birdbaths and puddles; householders were up early to hose ice crystals from plants. The temperature was 45 in downtown Miami by midmorning, with much chillier conditions in outlying districts.

It was warmer at Pensacola in extreme northwest Florida than in south Florida. The northwest section of the state had a 48. It was 41 at West Palm Beach, 29 at Tampa, 31 at Fort Myers and 32 at Orlando.

The warmest community in the nation Tuesday was Presidio, Texas, with a high of 77. Lebanon, N. H., was the coldest early today with 5 below.

Chicago Man New Chairman of Fox Head Brewery

Chicago — Edward F. Hoban, Chicago investment banker, has been elected chairman of the board of Fox Head Brewery, announced Tuesday. Hoban succeeds Alexander Morse of New York City who resigned voluntarily, a spokesman said. Morse will remain as a director.

It was also announced that the firm's 5-member board has been enlarged to seven members. Added were: Sam R. Ballis, partner in a Chicago insurance firm, and Edward M. Pinos, vice president of the Sipi Metals Corp., Chicago, who replaced Charles M. Ferguson of New York.

Morse was elected to the chairmanship Jan. 10, one day after a court order blocking a management change was vacated. He was one of three directors who implemented the change. Other officers elected at that time retain their positions, the spokesman said.

Hoban is executive vice president of McMahon & Hoban, Inc., a Chicago investment banking firm.

Wisconsin Cheese

Madison — Wisconsin American cheese market today; steady; demand fair to good; trade quite active in some quarters; offerings small styles generally adequate, state brand large styles more than ample; light offerings junior cheddars cleared readily at 33; 33; moisture basis. Prices: cheddars 34-35; single daisies 36-37; longhorns 36-37; and milds 37-38.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN, OUTAGAMIE COUNTY COURT—IN PROBATE. In the Matter of the Estate of Martha H. Krampien, Deceased. A petition having been filed, representing that Martha H. Krampien, late of the City of Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, died testate, and praying that the Last Will and Testament of deceased dated September 3, 1953, be admitted to probate, and that Letters Testamentary be granted, and for determination and adjudication of heirship. IT IS ORDERED: That said petition be heard, at a term of Court at the Court House in the City of Appleton, County of Outagamie, State of Wisconsin, commencing at the 15th day of February, 1958, at the opening of Court on that day or as soon thereafter as said petition can be heard. That the time within which creditors of the deceased shall present claims for examination and allowance is hereby fixed and limited up to the 15th day of March, 1958. That all claims against the deceased be examined and adjusted by the 15th day of March, 1958, at the opening of Court on that day, or as soon thereafter as the matter can be heard. That notice thereof be given by publication of this Order for three consecutive weeks, once in each week, in the Appleton Post-Crescent, the first publication to be within fifteen days from the date hereof; and by mailing a copy of this Order to every interested person whose post office address is known, and to each such party in the manner and at least twenty days before the hearing or proceeding. Dated at Appleton, Wisconsin, January 27, 1958. By the Court, STANLEY A. STAIDL, Judge. H. HUMMOND & FROELICH, Attorneys, 2000 Building, Appleton, Wisconsin. Jan. 29-Feb. 5-12

Passenger Service on Trains And Buses Cut by Automobiles

BY WILLIAM FERRIS
New York—They like to tell this story in Cleveland:
 Two lonely snowflakes were circling together high above the public square, near the top of terminal tower. One snowflake said to the other, "Let's drop down and start a traffic jam."
 In Cleveland, New York, Chicago and many another city a handful of flakes can start traffic jams. There are other cities—Los Angeles and Miami are two—where snowflakes aren't needed. In many northern cities, traffic jams come with snow or sun.
 The traffic jam is part of our daily life. It is where we have come to in our new mode of movement, in how we get from here to there. Many of us have come to a stall with a tail fin in front of us and a fancy chrome grille behind.
 The United States is undergoing a revolution in transportation. It is as significant as the shift from the canal barge and the lake steamer to the train, as profound as the change from the horse and buggy to the trolley and the interurban express. It affects us all.
 It is a revolution which will accelerate enormously in the next few years. It will leave us a different country than we were at the end of World war II.

There are these immediate developments.
Chief Competitor
 Railroads all over the country are cutting down on passenger service. Famous-name trains are being curtailed or consolidated just as surely as per cent of new car buyers live outside the central city. Improved vehicles have stimulated demand — automatic transmissions, power steering, power brakes, greater use of the V-8 engine. Cars have grown more dependable.

An example of how the automobile has taken over, look at Los Angeles county. There is one car for each 21 persons — more cars than families. Los Angeles county has more cars than all the countries of South America and continental Asia combined.

As Americans have rushed to buy cars, the cars themselves have undergone a transition. They are longer, wider, sleeker. This is Detroit style and underneath its wide acceptance a curious revolt appears to be growing.

Smaller Cars Gain

The smaller car — a little less expensive to buy and considerably cheaper to operate — is gaining favor. Imports of European cars, mostly small, doubled last year. American Motors has had impressive success with its Rambler, generally smaller outside than other cars.

Conference (New York-New Jersey-Connecticut) says that between 1938 and 1958 the average length of 4-door sedans has increased from 193 to 212 inches.

Says Mayor Wagner of New York: "In the past 10 years the average parking lot has lost 15 per cent of its usable space while pre-war garages have lost 40 per cent." He has appealed to auto manufacturers to give consideration to smaller cars.

It is significant that, although are convinced they are giving the mayors of the Metropolitan the public what it wants. Nu-Regional Conference bemoan numerous consumer surveys have the length of cars and ask for proven the appeal of the long-smaller ones, the cars used by municipalities to transport public officials invariably are the longest and most expensive on the market.

There is a good deal of snob appeal in cars. That has always been true of equippage — from the cowboy and his horse to the tycoon of the nineteenth cen-

Americans.

Boston — A chambermaid at the Hotel Lenox opened the door to room 915 Monday, surveyed the interior to make certain any possible occupant was in decent garb—and fainted.
 What she saw was a huge pet cat. In fact, it was a 180-pound African cheetah.
 Bill Green of Fairlee, Vt., owns the cat and he's been keeping it in his room at the Lenox while showing it at the Sportsman's show.
 The management said it had received some complaints from women guests that the animal in my elevator before.

 "Our competitor is not the bus or the airplane. It is the private automobile. The vast road programs of the state and federal governments, combined with the convenience of the private automobile, have destroyed through passenger business... this market has disappeared."

Airplane travel has winged out of nowhere, within the lives of many of us, to a point where it is the top method of public long distance transportation. Yet the airlines themselves are hard pressed to make money, wondering how they can fi-

Nostalgic Hint of Roarin' Twenties

Frothy Lingerie Delicate, Lacy Valentine Gift for Fair Lady

Shoot Dan Cupid's arrow straight to her heart this Valentine's day and present your fair lady with lingerie as delicate and lacy as an old-fashioned valentine. Frills and froth abound in the delightful array being shown in Fox Cities stores and the dainty apparel is a gift no feminine Valentine can resist.

Lingerie, a valentine remembrance admittedly closest to her heart, has a brand new look this season. The colorful spring underthings and sleepwear have taken a cue from the '58 chemise shape and hint nostalgically of the Roarin' Twenties.

As light-hearted as a flapper is the charming baby doll chemise gown. The long torsoed silhouette is cut by a wide hipband and flares in a brief pleated skirt over matching panties. The loose garment provides wonderful sleeping comfort and the skirt has been treated to remain permanently pleated after many washings.

Pert Scotch "Skiltee"
Found in soft pastels, with feminine pink and blue predominating, the chemise gowns are available in easily cared for cotton blends. Designs feature sailor collars, square and scoop necks and can be selected in both baby doll and regular lengths.

One manufacturer has looked to the Scotch Highland for inspiration and come up with the "skiltee," a 3-piece outfit as pert as a bagpipe tune. The loose tailored blouse, which can be worn in or out, teams with romper panties for bedtime and the addition of kilt-like skirt takes the "skiltee" to a dorm party—or a leisurely brunch.

The shift too, which had its heyday in great-grandmother's time, has been re-introduced this year. The waltz-length gown hangs straight from the shoulder and is made in cotton and drip-dry blends. Another newcomer is the cotton "muu muu", which brings a Hawaiian influence to the American market. The round-necked garment has brief sleeves and is cut full to provide ease in sleeping and lounging.

Many of the pretty new lingerie items seem to "gild the lily" and beading, floral applique, lace, eyelet and intricate tucking and smocking is lavish.

Daffodil yellow and tiger lily melon tones appear as cheerfully as the first robin among the spring styles, which tend toward shaded pastels. Gay checks and prints are also seen, and like their solid-colored sisters, are manufactured in washable cotton batiste, chambray, plisse, nylon and test-tube blends.

Culotte Reappears
Neither gown or pajama, but combining the talents of both is the culotte, which found favor some years ago. The dress-type garment, which is divided into legs, lends to versatile wear. A wide cummerbund nips in the waist and curves the all-in-one culotte to the feminine figure.

Other valentine gift selections might be made of the practical but luxurious bed jacket, bouffant petticoat in soft, full woven nylon or camisolé slip. Rain-bow tints abound and many styles are flirtatiously heriboned, touched with delicate lace and embroidery or trimmed with tiny nosegays.

Sure to delight milady are the negligee and gown sets, so femininely styled in cloud-soft nylon tricot and nylon sheers. One design combines pastel pink or blue with a sheer white overlay, while another shows off rosebuds at the neckline.

Attractive too, but sturdy enough for kitchen wear are the terry cloth dusters. The tubbable garments sport handsome monograms, fringe trim and some are available in face-framing shawl collars.

Valentines Mailed Numbered 3 Million In February, 1857

One hundred years ago, in 1857, over three million Valentines ranging in price from three cents to thirty dollars each were mailed in the United States. One and a half million were "comics" and the other one and a half million were "sentimentals."

Over 400,000,000 Valentines are expected to go through the mails between now and Feb. 14, 1958.

Lingerie as Delicate and Lacy as a beribboned old-fashioned valentine is a hearts and flowers gift no fair lady can resist. Conquer her heart on Feb. 14 with a selection from the dainty underthings and sleepwear newly arrived in Fox Cities stores for the spring market. New this season is the chemise silhouette and the baby doll gown, right, is a charming version of the flapper costume. Floral pattern and bow at hipline cut the long torso and a brief pleated skirt flares over matching panties. The Queen in the Heart models a three-piece "skiltee," which doubles as lounging apparel. The kilt-like skirt hints of the Scotch Highlands. Left is shown the "muu muu," long a favorite of Hawaiian women. The full gown travels from boudior to brunch with ease. Fashionable femininity is depicted in the scalloped gown, second from left, with its lavish use of embroidery and ribbons. (Post-Crescent Sketch)

Diamond, Symbol of Undying Love, Should be Selected With Know-How

Valentine's Day Favorite Time For Announcement of Betrothals

Valentine's Day, which has the distinction of being one of mankind's oldest and most beloved commemorative days has become increasingly popular as the time young lovers choose to announce their betrothals.

An interesting sidelight to this fact is the age-old legend that birds, beloved by the Christian saint for whom Valentine's Day is named, choose their mates on this day in honor of St. Valentine.

While today's young couples may not have Valentine as a confidante as did lovers and mating birds of old, they rely on a traditional symbol of love — the diamond — to carry their message of betrothal.

Long the symbol of undying love, diamonds were said to glow even brighter when given and worn for love, according to ancient folklore. Even the custom of wearing the engagement ring on the left hand has its roots in antiquity, when it was believed the third finger of the left hand was directly linked to the heart.

Because the engagement ring is one of the important pieces of jewelry most girls ever own, Fox Cities Jewelers suggest a practical as well as a romantic approach be adopted by starry-eyed couples in selecting a diamond.

The simplest shopping guide for diamonds is to consider the 4 C's — color, cut, clarity and carat.

Color in a diamond is a delicate thing, for a faint shading or tone can make a world of difference. Diamonds have been found in varying colors, from colorless white to deep yellow, brown, blue and even black. The finest commercial diamonds, as far as color is concerned, resemble a crystal clear drop of water.

Shopping Guide

Cut refers to the shape of the diamond and the process by which it is changed from the rough to the faceted stone. Until the stone is cut its value is only potential. Regardless of how clear or large a diamond may be, until it is cut and polished, it has very little beauty. In fact, the full measure of its beauty, meaning its fire and brilliance, is attained only by the proper cutting.

Clarity means a diamond's freedom from imperfections such as spots of carbon, internal cracks or tiny bubbles. The smaller the flaws in a diamond and the fewer they are, the greater the value. For commercial purposes a diamond which shows no flaws to an expert eye under a 10-power jeweler's magnifying glass may be legally sold as "perfect" or "flawless."

The fourth "C", carat, is the acceptable standard of weight for diamonds. The carat is divided into 100 points, so when a girl says her diamond is a half carat she means 50 points.

A diamond should be chosen with utmost care, jewelers note, for its beauty and life never change, and the tone never wears out. It is practical for only a diamond engagement ring can stand the treatment of being worn all day, in the kitchen and everywhere else, perhaps for 50 years, without showing its age. And even after 50 hard years of wear, the stone can be remounted in a fashionable setting of another generation and worn for another 50 years.

The diamond literally never dies—the very name "adamas" means unconquerable and unchanging.

A Watch Is a Particularly Appropriate gift for Valentine's Day, for time is a very significant thing to couples in love—so fleet when they are together and so slow when they are apart. Novelty timepieces for one's fair lady now in display for Feb. 14 giving include the gold bracelet watch at upper left. The bell-shaped watch hangs like a charm from the heavy gold-linked bracelet. At upper right is an "informal" style, designed with leather and gold stretch band and ideal for the busy housewife or career watch. Rhinestones sparkle around the face of the party-time watch at lower right. The band is of black suede. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Amethyst Said to Be Favorite Stone Of St. Valentine

February's birthstone, the amethyst—symbol of sincerity—is said to have been the favorite stone of St. Valentine. He wore one engraved with a cupid, popularizing it as a stone for lovers and making it particularly appropriate in modern times as a St. Valentine's Day expression of sentiment.

Worn by the crusaders as symbols of inner serenity, amethysts, according to legends compiled by the Jewelry Industry Council, were long felt to be ample safeguards against unrest. They still are traditional in bishops' rings and appear in the English Coronation Service and in the coronet of the Prince of Wales. They are mined in Uruguay, Brazil, Ceylon, the Urals and Madagascar.

Modern jewelry designers are showing amethysts increasingly, in faceted stone rings for men and women and in pins, clips, bracelets and necklaces in which the gems often are grouped with other stones of contrasting colors.

Cupid's Arrow Will Hit Target If Valentine Gift Is Jewelry

Cupid's arrow will make a sentimental as well as functional gift for sweetheart or wife. And the new shockproof, dustproof watch will be a desirable companion for the busy housewife or career girl will appreciate.

Pearls carry the classic message of classic love and thus are another ideal gift for Valentine's Day. Pearls are for love—the poets say—tears of love, of joy and pure fashion, for there is no other jewelry always so style-right.

Pearls And Hearts

While there are many variations, the classic graduated single strand pearl necklace is always a wise choice. Other selections include delicate pearl rings, earrings and bracelets or perhaps a heart-shaped locket of tiny pearls.

In tune with Feb. 14's most popular motif—hearts—are jewelry gifts ranging from heart-shaped pendants on fine gold chains to heart charms and pins.

For the sophisticated, there are leather bracelets, earrings and lockets for wear with tweeds and cashmeres and a large selection of handsome costume jewelry of copper or silver. Summer jewelry also is an ideal choice, especially if milady's planning a mid-winter trip to sunnier climates.

Gift Ideas With Masculine appeal include these items now on display in Fox Cities stores for Valentine giving to one's king of hearts. At upper left is a compact bar kit, with case of fashionable grey metallic leather and suede. The two-drawer jewelry box at right is of brown leather with gold plate for initials and includes compartments for cuff links, tie clasps, watch and rings. Ideal travel items, inexpensive token-type gifts, are the

For One's King of Hearts

Leather Gifts Appeal To Man's Masculinity

Want to please your king of hearts on Valentine's Day? Choosing a gift of leather, which has special masculine appeal, is a good way to do it. For a man likes the feel of the leather, and like money he can never have too much of either.

Take a peek at his wallet — the outside, of course — for a clue to one type of leather gift that's always good. Note if he's the wallet-in-pants-pocket or secretary-in-breast-pocket type. If he carries a pocket secretary in his business suit, a wallet for his sports clothes is a suggestion. If he carries a wallet for both business and sports, the field is still open for he probably could use a pocket secretary for formal or semi-formal wear.

When selecting a wallet, remember the type of clothes he prefers and choose a leather texture to match. For business suits with the silken look, there are kid leathers and calfskins in either smooth or lightly pebbled versions. Morocco leather with its distinctive grain and the patina it acquires with wear is another choice.

'Bulge Trouble'

Bulge trouble — from carrying too many things in one place — might be eliminated by a leather card case, memo pad or key case which can be carried in a separate pocket.

Aside from leather gifts for his pockets, there are numerous items, both conventional and a bit unconventional, which may please the male heart.

If a much-traveled man, your king of hearts probably will welcome a gift of lightweight airplane luggage which has all the toughness of conventional leather. Black, tan cowhide or natural pigskin are good masculine color choices and you can select two-suiters, one-suiters and cases specially designed for overnight trips. One such case has a removable briefcase in the lid, a top compartment for toilet articles or clothes and a large compartment at the bottom that can hold a typewriter.

Desk Items

The traveling man also will like the new collapsible shoe-horn with pigskin handle on a tubular aluminum handle. Its full length is two feet but it collapses to eight inches. Other utility gifts ideal for the traveler are small cowhide shoe-shine kit containing polish, cloth and brush or a compact leather kit holding razor, comb, tooth brush and paste. Attached to the latter kit are two brushes — one for hair and the other for clothes.

A pick-up lighter with pigskin or alligator covering, is a desk gift idea. Or you might select a new version of the photograph frame. The latter is a round leather ball which can be used for a paperweight and into which six pictures can be framed easily by a flip of the finger.

Then there are leather jewel-two kits at lower left and center. The kit at left has room for razor, comb, and toothbrush and is attached to two brushes—one for hair and the other for clothes. 1st Valentine Sent 688 Years Ago

The fact that Valentine's Day is the most sentimental day in the year stems from the story about a young Roman priest who was executed Feb. 14, 270 A.D., for refusing to renounce Christianity. His farewell message to his friend, the jailer's blind daughter, was signed, "From Your Valentine", which happened to be his name!

There are many other traditions surrounding this wonderful exchange of love and thoughtfulness on the day ruled by Cupid.

For instance, Valentines reached a peak of size and elegance in the royal court of Louis XIV. Cupid appeared in the designs for the first time.

A King of Hearts is sure to be flattered by a clothing gift from his lady fair on Valentine's Day. Gay cupids and bold red hearts sprinkle the gay boxer shorts, which are among apparel items being shown in Fox Cities stores. The symbolical motif of the sentimental day of hearts and flowers is displayed by the white cotton socks trimmed in red and the long sleeved cotton sport shirt in handsome red and white diamond pattern. Named for Lovers' Friend

Customs Dating Back Hundreds Of Years Surround Valentine Day

Many traditions surround the age old celebration of Valentine's Day, which rightfully claims the distinction of being one of mankind's oldest and most beloved holidays. In fact, more than 2,000 years ago, before the dawn of Christianity, ancient Romans celebrated a pagan feast in February when gifts were exchanged and young people drew lots for partners. These undoubtedly were the first "blind dates" on record.

And Cupid, today a symbol of love, began enchanting lovers over 2,000 years before the first romantic Valentine appeared. According to Roman legend, he was the son of Venus, goddess of love and Mars, god of war.

It was the Christian priest, Valentine, however, whose name was given to this special day. Just what the actual circumstances surrounding the naming of Feb. 14 as Valentine's Day were, experts dispute, but one popular version concerns the Roman Emperor Claudius.

This militant emperor, ever eager to recruit more soldiers for his legion found married men disliked the roving life of soldiers of fortune and preferred to stay with their families. To remove this difficulty in securing new recruits Claudius forbade marriage.

The Christian priest, Valentine, appalled by the edict, and sympathetic to young couples, secretly married young lovers against the emperor's edict. He was beheaded for refusing to renounce Christianity, but it was not long thereafter that a special day was named in his honor.

The priest's farewell message to his friend, the jailer's blind daughter, was signed "From Your Valentine" and is claimed by many to have been the first valentine.

The custom of celebrating Valentine's Day spread throughout Europe and to England, France and Scotland. In England, St. Valentine's eve was similar to our present day Halloween. After supper, groups of children sang songs beneath windows for cakes and candies, while elaborate gifts were exchanged among the upper classes in honor of the day.

Actually, the first paper Valentines appeared around 1400. The temper of the times and well as flatter, might include belts, four in hands, bow ties, handkerchiefs, gloves, scarves, slippers and jewelry.

ously, Sometimes they were dropped on milady's doorstep by bashful admirers, who knocked and promptly skipped away. But most often valentines were tucked into secret trysting places, such as hollow trees. Later, during Elizabethan

Love Not Blind If Clothing Gift

Gay Holiday Motif Sprinkles Shorts, Socks, Spring Shirts

Love may—as some say—be blind, but the fair lady who loves her King of Hearts will be sharp eyed if she shows her sentiments on Valentine's Day with a clothing gift.

As every smart woman knows, men do enjoy being well dressed and apparel that is both sentimentally personal and pleasantly practical will be warmly received by males.

When selecting for the man in your life, it's best to consider clothes from his point of view. And if your judgment is uncertain, a handy gift certificate will allow him to pick out his own choice.

Holiday Saluted
The Valentine holiday is being saluted in men's department in Fox Cities stores and the shopper will discover gay symbolical hearts and cupids sprinkled on socks, shorts and pajamas. The red and white motif also appears in sweaters, outerwear and is especially effective in the recently arrived spring sport shirts.

Many of the new shirts are styled in cotton or cotton blends and feature the short wide spread collar. Light weight stays reinforce the collars keeping points down and trim-looking.

Ivy league continues to be an important influence on the shirt market and colorful stripes and checks predominate. Those searching for flannel shirts for late winter vacation trips will find smart tags available but stocks somewhat limited.

Useful remembrances too, which will be sure to please as well as flatter, might include belts, four in hands, bow ties, handkerchiefs, gloves, scarves, slippers and jewelry.

times, more finesse was used. Imaginative bachelors began tossing apples or oranges into their sweetheart's open window. In retrospect, it was like shooting one of Cupid's arrows through air—unless, of course, the window was closed.

And many a hopeful English maiden of the 1600's went to sleep after eating a hard boiled egg—with bay leaves fastened to her pillow. The "man of her dreams" that night was supposed to be her future husband.

Unusual Love Proclamations
Throughout history, lovers have proclaimed their affection in odd ways. For instance, to attract a sheik's attention Arabian girls tied love knots in his riding whip and in Holland, traditionally Dutch swains began a courtship by publicly snatching a young lady's rain cap and running off with it.

French gallants of the 17th century expressed their amour by giving giant handmade lace trimmed valentines to their lady loves and in the 18th and early 19th century the sending of a valentine was a very serious proposition for it was considered a genuine proposal of marriage.

Valentines of this era were truly a labor of love for hopeful males spent the days before Feb. 14 mixing water colors and writing amorous metaphors. Rival suitors were frequently judged by the ingenuity of their valentines.

Designed to Destroy Any Missiles Used by Aggressor

BY FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter
Washington — The United States has disclosed it is working on the development of nuclear counter weapons designed to destroy intercontinental and other aggressive missiles.

The disclosure came in the 23rd semi-annual report of the atomic energy commission to congress.

Referring to its previously announced weapons tests at Eniwetok next spring, the AEC said:

"The forthcoming series will advance the development of weapons for defense against aggression whether airborne, missile-borne, or otherwise mounted."

The government previously has hinted at work on atomic rockets and anti-aircraft shells designed to pulverize airplanes, and has announced development of atomic depth charges to knock out submarines. But this was the first official mention of efforts to neutralize missiles, including the intercontinental variety, with nuclear warheads.

Gains in Nuclear Field
Presumably, in the forthcoming Eniwetok tests, the AEC would mount an A-bomb or an H-bomb as the warhead of an actual missile to test the effectiveness of the blast at theoretically interceptive ranges. On other phases of its work, the AEC reported:

1. "Important gains" were made in the last six months in the field of nuclear weapons. The commission indicated this was especially true as regards small weapons for defensive purposes, and weapons designed "greatly to reduce the radioactive activity remaining after detonation."

2. Maximum exposure to radioactive fallout from last year's "plumbbob" tests in Nevada by localities near the site were all below the acceptable level. These localities included monitored stations in Arizona, California, Nevada and Utah.

3. Average levels of radioactive strontium—a potential producer of bone cancer—in the bone structure of Americans has increased during the last year. But the average is still far below the recommended maximum acceptable level, the report indicated. The AEC was speaking about radioactive strontium resulting from all tests by the United States, Britain and Russia.

Savings With Isotopes
4. The use of radioactive isotopes is saving industry an estimated $500 million annually—representing "the equivalent of a 7 per cent yearly dividend on the more than $7 billion in tax money that the federal government has invested on atomic energy plant and equipment between 1942 and 1958."

Radioactive isotopes are ray-emitting atoms which industry uses in the form of gauges, flaw-detectors, and other applications.

5. Also, in the agricultural use of isotopes, "gains continue to be made in broadened knowledge and improved management of crops and livestock, and of diseases and pests that afflict both."

"Research pointed the way," said the AEC, "to better use of fertilizers, insect and weed killers, and growth regulators, and benefits were in sight from widening experiments with plants and animals."

6. "Considerable progress" has been made in the diagnosis and localization of brain tumors with the use of radioactive iodine, and more recently, there also have been encouraging results with certain other radioactive materials in this use. In these more recent studies, radioactive arsenic has shown particular promise.

Aims in Tests
Referring to the upcoming tests of nuclear weapons at Eniwetok, the report said:

"An important objective of the tests will be the further development of nuclear weapons with greatly reduced radioactive fallout so that radiation hazard may be restricted to the military target. This principle was first proved in the Pacific test series of 1956."

Referring to new test methods used in the 1957 Nevada tests—methods in which some nuclear devices were suspended from a balloon or placed deep underground—the report said:

"The use of captive balloons to lift the experimental device to an altitude sufficient to prevent the detonation fireball from reaching the ground appreciably reduced local fallout of radioactive materials."

And in the underground technique, the report said, all radiation was kept from escaping.

Judge Gets Hit in Eye, Calls Off Court
Naugatuck, Conn. — The weekly session of police court was called off after Judge M. Leonard Caine got a punch in the eye, requiring medical attention. Explained the judge: "I was just kidding with him."

Claims Japanese More Susceptible to Radiation Harm
Tokyo — Dr. Masanori Nakazumi, one of Japan's top specialists on radiation effects, said Tuesday the Japanese people are "physically more susceptible than other people to the harms of radiation."

Nakazumi reported on research to a conference on radioactive isotopes attended by some 500 Japanese specialists.

"When a radioactive isotope is used for a foreign cancer patient without causing any bad after-effects, a Japanese patient who received the same dose of radiation usually suffers from loss of white cells in his blood," Nakazumi reported.

Ten New Members Inducted Into Y's Men's Club

Report Nomination Of Top Soviets For March Elections

Moscow —(AP)—The Moscow press has reported the nomination of more members of the ruling Soviet presidium as candidates for the new supreme soviet (parliament). The election, to be held March 16, is strictly a one-state affair. The nominations were sent in from workers' meetings in cities throughout the Soviet Union. Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev was named by a number of regions. Premier Bulganin was put up in the Ukraine and by workers of an electrochemical plant in Riga. There is no residence requirement for nominees.

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: Do not say, "He doesn't have the necessary requisites for the position." Omit "necessary," which is redundant.

OFTEN MISPELLED: Colonnade; observe the two "n's" and the one "l."

SYNONYMS: Likely, liable, probable, plausible, apt, credible, presumable.

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: tortuous; twisting; winding. (Pronounce tore-tyu-uss, accent first syllable). "He followed the tortuous path through the wilderness."

WEEK IN APPLETON at the

New

S. C. SHANNON COMPANY

Wholesale Grocers and Their Affiliated Stores

The new Offices and Warehouse of the S. C. Shannon Co., located at 1726 N. Ballard Road, cover an area of 305 feet by 200 feet with an additional 4000 sq. ft. of unloading dock. Both the offices and warehouse are engineered for an efficient volume operation.

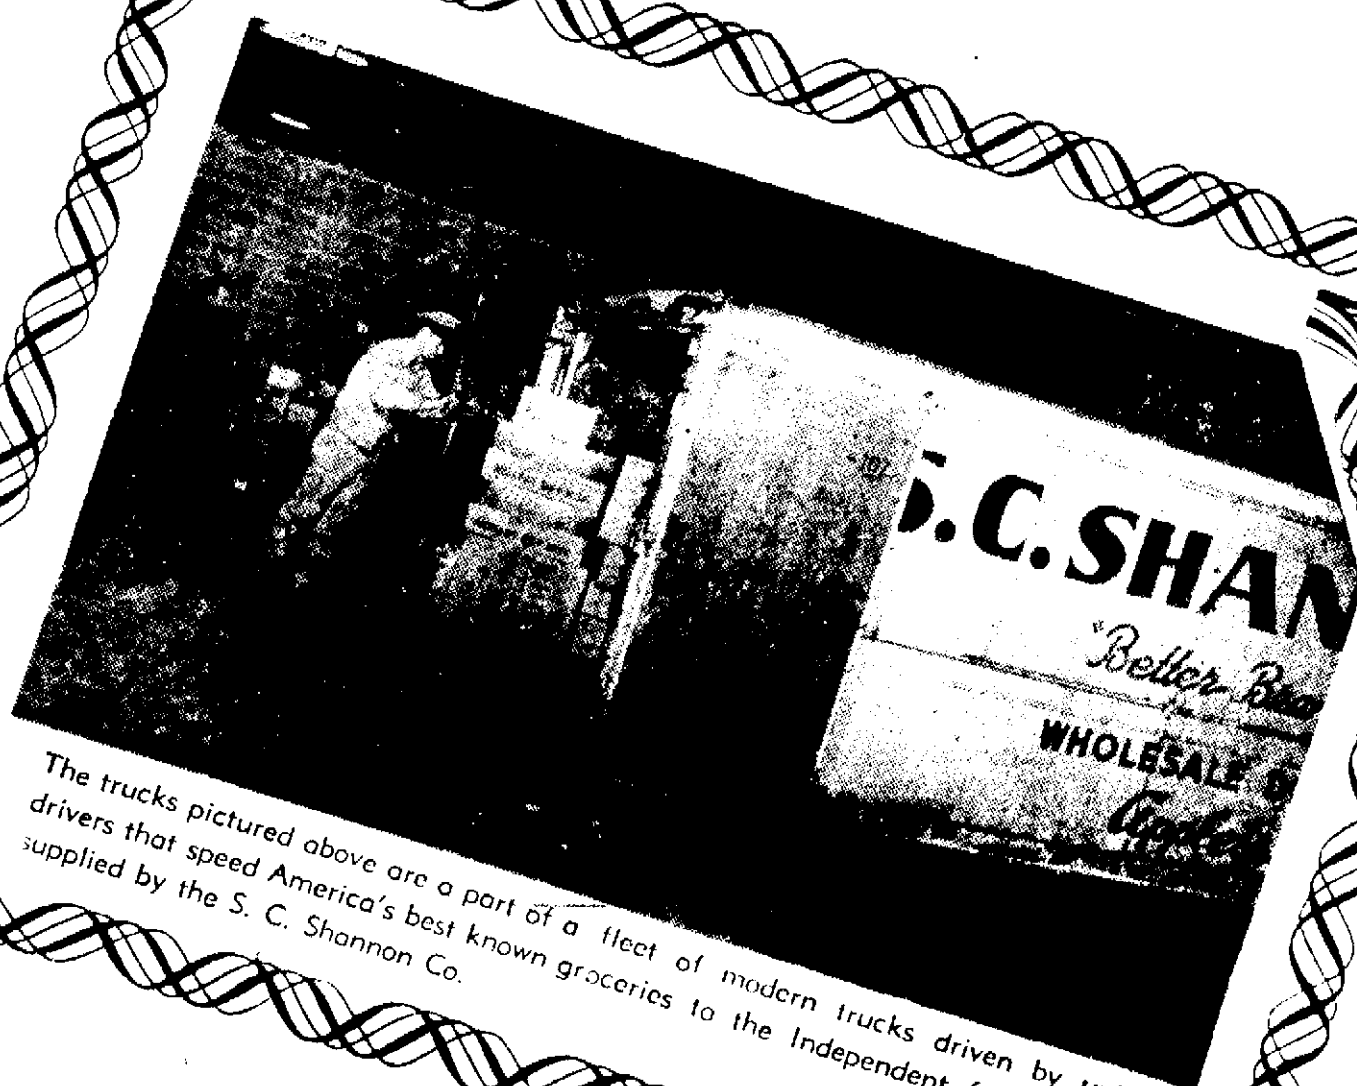

The I.B.M. Department plays an important part in billing the orders automatically which is the first step in the processing of the orders to be delivered to the stores.

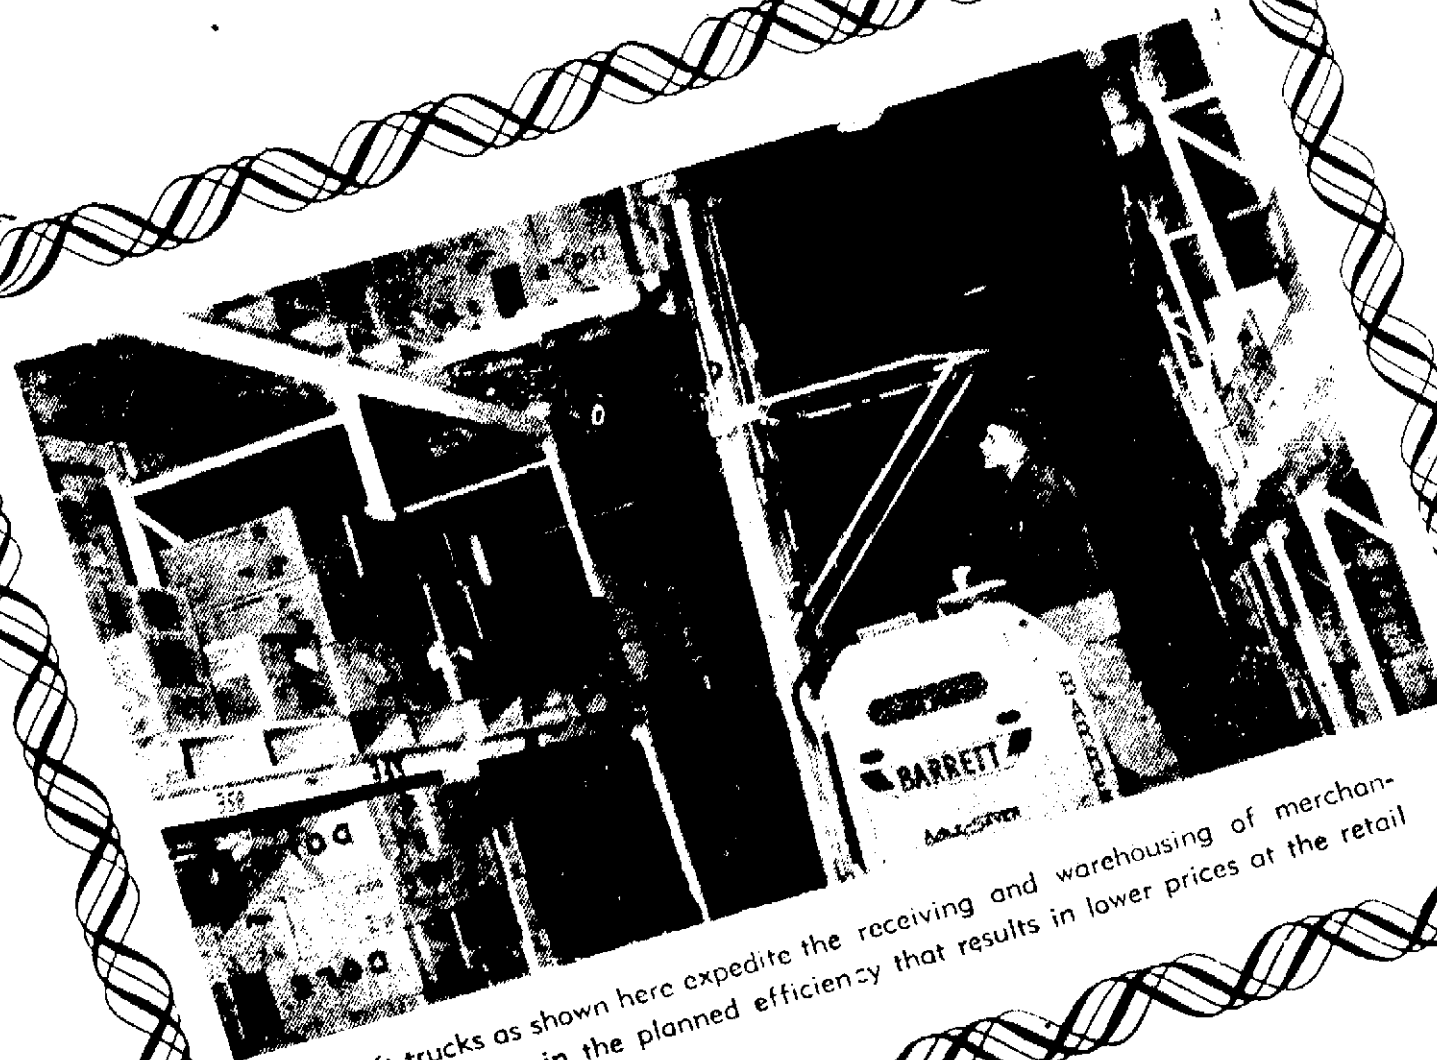

Independents' Week in Appleton commemorates a story of Progress of the New Independent Shannon Co. serving the finest independent Super Markets in Wisconsin to bring YOU America's best brands.

The Shannon Co., established in 1898 by S. C. Shannon, was originally located in a 2800 sq. ft. warehouse at 531 N. Morrison St., Appleton. As the story of Progress unfolds, the Shannon Co. kept pace with changing methods of food distribution so that after enlarging four times and using every foot of available space at the old location, our volume increased to a point where a move to a big new modern warehouse on N. Ballard Road was absolutely necessary. This big, one floor modern warehouse is scientifically designed for the MOST efficient food distribution in the state.

To you, the People of Appleton and surrounding cities and communities, this Progress is Your Key to Better Living. More of your food dollars, spent at these Independent food stores, will stay in your own community. More local people and more local businesses will Progress, and you too will benefit by enjoying tremendous savings on your food Budget. Help us celebrate Independents' Week in Appleton by visiting one of the Super Savings Markets or other outstanding independent markets located in your Area. Each and Every store supplied by the S. C. Shannon Co. is celebrating INDEPENDENTS' WEEK with SPECIAL EVENTS, SPECIAL BARGAINS, and SERVICES to mark this milestone of progress of INDEPENDENT FOOD DISTRIBUTORS.

We proudly present a picture of our employees. Many of them are your friends and neighbors. Each person plays an important part in our business of supplying the retail food stores with the best brands of foods at lowest possible prices. Each employee, in his or her own way, has contributed greatly to the success of the Shannon Co. because of his interest not only in his job, but the sincere desire and effort to make our company a bigger and better place to work. This, in turn, is reflected in the growth and progress of the City of Appleton. A realization, too, of the public in general is that dollars spent in independent home owned and operated places of business have a better chance of being spent at home where they will do the most good. A careful check of the famous brands and prices on these pages show the kind of merchandise that the stores, supplied by the Shannon Co., bring you on an efficient basis that justifies your patronage at the independent retail food stores. In our effort to further the progress of independent retailers and the food industry in general, may we invite you to celebrate Independents' Week by paying a visit to your nearest independent Super Market.

Pegler Has Trouble With Fiction Story Characters Just Aren't Made Right for a Happy Ending

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York — I have been having a little trouble with a fiction story. I wonder if you can help me out.
Boy meets girl, but this girl has a nasty disposition, she is not at all pretty, and this particular boy fills her with loathing. As author of the piece I am qualified to say that the boy, on his part, reciprocates her sentiments and that his character is no less repulsive than hers. What a pair!
I am beginning to suspect that the Saturday Evening Post will throw it right back, unread, postage due. McCall's, too.
I have had some nibbles from Broadway and Hollywood producers who do big, significant things about psychiatry, "deviation," and the criminal tendencies of members of the American armed forces overseas, but I am not sanguine.
Not Really Bad
These people of mine are very offensive, but they do not do anything real bad. No crazy, mixed-up dreams. Pretty good in their studies. No trouble with the police. No narcotics. They just do not like each other and the reasons why are so plain and strong that you could not possibly blame them. You will hate them yourself.
They meet in one of those do-it-yourself elevators and they happen to be the only passengers on this particular trip. She drops her glove and the boy says, "You dropped your glove." She says, "I know it" and picks it up herself.
It turns out that they are both going to the same floor—the ninth—and when the car stops the boy steps right off first, without waiting for her to precede him. Did I forget to say that he did not take off his hat in the elevator? I guess I did, but do I have to dot all the "i's" and cross all the "t's" for you?
It turns out that they are both going to apartment 9-G, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thumpling Eltz, a Norwegian couple, attached to the United Nations, who can hardly wait to get transferred to Moscow. They are not communists, or pro-Russian. They just want to get transferred out of New York because they honestly cannot figure how Moscow can be any worse. You may not like that, but you can go plumb to hell if you want people to like New York, write your own story.
The girl rings the door bell and Mrs. Thumpling Eltz opens it and greets them. She says "Come in." Not "How nice to see you" or anything like that because fiction can impose just so far. They walk in and their hostess says "Miss Jones, this is Mr. Smith." Those are just working-titles and I do not want any lousy ambulance-chaser coming around the next few days sung me in the names of millions and millions of characters named Miss Jones and Mr. Smith. I do not care how repulsive any actual Miss Joneses and Mr. Smiths may be; they may be the dead images of these characters, but this story is a tissue of lies from start to finish. Not a word of truth in it.
Or, scratch Jones and Smith. Substitute Miss Her and Mr. Him.
At this presentation Miss Her says, "Did I ask you who you was?" And the guy says, "I don't care who she is."
Doesn't Drink
Pretty soon the man of the house comes home from the U.N. He kisses his wife and then exclaims, "Well, bring on the vodka and let us get into the ether as quickly as possible. I wonder if 10 o'clock will ever come."
Well, they sit there and Miss Her says, "I don't drink." Not "thanks" or anything like that. Mr. Him says, "Me Neither." Mr. Thumpling Eltz offers the girl a cigarette.
She says, "What kind are they?" He says, "House of Representatives of the State of Minnesota. We are dickering with the manufacturers of Parliaments for a bribe of $100,000 to call these cigarettes 'Parliaments,' but, tentatively we are calling them 'House of Representatives of the State of Minnesota' for a dry run."
The girl then says, "I do not smoke that kind. I only smoke Fireproofs or Smokelesses. Ten thousand doctors say they positively cannot irritate my throat."
Gives Up
The boy says, "This story is not getting anywhere, I guess I will tear myself up and throw myself in the wastebasket."
The girl says, "With my figure, with my stringy hair, my rasping voice and nagging disposition, this story can't possibly sell." So she tears herself up, too, and the Norwegian couple say, "Well I never knew an evening to pass so quickly."
I am not much of a hand at fiction so I phoned Clarence Budington Kelland of the Saturday Evening Post, told him the Library Adds Volume About U. S. Freedoms

The foundations of American freedom are discussed in "Birthdays of Freedom From the Fall of Rome to July 4, 1776" a new book added this week to the children's room of the Appleton public library.
The book is available for circulation now and includes discussions of the Magna Charta, the invention of printing and other events leading to present civilization.
Other additions this week are: "George Appleton" by Chalmers, "Jenny" by Colby, "Who Wants an Apple" by Ilawkins, "Bucky's Friends" by Reichert, "His Kingdom for a Horse" scenario and asked him if he could lend me a happy ending. He said, "You can find a thousand of them in the Guide to Periodical Literature and tendrils of spun-golden hair and tapering fingers and curving lashes shadowing the violet pools of her eyes, but you will have to go back and make the house pick up her glove."

Auto Has Too Much Horsepower for Cowboy

The youngster tossed the lasso onto the license plate of a passing car and found himself dragged for several feet before the motorist stopped.
The experience cost Mitchell a few brush burns.

To Your Good Health
Surgical Correction Possible For Truly Pendulous Breasts
By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Should a woman undergo surgery of the breast after it has been damaged by having children? Will it cause any in which the patient has been dissatisfied in the last 10 years or so. Prior to that, I think the technique was not sufficiently advanced to be reliable. Maybe I should say 15 years rather than 10.
Don't Expect Magic
However, this does not include a few cases in which patients daydream about changing a mature figure into one that belongs to an 18-year-old. You may expect good surgery, indeed, very excellent surgery these days, but not outlandish magic.
The operations are not dangerous, but they must, of course, be skillfully done. It is a field for the plastic surgeon, who calculates in advance exactly what he intends to accomplish.
The interval after childbirth would not, in my opinion, be of any great importance, although for a guess I might say let a year elapse. Probably six months would be enough — because a case really requiring surgery would be apparent before the birth of a child and merely aggravated afterward.
As to the matter of cancer, we have not yet seen any evidence to indicate that such a threat does begin to appear, then I, and many others, will promptly say so.
You see, simply having children and nursing them, does not as a rule damage the breasts, and I don't want anyone to fear that it will happen. It is true, however, that many other factors are involved. Weight, and the natural strength of the tissues, varies greatly. It is equally true that many women who never have had children still find that the breasts have become over-large, sagging, and pendulous. Thus we can't blame babies! So let's get to the cases in which some correction is truly needed. I beg all readers not to be unwidely critical of their shapes. The case that can be adequately corrected with proper support should be so treated.
For the truly pendulous breasts, surgical correction is quite possible and quite reasonable. I know of many cases that have been corrected by surgery, and I cannot think of any in which the patient has been dissatisfied in the last 10 years or so. Prior to that, I think the technique was not sufficiently advanced to be reliable. Maybe I should say 15 years rather than 10.
Dr. Molner soon? — Mrs. X."
Writing, rather than talking across my desk, I have to ask you to use good judgment. In fact, I suggest that you rely on your doctor's or surgeon's recommendation.
You see, simply having children and nursing them, does not as a rule damage the breasts, and I don't want anyone to fear that it will happen. It is true, however, that many other factors are involved. Weight, and the natural strength of the tissues, varies greatly. Owner of Top Guernsey Producer of '57 Honored

Breeder Association Vice President Wins
Award Offered by Calumet County Dairyman

Chilton — Howard Sattler, vice-president of Calumet county's Guernsey breeders association, has been named winner of the 1957 Guernsey award.

The award is given to the owner of the highest producing Guernsey under the standard test in the local testing association.

Sattler's cow, Pat's Patsy, sired by Eastman's Priscilla, Pat, produced 10,780 pounds of milk and 476 pounds of fat in a 305-day lactation period.

To Pay Fair Rent

Members of the association in outlining their program for 1958, voted to pay stall rentals and entry fees for junior exhibitors at the state fair. They will also construct a special booth at the Calumet county fair. Plans for a summer barn meeting were made and the group again voted to present the high-production award at the end of the year.

Three directors of the association were elected. These were Henry Renn, new director, and Earl Lintner, Howard Sattler.

Others serving on the board are Elmer Federwitz, John Kopf Sr., Edgar Stembach, Albert Steffes, Allen Lintner and Robert Stanelle.

Band Card Party Winners Announced At Bear Creek High

Bear Creek — Leonard Schertz, Henry Flanagan, Jr., Joseph Brisco, Mrs. Arthur Hoffmann, Norman Brisco, Mrs. Leonard Schertz, Mrs. Margaret Klegin, Mrs. Paul Wanless, Emory Knapp, John Zimmerman, Mrs. Theodore Schertz and Dennis Zimmerman were winners at the first of a series of five card parties sponsored by the Band Boosters and Band Mothers of Bear Creek High school.

The second party will be held at 8 o'clock Sunday night, Feb. 16, at the high school.

Announce Communion

Medina — The Rev. Daniel DeBraal announced communion will be observed at the First Methodist church Sunday.

After the services there will be a potluck dinner and special business meeting.

Agent Recommends Study of Farm Leasing Arrangements

Change in Value of Labor Threatens to Form
Group of Tenant Farmers Instead of Partners

BY JOHN POWERS
Outagamie County Agent

It is time to take a fresh look at farm leasing arrangements. They may not be serving their purpose any more and possibly creating a tenant class in our farm economy.

Information from the University of Wisconsin farm economy department points out that the conventional 50-50 livestock share lease is no longer a fair one on most farms, mostly because the cost of the tenant or renters' contributions have gone up faster than the cost of the landowners' contributions.

The usual agreement in these leases is for the tenant to furnish labor and machinery and the landowner to provide land and buildings. The landowner and tenant share all other expenses and the profits from the livestock equally.

Cost figures for northeastern Wisconsin dairy farmers show that the machinery and equipment are almost six times higher than in 1940, labor cost about 10 times higher than in 1940, while land and building cost have only tripled during that period. This is because present-day farming requires more machinery and the equipment costs more today than it did 15 years ago.

The real reason of leasing or renting is to promote farm ownership on the part of the tenant. By leasing a young farmer could invest a limited amount of money in the livestock and equipment and eventually make enough profit to buy the farm he was operating.

Not Enough Income

The present day situation is much that the 50-50 livestock share cannot possibly supply enough income for most tenants to buy the farm within a reasonable period. These arrangements may still be adequate on the large farm, those farms which sell more than $5,000 worth of farm products yearly. However, more than half of the farms in the state sell less than that amount.

If the starting farmer doesn't have the $4,000 to $6,000

Former Serviceman Visits Bear Creek

Bear Creek — Ronald Finger, recently discharged from the army with which he served 27 months in Japan, visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Finger. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Finger of Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schlinger of Punda Gorda, Fla., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Flanagan.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Heiser and family of Gwinn, Mich., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Paul.

or more that is needed to provide the livestock and machinery necessary in a 50-50 farm lease on a large farm and the 50-50 lease on smaller farms doesn't provide enough income to buy into the operation, the young farmer finds himself in a position where he must turn to other sources of income. He must either borrow money or earn enough income from other sources so that he can get started with a good operation.

Credit is not always available to young farmers and many times, it is difficult to supplement the income from other sources. Therefore, under the present 50-50 lease, this system could actually create a class of farmers who have no hope of obtaining farm ownership and must remain tenants as long as they farm.

Alternatives
There are several alternatives that can make leases more effective as a step toward farm ownership. The 50-50 type of lease seems to be unfair to the tenant and renter under present conditions and needs to be adjusted or a different type of lease used. A different type of lease should call for a smaller share of contributions coming from the tenant and a larger share coming from the landowner. Naturally, the tenant would share in the profit according to the contributions he makes.

Such a lease would allow tenants to take on larger and more economical farms to start with and the total profits would be greater. In the long run, the tenant would receive more income even from a lower percentage share.

Under the present 50-50 share, neither the tenant or landowner benefits if the tenant cannot make a satisfactory living. It appears that now is the time to take a fresh look at the farm leasing arrangements.

Meter Being Devised To Measure Output Of Milk Per Animal

Engineer Sees Use of Automatic Device on Dairy Farms in Future

Automation is gradually reaching Wisconsin dairy herds, according to a University of Wisconsin agricultural engineer.

Stan Witzel says that sanitary liquid meters may someday be used to measure milk from an individual cow. Milk may also soon be metered out of the dairy farmer's bulk tank. Currently, milk is weighed to give an indication of volume. Or in bulk tanks, a measuring stick is dipped into the tank and the depth of the milk is read off this stick.

Witzel says that liquid meters are now widely used — gasoline we buy is metered. Fuel oil we use to heat our homes is metered. Water is metered in the home. Meters

Top Records Produced by Calumet Herds

Holstein-Friesian Association Reports Lactation Tests

Chilton — Cows from eight Calumet county herds have achieved outstanding records of production, according to information released from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Mapledale Supreme Judy, owned by Clemens M. Geiser, produced 12,346 pounds of milk as a 4-year old, on twice daily milking over a 367-day lactation period. The cow has a fat record of 599 pounds.

Hoerthland Roma Burk, from the Aloisius Hoerth herd, made 13,637 pounds of milk and 513 pounds of fat, as a 2-year old, over a 365-day period on twice daily milking.

From the Knauf and Tesch farms, Kaytee Ormsby Pietertje, a 5-year old, produced 13,260 pounds of milk and 517 pounds of fat, milked twice daily over a 315-day period.

Greendrive Duchess, from the Edward Miersberger farm, made 16,183 pounds of milk and 600 pounds of butterfat as a 7-year old. She was milked twice daily over 365 days.

Greendrive Poppy Colantha, belonging to the Joseph Miersberger herd, produced a total of 16,074 pounds of milk and 671 pounds of fat as an 11-year old. The test ran on a 365-day lactation period with twice daily milking.

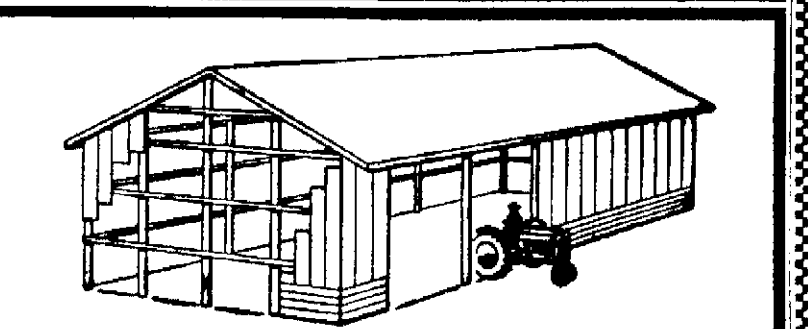

Milked twice daily for 304 days, goodright Ormsby Triune Carnation produced 13,813 pounds of milk and 554 pounds of fat as an 8-year old in the herd of Gerald Geiser.

Joseph Keuler, Jr., milked Hinzville Jewel N J Claude over a period of 308 days, twice daily, for a total of 18,036 pounds of milk and 583 pounds of fat. The cow is an 8-year old.

Cattle infested with lice usually rub against fence posts, buildings, or anything similar that is handy. Affected areas of skin are irritated and infested cattle may rub off big patches of hair, in severe infestations large numbers of lice around the eyes and ears result in a darker color on those areas.

Waupaca Agent Looks Ahead to More Efficiency

Declares Small Farmer May Continue To Meet Problems

Waupaca — Efficiency in production despite surpluses will continue to be the main objective of County Agricultural Agent Michael Drozd during the coming year.

Drozd explains that milk production through testing and culling and efficient feeding can be raised considerably over the county average of 6,900 pounds.

His annual report predicts that the small farmer will continue to have tough going, but that with the opportunity for off-the-farm employment increasing in the county, the lot of the small farmer should improve.

Many farmers are becoming bigger and buying up additional land, says Drozd, and these farmers should be successful because they will be able to make efficient use of their machinery and stock.

Faith In Marketing Co-op

The county agent has faith that the feeder pig marketing cooperative will help to make feeder pigs a good supplementary farm income. Drozd contends that feeder pigs are one of the best sources of additional revenue.

He points out the big problem in agriculture is the marketing of farm products to reduce surpluses. The solution is not yet available, but may be determined through research in the future.

Drozd explains, on the whole, the agricultural picture in Waupaca county is not too dark since the county has many progressive and cooperative farmers who are doing and will continue to do a good job of farming.

How much water must a hen drink to make an egg? It takes nearly a pint of water for a hen to produce one egg. A major reason for a slump in egg production in many flocks is an inadequate water supply. Often the water freezes in the winter. A good investment is one of the various types of heaters to prevent this from happening.

Is Beebe oats recommended for Outagamie county? This variety has shown the most promise for this area. It performed well in 1956 and in 1957. It has protection from leaf rust, smut and Race 7 of stem rust. It is susceptible of Race 8 of stem rust; however, this rust occurs late in the season and is not too harmful. Farmers particularly like its plump kernel.

Can soft water be used in a steam iron? Best results are obtained when using distilled water. Other sources of water are the dehumidifier or rain water. Deposits from either hard or soft water cut down the efficiency of the iron.

Sons of Brillion Families Preach

Brillion — Theodore Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fischer, preached the sermon at the Youth Sunday services at the Evangelical United Brethren churches at Brillion and Rantoul.

He is a student at the University of Wisconsin planning on entering the ministry. He was the organist at the EUB church in Rantoul before going to school.

The Rev. Robert Bartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bartz, will preach at the Chapel of the Cross in Milwaukee at a Crusade for Christ rally Sunday. He is the pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church, Danville, Ill.

Ladies Aid to Meet

Sherwood — The Ladies Aid society of St. John Evangelical Lutheran church, Dundas, will meet Feb. 13 at the church. Mrs. Hugo Kielgas will be the hostess.

Lice May Cause Anemia in Livestock, Professor Says

A heavy infestation of the short-nosed cattle louse can cause anemia in an animal and eventual death.

The short-nosed louse seems to prefer adult cattle while the long-nosed louse is found most often on calves. Dr. T. N. Phillips of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine says both types are blood-suckers.

Another common louse found on cattle is called the round-headed louse. It is a biting type rather than a blood-sucking type and is less damaging than the other two. This type of louse lives on skin scales.

Signs of Lice

Cattle infested with lice usually rub against fence posts, buildings, or anything similar that is handy. Affected areas of skin are irritated and infested cattle may rub off big patches

Seeding Accurately at 5 m.p.h.

You can do three different jobs at once with a McCormick MF drill

1. Seed grain, soybeans, and other crops with yield-boosting accuracy. The McCormick MF drill sows both large and small seeds in any desired quantity per acre. Furrow openers, built for your soil, place seed at uniform depth for even germination and uniform ripening of the crop.
2. Distribute commercial fertilizer in any quantity from 30 to 1,135 pounds per acre as you seed. The MF drill ordinarily places fertilizer in the row with the seed, but it can be equipped to distribute fertilizer separately. Big capacity fertilizer hopper lets you work longer between refills.
3. Seed grass, clover, or alfalfa at the same time you sow and fertilize the nurse crop. The grass seed attachment for the MF drill lets you vary the seeding rate as little as one quart per acre. Grass seed can be released through the grain tubes or sown broadcast.

We'll be glad to give you complete details on how this drill helps crops grow faster — how it makes fertilizer go farther by placing all plant food within easy reach of the plants. A wide range of sizes and equipment enables you to select a McCormick MF drill that's tailor-made for your needs. See us for more facts when you're in town.

Huge Cylinder at UW Signals Start Of Extensive Dairy Product Research

Facility Opens Up Field for Drying Milk;
Success Has Marked University's Efforts

A 51-foot tall cylinder of stainless steel was raised into place at the west end of Babcock hall at the University of Wisconsin last summer, signalling the beginning of an extensive research project to improve some of Wisconsin's major dairy products.

Now enclosed with brick and opening into the dairy product processing rooms in Babcock hall, the 8-foot wide cylinder is an experimental dryer for dairy and other food products — the first of its kind at any university. As it was being put into place, the tower had all the outward characteristics of a guided missile ready for launching.

Development of a high quality whole milk powder and an engineering study which aims at improving future dryer designs are the main objectives of research with the dryer.

The work is being directed by A. M. Swanson, university dairy researcher, and W. R.
Marshall, Jr., university professor of chemical engineering.

They designed the experimental unit and will be in charge of its operation.

Produce Dry Milk

Wisconsin produced more than 500 million pounds of non-fat dry milk in 1955, Swanson points out. There's a great opportunity for improving the processing methods for this very important part of the dairy industry's output.

At present, powdered products acceptable to consumers are made of skim milk and marketed as nonfat dry milk.
Even with these nonfat products, there's plenty of room for improvement through research, Swanson says.

Dried whole milk, which would taste like fresh milk when reconstituted, is the ultimate product for easing storage and transportation problems for dairy products, Swanson feels.

Dry Whole Milk

Dried whole milks have been produced and marketed, Swanson points out. But they all have had some serious drawbacks.
For one thing, they don't go into solution easily when mixed with water. Present dried whole milks are apt to have a "chalky" feel when reconstituted, and flavor defects such as cooked, oxidized, and stale flavors are common.

The specially designed dryer would make drying research much more easily controlled, permitting a wider variety of drying conditions than present dryers allow.

For instance, the great length and large diameter are needed for producing larger particles or aggregates. In the experimental dryer, milk can be sprayed in various places and observed at various stages of drying.

Two Temperatures

The tower contains facilities for operating with two temperatures at one time—hot in the middle and cooler on the edges, for instance. There are also several places to locate mea-

Dale Homemakers Plan Card Party

Dale — Schafskopf, canasta and skat will be played at the public card party sponsored by the Dale Willing Workers Homemakers club Sunday evening at the Dale Community hall.

The committee in charge of the cards include Mrs. Gilbert
Kester, Mrs. Ernest Holliday,
Mrs. W. A. Price and Mrs. David Zehner.

Those in charge of preparing the lunch are Mrs. Orville Em-mons, chairman, Mrs. Charles Cornelius, Mrs. Arthur Felsner,
Mrs. Gerald Gore, Mrs. Orville Grossman, Mrs. Ralph Heuer and Mrs. Weid Zehner.

A valentine party is being planned for Monday evening by the Hickory Grove Homemakers club at the home of Mrs.
John Much, Jr.

uring instruments for wind flow measurement, temperature determination and the like.

Tests so far show that the fat covering the dried whole milk particles is the main cause of difficulty in reconstituting present whole-milk powders. The tests also show that large particles mix better with water than small particles.

Thus, early tests with the new dryer will be aimed at covering the fat on the surface of the dried milk particles, and at the same time making the particles larger.

Use For Chocolate

The dryer will also be used for research in drying chocolate and other food products such as soups and puddings.

The drying tower, completely installed, cost nearly $100,000.
It contains many features which are required for the engineering studies and which may not be needed in commercial models.

Finances for the tower came from many sources — including contributions from the dairy industry, particularly from milk drying firms, the American Dairy Association of Wisconsin, and the University Research committee.

troops at 8:30 the evening of Feb. 11 at St. Mary's church hall.

Over 200 girls, mothers, members of the community committee and friends of the scouting program are expected to attend.

Mrs. John Freiburger has been named general chairman with Mrs. Arv Courtice serving as dinner chairman.

A circus theme, complete with balloons and carousels, will be followed by the decoration committee with Mrs. Milton Kruse serving as chairman.
Other committee members are Mrs. Raymond Guenther, Mrs.
Dick Schmahl, Mrs. John Berger, and Mrs. Franklin Schmieder.

Girls from the three Brownie troops will make nut cups as table favors. Presentation of flags will be made by intermediate scouts of Troop 4. Tender-foot badges will be awarded to Intermediates of Troop 5.

Mrs. V. E. Todd will lead the singing of grace. Mrs. Arthur Hill is in charge of ticket sales which are available from Scout members.

Christian Mothers from St.
Mary's will be in charge of the dinner.

If Summit Meeting Is Held, It Could Be Like Appetizer to Main Course

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

What has been coming out of Russia recently makes me wonder whether Khrushchev and the other ruling men have had any clearer idea than we have had in the west about what business might be done at the summit. The Kremlin, to be sure, has published a list of proposals it would like us to accept. And we, in turn, have put out a list of proposals which we say the Soviet Union ought to accept.

But the common characteristics of the two lists, if each is regarded as a whole, is that both are based on the idea of unconditional surrender — the Russian on the surrender of the west, and our list on the surrender of the Russians.

This must be known to Khrushchev and his colleagues, and therefore the question is why he keeps on calling for a meeting at the summit when on the face of the public record there can be no agreement reached when we get there. The answer to this question may be that as long as the west stood opposed to a meeting, as long as Dulles just didn't want to negotiate with the Russians, the Kremlin had a free ride for its propaganda.

But, once the western position began to unfreeze, as it has been doing since the NATO meeting in Paris in December, the Kremlin has been having to face the practical problems of a meeting at the summit. I am inclined to wonder whether this does not account for what Mr. Khrushchev said to the NATO ambassadors at the cocktail party in Moscow on Monday.

Like Appetizers
He said, in his off-hand but calculated manner, negotiations should start with the simple issues before they came to the more difficult ones. "It is like a meal. First, you have appetizers. Then soup and fish. Then, the main course. We should do the same. Let us agree on simple things first." What makes this so interesting, and it may be so significant, is that it differs so radically from the idea of a grand meeting at the summit for the pretended purpose of dealing with all the great issues in one over-all package settlement. In the big ponderous letters which the heads of the governments have been writing to each other, there is a pretense on each side that it wishes, while the other side does not wish, to settle everything at once.

But he must realize even a small and limited agenda will have to be negotiated carefully. One might hope it would be negotiated in the spirit and with the competence of the Lacy - Zaroubin negotiations. For Khrushchev, as an old habitue of cocktail parties, should know that what some people treat as a mere appetizer, others would regard as a whole meal.

Becomes Possibility
If this is correct, then it would mean that as a meeting of the summit becomes a practical possibility, the Kremlin is concerned, as we in our own way are concerned, that it should not end in a disastrous

AHS Chooses Final Play in 1-Act Series

"The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde has been chosen for the last of the series of 1-act plays to be given at Appleton High school this year. Members of Curtain Call Acting and Production will present the abridged comedy at 1:10 Thursday afternoon under the direction of Miss Arlyn Zeller.

This English comedy is built on "manufactured" mistaken identity. The play takes place at two different places, London and a country house in Hertfordshire. The action is set in the last decade of the 19th century. Cast of characters includes Steve Jolin as John Worthing; Bob Lecky as Algernon Moncrieff; Pete Peckham, the Rev. Canon Chasuble; Mary Metzger as Lady Bracknell; Cathy Hoefel as Gwendolyn Fairfax; Sue LeCapitaine as Cecily Cardew; Fay Royan as Miss Prism; Dick Natrop as Merriman the butler; and John Kuhl as Lane, a manservant.

Handling production will be Jack Burroughs, Miss Ruth McKenna is in charge of costumes, working with girls from Curtain Call Production. Mrs. Gene Nienow will direct the girls in make-up.

Instrument the Size Of Gum Package Used Inside U. S. Satellite

Philadelphia — (AP) — The work of a Philadelphia physicist for the past 18 months gives you an idea of the complex gadgets inside the Explorer satellite.

Dr. J. Lloyd Bohn of the Temple university physics department, was responsible for the device which records the impact of small meteorite particles striking Explorer's surface. Called a micrometeorite impact counter, it originally weighed 28 pounds and measured 8-by-1-by-12 inches. Dr. Bohn spent a year and a half reducing the counter to about the size of a package of gum weighing only a few ounces, he said.

Oldster Likes New Birthday Customs

Mathews, Va. — (AP) — It isn't the old customs for which J. Eddie Callis longs—he likes the new. His views are easy to understand, too. One new custom was started a year ago when Callis, 81, and a retired contractor, was kissed 81 times by dozens of pretty girls here. This year it was 82 times.

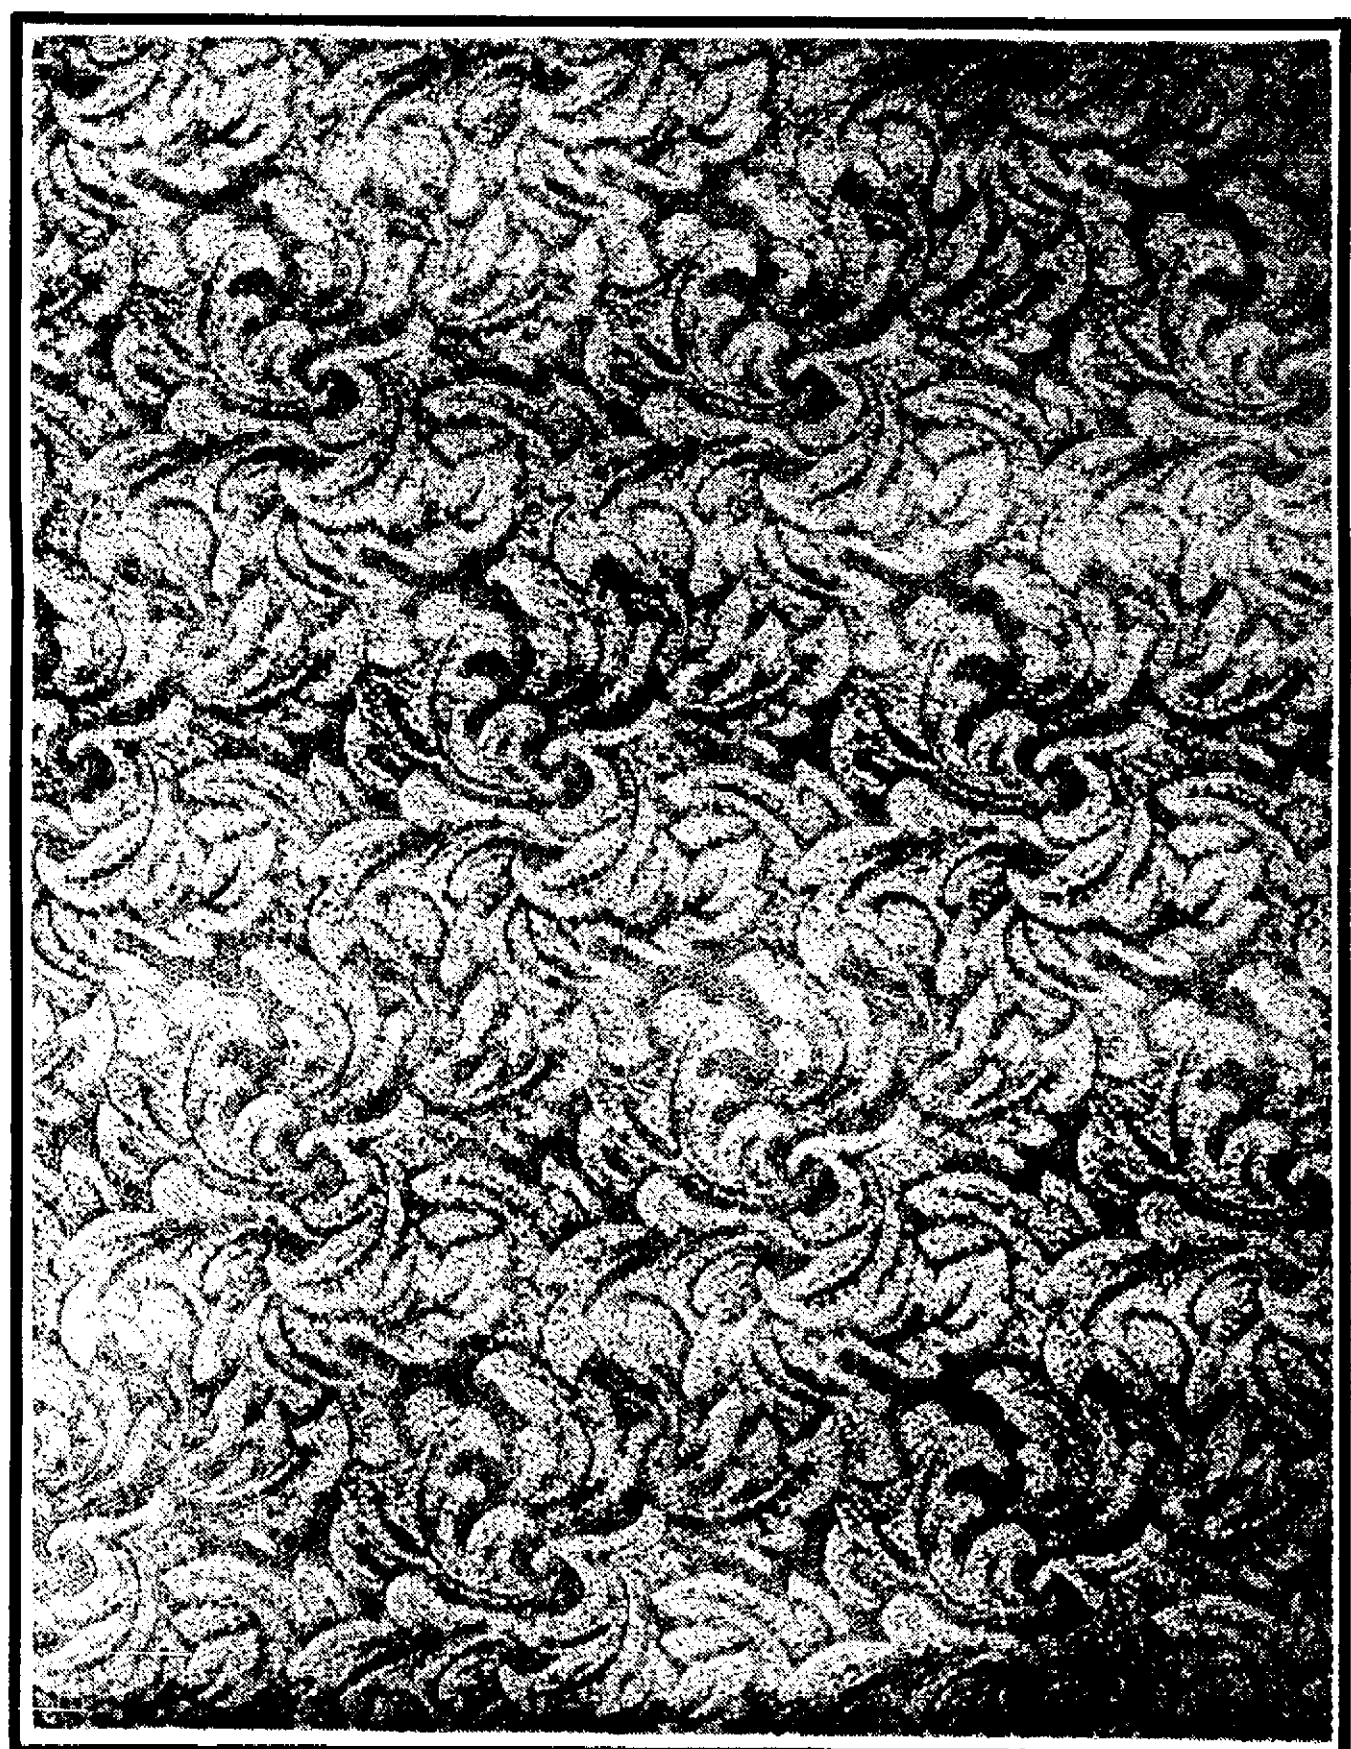

Accident Frequency May Up Auto Insurance Rates

Madison — Wisconsin motorists may be forcing an increase in automobile insurance rates upon the Wisconsin motor community. Specialists in the state insurance department say the statistical material is not yet available to show the experience of the auto insurance underwriters for 1957, but preliminary indications about losses and probable proposals for rate revisions to cover 1958 business.

"On the whole, the Wisconsin automobile insurance business has been at the point where increases in rates will be needed unless the trend of greater accident frequency and severity is reversed," said one spokesman of the department, which must approve rate proposals as filed by the carriers. Another factor that is forcing insurance rates gradually upward is the now almost universal body styling of more costly design, and the more extensive use of glass in the structure of the vehicle. Analysts have explained. Those designs mean that individual accident claims are higher, and are reflected in premium requirements. Last year there was a rate revision upward for young drivers in rates charged by most companies. In general the boost amounted to about 25 per cent. Young drivers handle comparatively few of the automobile bills of the state — although they are costly for the carriers to underwrite—so that the total increase in premium income as a result of the youthful driver classification increase amounted to only about 1 per cent. Some of the companies cut other rates when they increased the young driver charges. Wisconsin now registers more than 1,000,000 passenger vehicles, and total insurance coverage on them amounts to about $100,000,000 yearly, according to the annual report of the insurance department.
